Italian Settlement Held Likely to Result in French Overture

Accord With Mussolini's Envoys Satisfactory to Coolidge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—A resumption of debt settlement negotiations between France and the United States at an early date is the confident expectation of the administration.

Intimations of the attitude of the Paris government conveyed to Washington indicate that France is likely to ask for a reconsideration of the question of funding her $4,100,000,000 debt to the United States before the end of the coming winter. Then, if a settlement should be reached the administration will be able to report to Congress a complete cleaning-up of the war debts and Congress will be able to pass on all the settlements before adjourning its forthcoming session.

That Congress will approve all of the settlements negotiated by the administration, is the prevailing opinion here. The prospect is that the opposition to the funding arrangements in both houses will be comparatively negligible, with Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, and some of the La Follette group furnishing the criticism of the action of President Coolidge and the War Debt Commission in writing off a large portion of each obligation.

DECLINES TO COMMENT

It is evident, however, that even Senator Borah is not convinced that he has sound ground for attacking the settlements generally. He declined today to comment on the funding arrangements with Italy, which are on a basis of 75 per cent cancellation of the amount that would fully reimburse the American taxpayers for the loan to the Italian government. He said he will reserve an expression of his opinion until he speaks on the subject in the Senate after a thorough study of the matter.

President Coolidge expressed complete satisfaction with the Italian settlement. He was impressed by the showing of Italy's incapacity to pay more than about one-fourth of her debt. When he considered that Italy owes Great Britain and the United States as

AGE OF MEXICAN RUIN REVEALED

Archeologist Says Temple Eleven Centuries Old

Proof Accepted as Authentic by Scientific Body

Discovery Sheds Light on Ancient History

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 13.—At a meeting of the leading scientific society of Mexico, Zelia Nuttall, American archeologist of international repute, read what is considered one of the most important communications treating of the origin of ancient monuments in Mexico. She presented evidence, insisting it was unquestionable, and which her audience accepted as conclusive, that the so-called Temple Quetzalcoatl, central structure of the recently uncovered citadel near the immense pyramids of the Sun and Moon at San Juan Teotihuacan, forty miles from Mexico City, is really the temple described by the native historian Ixtlilxcohitl as having been built and dedicated to the Goddess of Water by Mitl, the sixth Toltec King, eleven centuries ago. It was commonly believed that the temple was dedicated to the Wind God.

EPOCHAL DISCOVERY

This is the first time the age of any of the mysterious ruined temples of ancient Mexico, with the name of the builder, has been determined, archeological scientific circles here hailing the Nuttall discovery as epoch-making in determining and unraveling much of the mystery in the origin of the buried city of Teotihuacan.

The Nuttall contention is based on the theory that temples dedicated to the Wind God were always round, while that of Quetzalcoatl is square. She added that her research, extending over many years, conclusively proved all decorations on the temple, especially the numerous serpent heads, to be aquatic shaped, like seashells and not representing feathers, which hitherto had been the general belief in view of the fact that the serpents were commonly known as "plumed serpents."

PROOF ANALYZED

The archeologist added that there exists between the serpent heads and shape a number of similarities, which her studies show were identical with ornaments and dress worn by the Goddess of Water, Chalchihuhtlycue. She further contended that the fact that frog images had been discovered when the temple was uncovered is sufficient to prove the temple's origin, because of the fact that frogs were intimately associated with the water goddess. Pictures were produced of Chalchiuhtlycue, showing the goddess ornamented with frogs and also wearing a mask exactly like the serpents' heads on the Temple Quetzalcoatl.

The Nuttall communication shortly will receive the greatest prominence in all scientific journals of the United States and Mexico, and probably of the whole world.

Death Muffles Bootleg King's Wedding Bells

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Smiling in anticipation of a death-bed wedding to Miss Rose Pecoraro, Samuel "Samoots" Amatuna early today in the Jefferson Park Hospital closed his eyes and passed out of the range of the spotlight of Chicago's underworld.

The wedding did not take place. Rose was there and all arrangements had been made, but "Samoots" died before the knot could be tied.

True to the code by which he lived, the dashing young bootlegger who, although rated as one of the most dangerous of underworld leaders, was never armed, stubbornly refused to tell who were his assassins.

After his death, however, it became known that he had whispered their names to his brother, Lugi. That was related to the Gennaa, two of whom were slain by rivals in the alcohol industry. His death is expected to reopen the feud in which there have been already more than a dozen deaths.

Samoots was shot by two men as he adjusted his tie after being shaved in a barber shop at 804 West Roosevelt Road. There was $6000 in his pockets.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Merchants are anticipating a record holiday business, according to a statement issued today by Marshall Field & Company, referring to the wholesale drygoods trade. VALENTINO TO AID DIVORCE

Actor Plans Paris Trip to Hasten Wife's Action; Local Seer Foretold Marital Break

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Rudolph Valentino, screen actor, tonight confirmed the report of Mrs. Richard Hudnut, that her daughter, Mrs. Winifred Hudnut Valentino, had instituted suit for divorce in Paris. The actor said he will expedite his wife's action in every way.

Valentino said he will sail for Paris on the Leviathan tomorrow to hasten his wife's action begun several months ago and to accept the pronouncement of the court, which is expected about December 15. Mrs. Valentino is seeking a divorce on the grounds that her husband had refused to live with her.

UNABLE TO AGREE

"There is nothing mysterious about my unhappy domestic affairs," Valentino said tonight. "My wife and I simply have found that we will be placed in a better position if single and free to go our respective ways."

His wife's desire for an "individualistic and artistic career" as opposed to his wishes for a "mate, a homemaker, rather than a business partner" was blamed by Valentino for the "irreconcilable difference in viewpoint."

Mrs. Valentino refused tonight to confirm the statement of her mother. "As to whether there will be a divorce or not, I do not know," she said. "In Paris, you see, they require both parties to be present before an action can be begun. Had Mr. Valentino been there when I was, it is possible something would have been done. But as it is, what will happen is most indefinite."

VALENTINO STATEMENT

Valentino issued the following statement: "I have been informed that Mrs. Valentino has made application in Paris for a divorce from me on the technical grounds permitted under the laws of France after having established a residence there. It is my intention to defer to her wishes in this matter. Consequently, when I reach Europe I shall lose no time in performing whatever is necessary to permit the granting of the divorce, since I am not to contest it.

"As I understand it, all I have to do is to establish a domicile in France, which I will do immediately upon arrival in Paris. My wife's appearance before the French court is reported to have taken place on October 29.

NO MATCH IN SIGHT

"Our divorce will be a complete divorce. It will be consummated after my appearance in the French court with some further formalities which include a formal rejection of the court's formal invitation for us to become reconciled. Mrs. Valentino will then be free to pursue her professional career unhampered by any home ties.

"There is no plan on my part at this time to consider a marriage to anyone else. The time will come probably, but it is far off. When that time comes, I shall choose to have a wife whose tastes are thoroughly domestic and who is inclined to have children."

SEER FORECAST MARITAL DIFFICULTY

The latest turn of events, bringing to an end the so-called "marital vacation" of the Valentinos, had a unique angle here, when it was learned the sheik has been seeking advice about his marital difficulties from at least one crystal gazer.

This excursion of the star to obtain purported supernatural insight into his future, took place some time before Valentino left here for New York. Valentino, accompanied by Vilma Banky, his leading lady, appeared at the apartments of Dareos, a Santa Monica Bay District seer, and requested a reading of his future.

It was learned that Valentino confessed an uncertain frame of mind as to the future, declaring he loved Mrs. Valentino with an undying devotion.

Then Dareos looked into the crystal, and told Valentino he and his wife would never be reconciled, that a vision showed her spurning the offer of a home and children for the beckoning promise of a career.

TOLD TO STAY SINGLE

"I told him he was born to have many romances, that he should never get married," the seer declared.

But Valentino departed unconvinced. When asked about his trip, he confessed to having sought advice from the crystal about his heart affairs, but said it was a sort of joke.

"Anyway, what he said was all wrong," he declared.

At about the same time, Valentino gave out the statement that a reconciliation was very possible.

But for sometime Hollywood has said that the seer was right, and the colorful episode in the life of the Valentinos, in which friends, producers and private detectives hired by Valentino's manager to shadow the sheik's wife, all had their part, was nearing its close.

Valentino said he will go to Paris after his appearance in London.

MEXICO ALIEN BILL BY HOUSE

publishes an editorial entitled "The Face of the Sphinx," referring to Secretary of State Kellogg's "truculent words" of last June in regard to Mexican conditions and to President Calles's "refutations" of Mr. Kellogg's declarations. The reference is to the Secretary of State's formal statement of June 12, last, that the United States cannot countenance violation by Mexico of her international obligations or failure to protect American citizens. The statement dealt with the confiscations of property of Americans under the Mexican agrarian laws. President Calles replied that the statement was a "threat" against Mexico's sovereignty.

Excelsior says that since June the United States has been silent in regard to this matter, and that Ambassador Sheffield, since his return to Mexico, has said nothing. The situation in Mexico of which Secretary Kellogg then complained has not changed, the editorial continued. If the United States government had a just cause of complaint, then she has the same cause now. If there was no justification for Secretary Kellogg's statement then there is no justification now. Therefore, Mr. Kellogg's "aggressive language" should be rectified if unjust, or substantiated if justice is esteemed in the White House.

The paper urges Ambassador Sheffield to make a statement.

Maj. Warburton, who is looking after Mr. Wanamaker, refuses any information.

W.C.T.U. GAINS TOLD AT MEET

More Than 41,000 Women Join Ranks

Speaker Pays Tribute to Youth of Land

Educational Activities of Union Explained

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DETROIT, Nov. 13.—More than 41,000 women joined the ranks of the Women's Christian Temperance Union during the past year, Mrs. Frances P. Parks of Illinois, announced today at the fifty-first annual convention of the national organization.

"The work of the W.C.T.U. is just beginning," Mrs. Parks declared. "With the achievement of the first great objective—the outlawing of the legalized liquor traffic in the United States and the obtaining of the added prestige of the ballot—our program of service has been greatly extended."

PAYS TRIBUTE TO YOUTH

Mrs. Parks paid tribute to the youth of the land.

"The youth of today is alert and alive, far and ahead of any other generation," she said. "It has more pep, more vision, more real ambition and is doing more than any other before it."

Miss Grace Leigh Scott, field secretary of the social morality department, explained her work in the schools, churches and universities, as "seeking a common sense attitude toward sex and social problems and an equal standard for young men and young women."

Miss Scott explained that the department's work is purely educational. "We ask the young men to give the girls a square deal," she said. "We ask the girls to inspire respect and admiration. We ask the parents to teach their children the truth and to prepare them to meet frankly and fearlessly the problems of the future.

"There are, of course, a few members in our organization who are 'conservative' in their thought, perhaps old-fashioned. But the majority of these women wish youth to have the knowledge which they perhaps did not possess. We have faith in the next generation."

Presenting facts which, she said, are supported by a "dry backbone rather than the fancies wobbling on a wet wishbone," Miss Anna A. Gordon, president, delivered her annual address to the organization here today.

HOME-BREWERS HIT

"Today allegiance to the Constitution is virtually a pledge of teetotalism. Patriots cannot be home-brewers," she said.

"Those who advocate the return of beer and wine are vainly striving to place the Eighteenth Amendment in the prison cell of non-enforcibility. Some good people by failing to be fair to the amendment indorse the publicity of the enemies of prohibition. They do not compare conditions under a law not yet six years old with the depraved conditions which existed under license. Rather they compare conditions now with a possible 100 per cent enforcement, which has never been attained by any law on our statute books."

Turning to other questions of the day, Miss Gordon pleaded for international and inter-racial friendliness; cultivation of a keener civic and social conscience and observation of the laws of this country.

Announcement of plans for a national display of W.C.T.U. strength in every State and city of the country, as well as in the smaller towns and rural communities, was made today. The national body plans to put into effect on January 16 and 17 a program to be participated in by over 10,000 of its units calling attention to the need for law enforcement. The program calls for addresses and distribution of educational circulars in churches, schools and public buildings.

HOUSEWIVES VOTE BAN ON IRISH FRUIT

Not in Fear of Becoming Too Fat, But Because They Regard Profits Already So

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Alameda county women are "off" potatoes and not for dietary reasons, either. They say they do not mind the pounds but do object strenuously to the prices.

Because they believe that $2.50 a hundredweight is enough for the retailer to pay for the fruit of Erin, the Alameda Housewives' League today declared an embargo on potatoes until the price reaches that level. A resolution passed by the organization calls upon all housewives to observe the boycott. At present potatoes are being sold by retailers in Oakland and other East Bay cities at nearly 10 cents a pound, the league declares.

"The retailer is charging us too much," said Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, president of the league. "He is paying the producer too much and the producers say there is a crop shortage and car shortage. The car shortage is untrue, Railroad companies tell us that the producers can have all the cars they want for the asking."

GIFTS AUGMENT FUND OF METHODIST BOARD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Special funds and gifts to foreign and home missions of more than $600,000 added to the total receipts of the world service commission of the Methodist Episcopal church for the fiscal year ending October 31, enabled Treasurer O. W. Auman of the commission to announce today that last year's cut of appropriations for the mission boards would not be repeated. The world service receipts totaled $7,630,595, compared with $8,701,027 in the preceding fiscal year, but in addition there were special funds and gifts of $519,968 for the board of foreign missions and $106,324 for the board of home missions and church extension.

From a mere groom to virtual ruler of Persia is the story of Reza Khan, the new Persian Premier. Maj.-Gen. Sir E. Realizing his strength he made himself Prime Minister, deposed the absentee Shah and is now the actual Persian ruler.

FOLEY QUITS IN AIRSHIP TANGLE

Only two witnesses were heard as against as average of four or five for the preceding sessions this week, so frequent and long drawn-out were the wrangles between defense and prosecution counsel on the question of admissability of evidence, oral and documentary. The witneses were J. Edward Cassidy, consulting engineer and colonel of the chemical warfare reserves and Maj. Herbert A. Dargue of the Air Service.

In making his request to Secretary Wilbur, which was taken under advisement, Capt. Foley said the charge made by Mrs. Lansdowne had made him an interested party in the Shenandoah inquiry and that consequently he felt he could not continue as the judge-advocate charged with eliciting before that court all of the facts relating to the subjects under investigation.

Mrs. Lansdowne, as the first witness before the Navy body Monday, will be questioned on the basis of her statement to the Mitchell court that Capt. Foley had prepared and sent to her a statement she was to read to the naval court, which falsely represented her attitude on the Shanandoah matter and was "an insult" to her husband's memory.

Dr. William Beverly Mason, uncle of Mrs. Lansdowne, with Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Foley, will be called as witnesses who were present at the interview between Capt. Foley and Mrs. Lansdowne after which he prepared the statement which she was to present as her statement to the Navy court.

Mrs. George W. Steele, Jr., wife of the commandant of the naval air station at Lakehurst, who delivered the statement to Mrs. Lansdowne, also has been summoned to appear before the naval court. Several other witnesses besides Capt. Foley also probably will be heard in connection with this new phase of the Shenandoah inquiry.

Capt. Foley freely concedes that he wrote out a statement for Mrs. Lansdowne on the basis of a conversation with her, but he disagrees with her reconstruction of it from memory before the Mitchell court after she had destroyed the original.

He, too, has reconstructed the statement from memory and will present his version of it to the Shenandoah court.

Only a single copy of the statement was made, Capt. Foley says, and that was the one sent to Mrs. Lansdowne. Besides Mrs. Steele, several other persons saw the statement and they probably will be summoned before the naval court.

While the Mitchell court would not hear Capt. Foley today out of order, Col. Moreland and his associates decided tonight that he and any other essential witnesses will be called in rebuttal before the Army court-martial, and that the record of the case as developed before the Shenandoah court will not be accepted as constituting the record for the Army court.

Expect Wales Will Visit Erin Early in 1926

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

DUBLIN, Nov. 13.—The question as to when the Prince of Wales is likely to make his long-contemplated visit to the Irish Free State has been revived here. The belief prevails that in all probability he may be expected early next year, although no official announcement has yet been made on the subject.

It is thought here that if the Locarno pact is ratified the British government may consider it advisable before a very great while that the Prince should pay a visit to Germany.

WRECK DELAYS HUGE GUN EN ROUTE HERE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Nov. 13.—The journey of Uncle Sam's huge fourteen-inch railway army gun to Los Angeles Harbor, Cal., was temporarily delayed today while workmen cleared away the wreckage of a freight train which was derailed near Carr, Colo., last night. Fifty-five cattle and horses were killed in the wreck, caused by a broken car wheel. The big gun was moved to a side track during the work.

Compact With Italy Proves Agreeable to Coolidge

much as England owes us, he pronounced it self-evident that a small country like Italy can not begin to undertake to pay as much as the great British Empire.

The President was particularly pleased by the fine spirit manifested by the Italian commissioners in the negotiations. It was evident from the start they sincerely desired a settlement and under such circumstances a settlement was assured, the President has pointed out. Whether the President meant by this to contrast the attitude of the Italian and the French commissioners, is a matter of speculation.

MONOGRAPHS SUBMITTED

To establish their incapacity to pay more than a fraction of the debt, the Italian commission submitted twenty-three monographs on Italy's economic situation, which emphasized the low fertility of the soil, making the country agriculturally nonself-supporting, a population increasing more rapidly than agricultural production, the halting of the emigration movement by the bars put up by America and other countries which compels the absorption of a great population by the industrial organization.

The extension of the industrial organization, however, is handicapped by a lack of raw materials. Italy has no coal at all and little iron. The commission stated that the net per capita income of Italy is less than 40 per cent of that of France, one-third of Belgium's, 15 per cent of Great Britain's, and 10 per cent of America's.

FRANCE TAKES HEART AT EASY TERMS TO ITALY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The French government intends immediately to prepare the outline of another offer to the united States for a settlement of its war debt, drafted along the same proportionate lines as the Italian settlement reached in Washington.

"The terms granted Count Volpi indicate clearly the change in the attitude of the administration, and cause hopes that we will be able to fund our obligations fairly and justly with Washington ready to turn a generous ear to our statements regarding our capacity for payment," said a high government official.

While a certain element is bitterly resentful that the United States readily granted the Rome representative easy terms after refusing lesser concessions to the Caillaux government, the officials generally are highly pleased with the success of the Italians, as it paves the way for the next French offer, which will be less than what M. Caillaux offered in September.

Finance experts figure that Uncle Sam is collecting 74 per cent of the British debt, 45 per cent of the Belgian debt, and only 25 per cent of the Italian debt, and they intend to remodel the new offer on the same ratio, although willing to increase it to 33 per cent during the negotiations.

"We can prove that France is in no better position to pay than Italy, and our capacity is even less than Italy's, because of the enormous advances the state has made toward reconstructing the war devastations," said the high government official.

RUMANIA OFFERED SAME TERMS AS BRITAIN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—With the Italian funding agreement ready for formal signature tomorrow, the American Debt Commission began consideration today of Rumania's debt and that nation's mission, headed by M. Titulesco, has been advised informally that a settlement substantially on the basis of the British terms will be urged.

The Italian agreement apparently has been favorably received in most sections of this country. Treasury officials said today on the strength of private advices received since publication of the terms. President Coolidge also let it be known that he regarded the agreement as entirely satisfactory.

The agreement, in his opinion, represents the maximum burden the Italian people are able to bear, especially in view of the fact that Italy's debts to the United States and England combined almost equaled the amount which Great Britain owes this nation.

Little activity marked the Rumanian negotiations today, but experts of the two commissions were engaged in study of the problems and M. Titulesco conferred at length with Undersecretary Winston of the Treasury. There were indications that the negotiations will be carried on much in the same way the Czecho-Slovakian debt was considered. In that instance, practically the entire agreement was worked out in meetings between individuals.

Rumania's debt is carried on the Treasury records at $46,508,661, of which $10,880,166 represents accrued interest calculated at 5 per cent. It is regarded as likely that, in arranging for the funding of the debt, the accrued interest will be computed on a lower basis.

ITALY JUBILANT AT CONCESSION MADE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, Nov. 13.—The satisfaction which was shown with the first announcement that an agreement had been reached at Washington between the Italian debt mission and the American Debt Funding Committee turned to joy when the details of the terms became known here today. Some newspapers and financial leaders at first displayed only laconic agreeableness, but Italians generally did not conceal their jubilation. This feeling is clearly shown by the admission that the American concessions were greater than was deemed possible before the mission headed by Count Volpi sailed for America.

While such journals as the Giornale D'Italia point out that the burdens placed by the agreement upon future generations of Italians is no trifling consideration, the press generally does not hesitate to note with extreme satisfaction that the blanket cancellation on the part of the United States of $1,713,000,000 represents a sum of no mean proportions.

CHURCHILL JUSTIFIES OPTIMISM

Chancellor Gives Twelve Reasons for Believing in Improved Conditions

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has given the members of the Engineers' Club what he calls his "twelve apostles of reassurance." The members of the club had accused the Chancellor of being unduly optimistic and he furnished them with the following reasons which he considered as justifying him:

"The establishment of the gold standard; British overseas trade in the affairs of a great majority of British industrial enterprises; diminution in the cost of living; the yield of revenue which bears out the expectation in mind when the budget was framed; the consuming power of the people has been maintained and even increased; the savings of the people have increased; fewer days lost owing to strikes; unemployment not increased, while employment, compared with a year ago, has increased; the world has a good harvest and the best harvest is on the right side of the Atlantic—an important thing when considering Great Britain's debt repayment; there has been a magnificent cotton crop—an important factor for Lancashire; and the result of the Locarno conference."

Chauncey Olcott Credits Prayer for Recovery

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. — Now convalescent in his "lucky house" to which he was rushed when taken ill two weeks ago at Ann Arbor, Mich., Chauncey Olcott, actor, is attributing his recovery to the prayers of his friends.

He also ascribes a part in his recovery to healing qualities in the hands of his wife, a seventh daughter. She has just presented him a marble reproduction of her hands done by a sculptor, who felt inspired by St. Therese, the "Little Flower of Jesus."

"There is no doubt at all that I have been healed through prayer," said Mr. Olcott, greeting friends in his home, where he recovered from illness five years ago when he was supposed to be dying.

Displaying a sculptured pair of hands rising out of a block of marble, Mr. Olcott said: "I wouldn't take $1,000,000 for these hands. The Detroit Museum wants to buy them, so does my friend John McCormick, but I would not part with them."

Merchants Plot to Standardize Feminine Sizes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Feminine wearing apparel, like paving bricks, gas pipes and auto parts, is due for standardization in sizes, not in styles.

The task is before ready-to-wear manufacturers and merchants, meeting here next month. Unless a woman is a "perfect thirty-six" it is almost impossible for her to find a dress that fits her perfectly the first time, they say. If printed patterns can be standardized, they think, so can sizes in ready-to-wear.

The standard formed woman, according to tests to be submitted, has a hip measurement of 35.66 inches, bust 36, around the arm 10.31 and across the back 13.74.

DECLARE WAR ON PASTOR

Redlands Church Members Pass Resolution Banning Dr. Edwards From Pulpit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Nov. 13.—One hundred and forty-three members of the First Christian Church met in the church tonight and passed resolutions declaring that Rev. R. Glenn Edwards should not be pastor and should not again enter the pulpit. The resolutions also reprimanded three members of the board of elders who had exonerated Mr. Edwards of charges of being a disruptive force, and several members of the official board accused of taking matters of church policy into the civil courts.

This action followed a meeting a week ago at which 108 members elected Edwards permanent pastor and declared about 100 of his opponents dropped from the church rolls.

APPEAL TO PRESS

Yesterday and today notices of tonight's meeting appeared in the newspapers, to be followed by notices inserted by the other faction declaring that no meeting had been called by the official board.

Members gathering for the meeting tonight found the doors of the church locked. Entrance was gained through a window. It was then discovered that the doors had been spiked shut. The spikes were drawn and the church thrown open for the meeting.

INJUNCTION SERVED

The next step in the fight which has been waged for some months over Edwards's pastorate is a matter of speculation. Edwards was engaged as acting pastor for the summer months. Opposition to his retention developed. About six weeks ago members of the opposing faction, gathering for a meeting, found the church locked and deputy sheriffs waiting to serve injunctions on forty-six members, prohibiting meetings in the edifice. The injunction was later dissolved.

British Captain Gets Sentence in 'Mr. A' Case

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Capt. Charles Arthur, dapper British army officer, was sentenced to thirteen months' imprisonment and a fine of 500 francs ($20) in the Paris Correctional Court yesterday for complicity in the notorious "Mr. A." blackmail case, in which Maharajah Hari Singh was farced to pay $750,000 when he was victimized in a "badger" plot in a Paris hotel.

Capt. Arthur, aide-de-camp of the young Indian potentate, is asserted to have helped to trap Sir Hari with the pretty young wife of Charles Robinson, English gambler. The captain was arrested in Paris and already has served ten months in prison here awaiting trial. The time he already has served will be deducted from his thirteen months' sentence.

Student Paper at Berkeley Banned by Dean

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, Nov. 13.—The "Occident," a monthly publication edited and published by University of California students, was indefinitely suppressed today by university authorities because of an article in the current issue which was interpreted as ridiculing the immaculate conception of Christ as set forth in the Bible.

The author of the article was Donald C. Williams of Long Beach. Williams is a graduate of Occidental College and holds a master's degree from Harvard. He is majoring in philosophy at the University of California.

The suppression order was said to have been issued by Dean Woods in the absence of President Campbell. Fred Byers, president of the student welfare committee, scored Williams's article as "an insult to 99 per cent of the university students."

FREED BY TECHNICAL OVERSIGHT

Drug Offenders at Liberty Because Cost of Operating Car Was Not Counted

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 13.—Because the authorities failed to enter on the warrants the costs of taking prisoners back and forth from court to jail, thirteen drug runners and addicts who were serving from six months to twenty-three months in Oakalla jail have been liberated on this technicality.

The police advised the court that this cost was not filed in because it was impossible to tell the exact cost of transportation when it was done by prison car and there was no way of measuring the little gasoline and wear and tear on car for every short trip.

Application has been made to liberate twenty-three more drug offenders serving from two years to seven years in the penitentiary on the same technicality.

Antidrug officials and citizens who are interested in seeing that drug runners and narcotic drug dealers penalized to rtheir criminal intent on the public, are waging a war against the action of the court in this matter, as it means that all narcotic drug traffickers will be free because of the fact that the warrant which has nothing to do with their conviction failed to show the small sum of 50 cents, as the charge could not have been more than that.

ANGELENO ARRESTED IN BAY CITY

Broker Held on Warrant Obtained by Husband of Woman Companion

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13. — Edward Beckwith, 35 years of age, Los Angeles stock broker, was arrested today by San Francisco police when he was traced to an Ellis-street hotel in company with Mrs. Beatrice Ostle, 24, whose husband swore to the warrant against him. Ostle charges the broker with threatening his life and with inducing Mrs. Ostle to leave their Los Angeles home with the promise that a child born to her in 1918 and concealed "somewhere in Colorado" by Beckwith, would be restored.

The girl told police she has known Beckwith since she was 16. When she married Ostle, she declared Beckwith wrote a number of threatening letters to her husband and induced her to leave home.

Beckwith admitted he has hidden the child, and declared he will disclose its whereabouts when he is "good and ready."

Superior Judge Crail in December, 1924, issued a writ of habeas corpus to Thomas Ostle to force Edward Beckwith to release Mrs. Ostle, Ostle charging that the broker was keeping her a prisoner in his home against her wishes. The hearing was continued when Beckwith failed to appear in court.

Three days after the habeas corpus proceedings, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark issued a complaint against Beckwith charging him with threatening to kill Ostle and his wife. The broker is said to have left town shortly after the filing of the complaint. Mr. and Mrs. Ostle were married in Los Angeles December 5, 1924.

Bakery Worker Draws Term as Alien Smuggler

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL RIO (Tex.) Nov. 13.—The last case tried at this term of Federal court in Del Rio, Tex., was the one in which Frank Rumi, a German baker, was charged with smuggling aliens across the Mexican border. The jury found him guilty and Judge DuVal West sentenced him to serve six months in the County Jail.

It is asserted by the prosecution that Rumi, who was connected with a bakery shop in Villa Acuna, opposite Del Rio on the Mexican side, was assisting aliens to enter this country in violation of the law. The man was enticed over to Del Rio three months ago by immigration men on the pretext that they were assisting him to obtain American citizenship. This form of obtaining possession of the man did not appeal to the court.

Rumi worked in a Del Rio bakery several months last year and was deported to Mexico in January. Since that time he has been making an effort to be admitted to citizenship in this country and was in a good way to secure his desires, immigration men assert, until it was thought that he might be connected with the smuggling activities in the Del Rio section.

After serving six months in the Val Verda County Jail Rumi will be turned over to immigration officials and deported to Mexico again.

Club Members Construct Ice Skating Pond

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YOSEMITE, Nov. 13.—Plans for the first winter sport program were put into effect here this week, when members of the Yosemite Elks Club engaged in a contest which resulted in the completion of the first unit of a large ice skating pond in the Merced River, one-half mile above the Sentinel Bridge.

Led by President Harry Kramer, the local organization divided into a shovel brigade and a sand bank crew to see which could outwork the other. At the conclusion of the day's work Kramer declared the contest a draw. A brisk sale of ice skates is reported at this time, in preparation for the skating season which will be inaugurated shortly following several nights of freezing weather.

COMPENSATION DENIED MAN FOUND INNOCENT

SEATTLE POLICEMAN HELD IN JAIL MORE THAN EIGHT MONTHS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 13.—The Provincial government of British Columbia refused to make any compensation to Ross Watson, former Seattle policeman, who was tried on a charge of being implicated in the Nanaimo bank robbery of a year ago but adjudged not guilty by a jury last week. Watson was extradited from the United States and has been in jail here eight and one-half months.

His home in Seattle was sold to obtain money for the conduct of his defense, and his wife had to go out to work. W. E. Burns, Watson's lawyer made application for some compensation but Atty.-Gen. Manson refused to consider it. Dead broke, Watson accompanied by his wife and little son went back to Seattle through the assistance of friends.

In Great Britain it is said compensation has been given on a number of occasions when injustice has been done men, but this has never become practice nor has it been introduced into Canada.

Use Cuticura Soap And Ointment To Heal Sore Hands

DEAF PERSONS GO TO COLLEGE

Institution Established At Washington

Free Scholarships Offered by Congress

Entire Course Extends Over Five Years

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The argument of one of the wisest philosophers of ancient Greece that persons born deaf have no souls and are incapable of instruction has been refuted many times over. In the United States most of the credit for disproving this theory belongs to Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, who established at Hartford, Ct., the first permanent school for deaf children.

At first the course of study was very limited, but gradually the duration of the school course was lengthened and the number of studies increased. While it is thought that Gallaudet probably believed that deaf people of good mental capacity should have an opportunity to pursue a higher education, he did not live to see his hopes realized. It remained for his youngest son, Edward Miner Gallaudet, to bring them to fulfillment.

OPPORTUNITY

The younger Gallaudet saw his opportunity of carrying out his father's idea of a course of higher instruction for the deaf in a call he received in 1857 to take charge of the newly established institution for the deaf and blind in the District of Columbia.

Amos Kendall, a philanthropist of Washington, became interested in several deaf children whom he found in the poorer districts and brought them to his country estate, hiring an instructor for them. In 1846 he gave a house and three acres of land to establish a school for the deaf. Afterward he made it possible for the school to purchase additional land and it now covers an area of approximately 104 acres.

In 1857 an Act of Incorporation was obtained from Congress establishing the Columbia Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind. The instruction of the blind was soon turned over to an institution in Maryland.

This act also provided that the Federal government should give financial assistance to this institution. The present institution still receives financial aid through appropriations from Congress. The general management and the disbursement of all funds are under the supervision of a board of directors composed of eleven members, three of whom represent Congress. Two are appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the other is a member of the Senate and is appointed by the Vice President.

In 1864 Abraham Lincoln signed an act which granted the Columbia Institution power to confer college degrees upon its graduates, and a collegiate department was opened that year. Until 1887 the school was only open to men, but in that year it was decided to allow women to matriculate. The advanced department was first known as the National Deaf Mute College, but in 1894 it was changed to Gallaudet College in honor of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, at the request of the graduates.

Congress has provided 125 free scholarships to Gallaudet College for those deaf young men and women who can not afford to pay tuition. Also most of the States of the Union provide scholarships for graduates of the State schools. In addition to those students who enter under scholarships are pay pupils. There have been a number of these from Canada, England, Wales and the Philippine Islands.

FIVE-YEAR COURSE

The course is five years, one year being devoted to preparatory work. During the preparatory year pupils are required to take plane geometry, advanced algebra, Latin, English composition, early European history, and drawing. The college curriculum is similar to that of colleges teaching hearing students, although the study of mathematics through elementary mechanics is insisted upon whereas in many colleges students are not required to continue mathematics.

The President of the college says that about 98 per cent of the graduates are self-supporting. Many have attained marked success. The senior member of a well-known firm of architects is a graduate of Gallaudet. Many have achieved success as ministers and teachers of the deaf. Others have entered law, dentistry, real estate, printing and publishing. This, of course, applies principally to men graduates.

POTATO PEELER HEIR TO RICHES

Inherits Valuable Property in Lincoln, Neb.

Sister in Los Angeles Shares in Fortune

Father's Estate Depleted by Alimony

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Nov. 13.—Two weeks ago Christopher W. Tiernan, 59 years of age, was peeling potatoes for $15 a week at a small side-street restaurant in Omaha. Today he is a gentleman of leisure in Lincoln, with an income of $700 a month and plaintiff in a lawsuit in which he insists upon full control of the estate from which the income is paid.

The estate is one which his father, Chris Tiernan, Sr., relinquished a short time ago when death called him at 84 years of age. The elder Tiernan was a hard-fisted, hard-fighting Irishman. He had been married four times. Two of his wives obtained divorces from him, and after a hard fight in the courts walked off with large slices of alimony. Tiernan came to Lincoln in the early days, and prospered in the retail liquor business. He bought some sightly business lots early and clung to them until he died.

Every now and then, when a business block or a lot in the downtown section, could be picked up at a bargain, Tiernan took it in. When he died he had property valued at around $600,000. Not all of it was income-producing property, but all valuable. Half a block of it lay just opposite the Burlington depot, and here and there on the side streets he turned up as owner of a block.

Two children survived him and his wives. These are Chris Tiernan of Omaha and Mrs. Catherine Tiernan Burdick of Los Angeles. His father's frequent matrimonial alliances and their inability to hitch had more or less separated the father and son, so that the latter, past middle age, had received little aid and been reduced to the menial job of potato peeler. In his last days the elder Tiernan relented a little. He executed a deed of trust to a local trust company under the terms of which the income of the estate should be divided between the two children, with the title, at their death, going to a Catholic orphanage in South Lincoln. It is this instrument that Tiernan is attacking in the local courts.

WORLD TRADE AT PREWAR LEVEL

League of Nations Gives Figures Since 1913

Distribution of Business Radically Changed

America, Canada, Japan Increase Exports

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Nov. 13.—The total volume of world trade in 1924 was little, if at all, less than in 1913, the year before the outbreak of the war, the League of Nations announced today. Hence, it declares, the world is beginning to recover from the ravages of the great conflict.

On the other hand, the distribution of trade has radically changed, as the share of Eastern and Central Europe has dropped 40 per cent while that of Central America and Asia has greatly increased.

Great Britain has maintained her position, notwithstanding the fact that countries outside of Europe have received a smaller proportion of their imports from her than they did before the war.

Of the great trading countries, the report said, the United States, Canada and Japan are the three whose exports have increased the most, but China, Cuba, Mexico, the Dominican Republic, Salvador, Honduras, Greece and Peru all more than doubled the dollar value of their exports between 1913 and 1924. As the rise in the value of goods since 1913 is estimated at 50 per cent, all these countries have materially improved their status.

Regarding currency and central banks, the report emphasizes that by the middle of the current year there were thirty countries whose currencies were legally or de facto based on gold.

GRANGES SEEK RECALL OF TAX

Co-operative Marketing Levy Relief Proposed

Federal Child Labor Law Also Protested

Entrance Into World Court Given Support

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13. — Co-operative marketing organizations would be relieved from taxation under a resolution introduced at the convention of the National Grange here today by H. N. Sawyer, delegate from New Hampshire.

The resolution urges passage of legislation to that effect. Objection also was made to making public financial returns of co-operative organizations.

Harry Caton, delegate from Ohio, presented a resolution on the child labor amendment stating that "Federal interference of drastic nature is unnecessary, that adoption of the proposed amendment would be dangerous to the best interests of society and would be precedent for the establishment of other costly, centralized and bureaucratic methods which would remove government still farther from the people."

Proposed increases in freight rates were firmly opposed in a resolution introduced by Ralph Smith, delegate from Iowa.

WANT DEBTS PAID

A resolution demanding that the United States collect in full all money lent to European nations during the World War was introduced by Allen B. Cook, State grange master of Connecticut, and received heavy applause from the grangers in convention.

Another resolution introduced indorsed entrance into the World Court by the United States, preserving the nation's sovereignty by reservations. All resolutions were referred to committee.

At the close of the morning session a resolution was introduced by E. A. Eckert, grand master of the Illinois Grange, providing that a telegram be sent to Secretary of Agriculture Jardine expressing the opposition of the National Grange to the changing of the present quarantine laws, which Eckert said he believed valuable in keeping out diseased plants and bulbs.

URGES CONSCRIPTION

Eckert brought up a resolution asking that the grange "reaffirm its position in demanding that in case of future war our nation should conscript labor and capital on exactly the same basis as our fighting forces."

F. S. Dewey, of Pennsylvania, introduced a resolution demanding strict law enforcement be observed.

HOPE GONE FOR SUB CREW

Death by Suffocation Inevitable for Sixty-eight on M-1, as Craft is Located on Sea Floor

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Hope has been abandoned for the sixty-eight officers and men on the British submarine M-1, which sank yesterday while maneuvering off Start Point, Devonshire.

The vessel has been located on the ocean bed, 250 feet beneath the water's surface—a depth too great to permit of rescue and at which, it is feared, the hull must soon be crushed by pressure of the water.

While it is believed the men are still alive as the air supply is sufficient to prolong life for from thirty-six to forty hours, they face the terrible fate of slow suffocation. They may linger for two days, but their doom is written inexorably in a slow, but certain death with all the horrors of the situation, their anguish for relatives and friends and the utter helplessness of their condition confronting them as long as consciousness remains.

Today naval searchers trawling the ocean's bed came upon an object which is believed beyond doubt to be the sunken vessel. At its depth hope for raising the M-1 is beyond conception. Some of the admiralty searchers were of the opinion that the imprisoned men already had succumbed. This conjecture is based on the failure to find oil on the surface anywhere in the vicinity of the wreck. It is believed that if any of the men were alive they would still be releasing oil to guide the searchers whom they know are making efforts to locate them.

The object which is believed beyond reasonable doubt to be the M-1 was encountered by the grappling cables of the searchers close to the spot in which the submersible was seen making her descent—her last—Thursday morning. When, after twelve hours, she failed to come to the surface her loss was reported to the Admiralty by the commander of the Atlantic fleet. It is believed probable that the M-1 sustained incapacitating injury in collision with some wartime wreckage.

Foe of Saloons Answers Rumor With Challenge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Taking cognizance of what he termed "whispered rumors" Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, today challenged wets to "name the men high in the council of the administration who are recommending a modification of the Volstead Act" in the interest of law enforcement.

The rumors, he said, concerned high alcohol percentages in permitted beverages.

"We challenge the sponsors of this story," he said, "to name any individual authorized to speak for the administration on this question, who makes such a suggestion. If there be such the public is entitled to know who he is and his reasons for it."

STATE AIDE FORCED OUT IN BEER QUIZ

Assistant to District Attorney in Chicago Says Higher Ups Halted Inquiry

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—James L. McDowell, assistant District Attorney, whose resignation today followed the disclosure that Abraham Levin, millionaire bootlegger had been granted a fifth stay of sentence, declared that a person high in Illinois politics had demanded that Dist.-Atty. Olson ease up on the Federal beer syndicate investigation.

Dist.-Atty. Olson, who was reported to have asked Mr. McDowell to resign, vehemently denied that he had been approached on the matter of the beer investigation or that it had been dropped.

Although Mr. Olson promised to tell just why Mr. McDowell's resignation was requested in a formal statement, when this was issued it merely indicated that Mr. McDowell's tenure of office had come to an end by agreement.

Edward J. Davis, superintendent of the Better Government Association, said he had nothing to say at this time concerning the rumors of scandal at the Federal building. He intimated that he was making an investigation and said that there would be a report on it in a few days, but that the association had nothing ready to be made public as yet.

Mr. McDowell said he had been called into the office of Mr. Olson and in a thirty-minute interview was told that he had better "just go along as instructed" in connection with the beer investigation and not delve too deeply into matters or his job would be asked for.

POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEES INCREASED

Postal Trade Expansion Causes Addition to Mail Men in Los Angeles

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Expansion of the postal business, reflected in October postal receipts, which, with one exception were the largest for any month in the history of the service, has caused Postmaster-General New to add carriers and clerks to his postoffice staff throughout the country.

With Christmas approaching postmasters in various large cities were notified today of the addition of 373 employees, mostly regular letter carriers, effective next Monday. These are in addition to increases in the forces of various postoffices during the last few months.

Los Angeles has been granted eight additional employees.

The Navy Department today assumed its annual role of postmaster, serving notice as to just what should be done by those who contemplate sending Christmas mail to men on duty abroad.

Mail for the West Indies will be taken by the U.S.S. Kittery, leaving Hampton Roads December 17, and should be addressed to the naval operating base at the Virginia port for receipt by December 16.

Persons having mail for men in Hawaii, Guam, the Philippines and ships of the Asiatic fleet were instructed to send it "via U.S.S. Chaumont, care of Postmaster, San Francisco" in time to be received not later than the 22nd inst.

MUSHER TURNS MILLIONAIRE

Yukon Fortune Seeker of Yore Made Wealthy by His Claims

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Nov. 13. Twenty-seven years ago Thomas Kirkland mushed into the Yukon. Today Kirkland arrived here to sign agreements with a group of New York financiers which will make him a millionaire. One of the claims he staked is the Kirkland Gold, adjoining the Engineer Mine, near Atlin, B. C. The Wall-street interests to which Kirkland is making over his mine are to put $1,000,000 into the property.

consider it a mistake and forget it. This certainly will be the French course.

Official recognition of the departure of the Americans was given by Gen. Petain the other day, when he decorated the entire band at Meknes.

CREDENTIALS HIT

A somewhat less pleasing recognition was accorded a few days later by "La Presse Marocaine," an important French daily at Casablanca in a leading editorial which demanded that the Americans be required to produce their pilots' licenses and their commissions as officers of the American or any other army. The writer voiced an accusation long current in French Morocco, that some of the Americans have been masquerading under military titles to which they have no right.

It has been further unofficially declared by French authorities that the Americans have used 34,000 liters of gasoline for a total number of flying hours on which French aviators would customarily use only 12,000 liters. It is said that the Americans have completely destroyed four French planes and badly damaged four others.

In addition to this, they have suffered some hostility from French officers because their escadrille has been substantially released from ordinary discipline and its members have often openly broken rules which the French must observe. Of course, there is also some resentment that the Americans are being paid more than French officers of the same rank, and are being decorated wholesale, without regard to their individual merits.

From the Riff viewpoint, the advent of these volunteers is naturally regarded as completely indefensible. I discussed the question with Abd-el-Krim and his brother Sidi Mohammed, as well as various military chiefs in the Riff. With varying degrees of resentment, they characterized the volunteers as "adventurers" or "mercenaries."

NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY

Yet it must be remembered that the Riffian is an intensely practical person, and none of these officials ever took the American aviators as seriously as Europe and America have taken them. To Abd-el-Krim's officers, the American volunteers have been just so many more aviators and nothing else.

Abd-el-Krim himself, with his ever-present sense of humor and tolerance, regarded the exploitation of the Americans' nationality by the French press as an amusing incident, which exhibited what he calls "the French propaganda mania."

Discussing the motives of the American group's action, he said: "You say they are young flyers looking for adventure. If they want adventure, why don't they volunteer to work for the guillotine for the French? There's just as much adventure working the guillotine or hanging condemned prisoners as in dropping bombs on defenseless villages."

The Riff public is completely silent on the subject of the Americans, because the existence of the American volunteers has never become generally known inside the Riff. Outside Abd-el-Krim's Cabinet and a few members of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs nobody has access to the French, Spanish or British press, and high government officials have never permitted the existence of the American volunteers to become generally known.

I myself never mentioned the Americans, except when directly asked, because, unfortunately, most Riffians would be unable to understand that the American aviators have no connection with the American government or Army.

I should say that perhaps thirty or forty persons inside the Riff are aware of the existence of the American volunteers. These thirty or forty are mostly government officials. As the Americans use the regulation French bombing plane, there is no possibility of their existence becoming generally known to the blockaded Riff.

ELKS LOSE FIGHT TO HALT QUIZ BY JURY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Federal Judge Goddard today denied the application of the Elks' Club for an injunction to restrain Federal District-Attorney Buckner from inspecting books and other records of the club for evidence for grand jury investigation resulting from the recent seizure of nine kegs of asserted beer in the club.

In rendering his decision, Judge Goddard said the sole issue to decide was whether a secret organization or any other organization is immune from the subpoena process.

EX-DRY OFFICER HELD ON EXTORTION CHARGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Chester Howard, former Federal prohibition agent, who is charged with extorting $1000 and a diamond ring valued at $500 as "protection" for Christopher L. Seavers, after he found a quantity of wine in Seavers's garage here, was arraigned today before a United States commissioner and pleaded not guilty. His bond was set at $15,000.

Howard was captured in front of prohibition headquarters after a battle today. The arresting authorities said that he was heavily armed.

CRIPPLE AIDED BY KIWANIANS

Unfortunate Lad Sent Here for Treatment

Then Becomes Proprietor of News Stand

El Paso Newspaper Also Keeps Youngster

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 13.—"Sidney Colls—Kiwanis shoe shining parlor and news stand." This sign has just been put up over a little hole in the wall among the cash and carry stores of the retail shopping district on North Oregon street. It is more than a two-by-four business enterprise conducted by a crippled boy. It is a monument to unselfishness on the part of a local paper, a local club and some kindly local residents.

Sidney Colls was a newsboy on the corner of San Jacinto Plaza a year ago. Because of his crippled condition it was necessary for him to recline in a wheeled chair which his sister pushed to the plaza each day. In this position he sold his newspapers to a regular list of patrons who reserved their nickels and pennies for Colls's wares. The El Paso Post started a campaign to send Sidney to the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital for treatment. Subscriptions to the fund were received by the Post and the names published together with stories about the newsboy's struggle for existence against heavy handicaps. Then the Kiwanis Club took up the case and assisted in raising sufficient funds to send Sidney to Los Angeles for an orthopedic operation and treatment. He remained in the hospital there almost a year.

Upon his return the Kiwanis Club fitted up the little shoe shining parlor and news stand for him, a local sign painter painted the sign which went over the door and an electrician connected it up for him without charge. Now Sidney is enthroned behind the counter of his own business, is making a good living for himself and his sister and, best of all, is learning to walk as fast as the unused muscles of his once crippled body will permit. In appreciation of what the Kiwanis here did for him he called his stand the Kiwanis News Stand.

Chicago Police Abandon Durkin Suicide Theory

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—After vainly following all day another supposedly genuine clew to the whereabouts of Martin Durkin, steel-vested Chicago and California gunman, police tonight abandoned their hunt for the killer's body in the Chicago River.

Chief of Detectives Shoemaker expressed belief that a bullet pierced blood-stained coat and suicide note found by the Michigan Boulevard bridge last night were part of a hoax. He was inclined to disbelieve that Durkin would ever contemplate suicide.

Durkin is wanted in California for the theft of automobiles and in Chicago for the death of two officers, slain in attempts to arrest him.

Although the police were skeptical, three of Durkin's relatives declared the coat was his, and likewise the handwriting in the letter, which was addressed to his mother.

Ben Turpin Has Easy Day After Long Operation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 13.—Ben Turpin, Los Angeles film comedian, though in a dangerous condition as a result of his operation for appendicitis last night in the Cottage Hospital here, was reported resting well this afternoon.

Attendants revealed today that the operation was much more dangerous and his condition more serious than at first announced. He was under the knife for an hour and a half, and will be confined here for several weeks.

Russian Decree Paints Moscow Churches White

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Nov. 13.—Under orders from the government every church, monastery, cathedral and convent in Moscow has been whitewashed. This gives the otherwise drab city an air of cleanliness and purity.

Even the diminutive shrine of the Iberian Virgin at the entrance to Red Square, which to the devout Russian is the most sacred spot in Russia, has been painted.

Nearby in letters of white stone on a red background, is the famous Communist inscription borrowed from Karl Marx, "religion is the opium of the people."

WINTER HOLDS ALOOF

Nome Residents Still Basking in Autumn Weather

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NOME (Alaska) Nov. 13.—Residents of Nome, who nearly a month ago said good-by to the last steamer of the season and prepared to be frozen in for the winter, are still waiting for the advent of snow and ice.

Reported volcanic activity in the Aleutian Islands is generally credited with the unusual continuance of open weather. There has been no snow yet in the district, rivers and creeks are still open, and dredges are operating without difficulty.

The first threat of winter came Tuesday night when the thermometer dipped to 16 deg. above zero. The average for the fall has been above freezing.

YUMA SCHOOL HEAD PLANS NO ELECTION

MRS. HANSBERGER POINTS OUT LEGAL OBSTACLE TO BOND VOTE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) Nov. 13.—Superintendent of Schools Mrs. Anna D. Hansberger has announced that she will not call an election for the creation of a new high school district in the Yuma Valley upon the petition filed with her for that purpose. Her reason is that the petitioners, in fixing the boundary of the proposed new high school district, have included a large part of School District No. 1, which is a part of the present Yuma Union High School district.

There is no provision under the law by which a part of Yuma School District No. 1 can be cut off and put into another high school district, even if the trustees of the district should consent.

Since no part of the Yuma district can be taken into the proposed new high school district, then the Aztec and the Mohawk districts can not be reached, as the law provides that when a new high school district is created the territory taken in must be contiguous.

CITIES ACCUSED OF STREAM POLLUTION

MICHIGAN STATE DEPUTIES CITE SIXTY TOWNS AS OFFENDERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LANSING (Mich.) Nov. 13.—State deputies in charge of stream-pollution work in Michigan have submitted a report to John Baird, director of the State Department of Conservation, and Dr. R. M. Olin, State Health Commissioner, recommending that more than sixty Michigan cities be cited to show cause why they should not be restrained from polluting lakes and streams.

The report stated that municipalities were the worst offenders in stream pollution, but also pointed out that some State institutions are not provided with adequate facilities for sewage disposal.

Four major streams of Michigan are now being concentrated upon. They are the Kalamazoo, Saginaw, St. Joseph and Grand rivers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Organization in this State of the largest national committee ever mobilized for any humanitarian fund-raising effort among American Jewry has been effected. The appointments include Mortimer Fleischhacker, Morgan A. Gunst, Moses Gunst, Felix Kahn, Sylvan S. Kauffman, A. M. Lesser, Rabbi Herman Lissauer, Grover A. Magnin, Rabbi Jacob Nieto, M. Spiegelman, Robert Start, A. J. Sugarman of San Francisco; Ira Hochheimer, Bakersfield; Rabbi M. Diamond, Long Beach; William W. Bearman, Louis M. Cole, Joseph Cummings, Dr. David W. Edelman, Isidore Eisner, Marco H. Hellman, Jay B. Jacobs, I. Irving Lipsitch, Henry W. Louis, Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, Chaim Shapiro, Jacob Steinberg, Rabbi Maurice R. Teshnor, Rabbi M. Winkler of Los Angeles; Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee, K. Gluck, A. S. Lavenson, B. L. Mosbacher, M. Parker of Oakland, as members of the united Jewish campaign for $15,000,000. The purpose of this campaign is to raise an "overseas chest" in this country for reconstructive relief in various European countries, including Russia. The quota to be raised in California is $1,000,000.

These appointments were announced by David A. Brown, national chairman of the appeal, who is known throughout the country for his memorable achievement in leading the Jewish war sufferers' campaign of 1921-22 to its $14,000,000 victory.

More than 800 leading men, in practically every State and city in this country and all parts of Canada, have accepted membership on the national committee, which, in the opinion of Mr. Brown, sets a new precedent for size and organization scheme in undertakings of this kind. It took a large force of experts and clerks more than a month to complete the array of names representing every alignment, religious, communal, and philanthropic, of Jewish life in this country. The consent of every person listed was obtained before his name was included in the committee roster.

The campaign is to be directed by Mr. Brown from central headquarters in New York. The local campaigns will be carried out in every section through the local committees.

Youthful Robert Perret Instructs Edna King in Love Making in Four Languages.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Nine-year-old Robert Perret not only speaks four languages fluently, but he makes love in all of them. The youth, who is the son of a wealthy Guatemala coffee grower, speaks English, Spanish, French and German, and his accent in each of the languages is remarkable, according to expert linguists here who conversed with him. He is now studying Latin and contemplates tackling Greek at an early date.

The younster was a prime favorite with the female passengers aboard the Panama mail liner Venezuela, on which he sailed the other day for Guatemala, because of his accomplished and linguistically versatile love-making.

LONG-LOST FATHER FOUND

Man Believed Slain by Bandits Forty Years Ago Located in Louisiana Town

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MERTENS (Tex.) Nov. 13.—Discovery was made a few days ago by Extor Shores, a well-to-do farmer living near here, that his father who was believed to have been killed by bandits forty years ago is still alive. The first information of the whereabouts of the long-missing man came to Shores through Sheriff Ed Wilson of Hill county, who received a telegram a few days ago signed W. W. Adams, Sheriff, and dated Ozark, Ark., reading as follows: Wire me address of Extor or Uric Shores. I have found their long-lost father. I want them to go to him immediately. These boys live in Hill county."

Sheriff Wilson came out to the Mertens community and went to the home of Extor Shores. The latter was deeply affected when informed that his father was alive. In order to obtain additional information he wired Sheriff Adams at Ozark, and he promptly received this reply:

"Your father is at Natchitoches, La. Wire Dr. W. W. Knipmeyer at that place to hold him there and care for him there until you arrive on first train."

Shores and his wife made hurried preparations for the journey and thirty-six hours later they were in Natchitoches. Nothing is known here as to the meeting between father and son beyond the brief statement contained in a telegram that the identification was complete. The story of the forty years that the missing man spent and the sensational circumstances connected with his disappearance is yet to be told. There are other children of the elder Shores who do not know that their father whom they had long mourned as dead is alive. Upon the eve of his departure for Natchitoches Extor Shores said:

"At the time my father, Dick Shores, disappeared he was Sheriff of Franklin county Arkansas. He was a widower with two daughters and three sons. One day he was away from home and a jailbreak occurred at the county prison, and several of the inmates escaped. One of the prisoners told my little sister that if my father followed him, they would kill him. When my father returned, he took the trail of the fugitives. The last we ever heard of him was that he had been seen in Little Rock, Ark. It was the common belief of peace officers and others of Arkansas that he had been killed by the escaped bandits and his body thrown into the Arkansas River. All of the children shared in this belief.

"My brothers and sisters and myself were placed with relatives. The two girls went to California to live with an aunt. When they grew up, they married and both are now living in Johannesburg, South Africa. We do not know what became of Uric. No word has been had of him for many years. My other brother, Wallace, was also a wanderer. The last we heard of him he was in the Yukon goldfields. That was twenty-five years ago."

CIVIL ACTION STARTS ON PROPERTY TITLES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) Nov. 13. — Titles to property in Yuma City are involved in litigation by an unexpected civil suit filed by two sons of Ben C. and Ruby Heyel. One of the plaintiffs lives in Ajo, Ariz., and the other in California.

The claim is set up that following the death of their mother in November, 1909, their legal share of the estate was not probated, nor did they receive any part thereof. The property had belonged to A. Joe Heyel and Ben C. Heyel, brothers, and Ruby Heyel, wife of Ben C. Heyel. In February, 1901, it was transferred to Mr. and Mrs. John Ghiotto, since which time several parcels have been sold by them in good faith.

MRS. CULP FREE FROM EX-PASTOR

Decree Given Following Series of Desertions by Former Preacher Mate

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Nov. 13. Mrs. Wilson W. Culp, four times deserted by her husband, gave him liberty yesterday. She divorced the unfrocked preacher on the grounds of desertion, cruelty and nonsupport of their ten living children, the youngest 3 years of age, the oldest 18.

Judge Oare granted her the decree, gave her no alimony and ordered that she should not remarry for two years.

"I should say not," was the remark that Mrs. Culp shouted when Judge Oare asked if she would wed the missing husband should he appear again.

Mrs. Culp told how she had been a happy bride in the country church parsonage near Nappanee, Ind., about twenty years ago.

It was several years ago in Ohio that Rev. Culp, then pastor of the country church, fell in love with a choir girl and eloped with her, only to be unfrocked. They were caught in Michigan.

Reconciliation brought the family to South Bend, where the ex-preacher got a job. Three times since he has wandered away, however, the last two times with his sister-in-law, it is asserted, and with whom he is now living somewhere, it is believed.

It was with Mrs. Clio Culp, who deserted her husband and baby, that he ran away to Chicago, only to come back when Mrs. Clio became homesick for her baby. They received forgiveness, but they took flight again, after Culp had accumulated a little money for railroad fare to Mexico.

HOME LIFE BROKEN UP BY POLITICS

Banker Testifies Wife Cared More for Public Plaudits Than Marital Bliss

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) Nov. 13.—Too much politics broke up the home of Edward F. Feickert, president of the State Trust Company of Plainfield, N.J., the banker testified in District Court here today in divorce action against his wife, Lillian E. Feickert, Republican State chairman of New Jersey and president of the New Jersey Woman's Republican Club. The suit was filed on September 30 and went to trial today by default, Mrs. Feickert having failed to make any appearance.

Feickert testified that after his wife entered the suffrage fight in New Jersey in 1920 he had no further home life. She promised to give up politics as soon as suffrage won, he said, but when New Jersey gave women the vote, his wife went in for partisan politics. He said that on one occasion his wife intimated that she cared more for public life than she did for him.

Snow Falls in Paris as Four Die From Cold

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Paris had its first snow of the season at midnight last night. The flakes, however, soon melted and turned into slush. Snow is rare in Paris at any time and it is rarely seen so early in the winter.

Four deaths from the cold have been reported from the suburbs of Paris. One of those who perished was a partly clad woman who collapsed on the steps of a bank on the boulevard.

House Will be Constructed of Old Adobe Brick

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN JOSE, Nov. 13.—Arrangements have been made by Mrs. Fremont Older, novelist, for the preservation of a portion of the bricks of the old adobe structure on West Santa Clara street, which will be wrecked to make room for further business developments.

Plans are made to have the bricks removed to Mrs. Older's foothill home in Cupertino, where they will be reconstructed into a small house, in her garden, the construction following the style of the Spanish architecture as closely as possible.

The adobe is believed to be at least 130 years old, and is said to have served as a jail in the days of the Pueblo. The bricks are singular in size and shape, being approximately a foot and a half long, about twelve inches wide, and almost two inches thick. The bricks are red kiln-fired.

Gloria Swanson Files Appeal in Contempt Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Gloria Swanson filed notice of an appeal today from the decision of Justice Ford holding her properly adjudged guilty of contempt of court and fining her $250 on pain of commitment to Ludlow-street Jail.

Justice Ford upheld the decision of Justice Marsh declaring the film star guilty of contempt for failure to answer a subpoena asserted to have been served upon her to appear in the suits between Janet Beecher and her husband, Dr. Richard Horace Hoffman, for separation and the custody of their 5-year-old son, Richard.

Actual number of Sciots registering was 1933, while 2250 people registered as guests. The chamber estimates that only 60 per cent of the visitors registered.

LIQUOR TRANSPORTATION HIGH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Even legitimate whisky shipments cause so much trouble and expense to railroads nowadays that the Interstate Commerce Commission held today that extra rates for its transportation are justifiable. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and other railroads which moved forty-three carloads of whisky to California points from Kentucky during 1923 and 1924 were held to have been right in collecting more than first-class rates from the shippers, A. E. Green and Maurice Selig. Every car of whisky has especial guard riding on it the decision said, and extra guards are provided at all terminals and switching points.

MEN SMARTER---AND DUMBER!

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BURLINGAME (Vt.) Nov. 13.—Men showed the widest variation, winning highest and lowest places in intelligence tests of 972 freshmen at the University of Vermont this year while women in general held the middle ground, it was disclosed here today. The same was true of the freshman class of last year. As a result of the same tests investigators concluded that "intelligence did not appear to be a matter of preparation, for students from small schools stood as well as those from the largest." In mathematics men stood higher than women while women excelled in languages.

and Interstate and Foreign Commerce committees.

When the committee on committees resumes its work one of its actions will be to remove Representative Nelson, Republican, Wisconsin, who was the La Follette campaign manager, as a member of the Committee on Rules. This is the committee which controls the House legislative program and thus is one of the so-called policy-making committees.

It is understood that some Republican will advocate the retention of Representative Lampert, Republican, Wisconsin, as chairman of the House Committee on Patents. While classed as a La Follette man it is asserted that Mr. Lampert did not actively participate in the La Follette campaign and desires to be considered as a Republican. A similar assertion is made with respected to Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, who is in time for selection as chairman of the Committee on Claims unless deprived of his seniority rights.

NEW MEMBER

The Senate Republican committee on committees is faced with the question of assignments for Senator Robert LA Follette, Jr., elected to succeed his father.

As a new member Senator La Follette would not be entitled to assignment as a member of such important committees as Finance and Interstate Commerce, on both of which his father was the ranking member until deprived of his seniority rights last spring. The elder La Follette was allowed to remain on these committees but was placed at the foot of the list and the Republican majority increased sufficiently to destroy his power.

REBEL DRUSES ENTER LEBANON

Invading Tribesmen Capture Town of Hasbciya

Christian Inhabitants Flee From Attackers

French Make Plans for New Cavalry Action

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BEIRUT (Syria) Nov. 13.—The Syrian revolt has become a race between French cavalry and the rebel horsemen who are trying to sack villages or intimidate natives in new parts of the country to join the uprising. The principal fighting yesterday was at Hasbciya, half-way between Damascus and Saida, the ancient Sidon. The Druses appeared suddenly and captured the important town, which formerly was the headquarters of the American and British missions.

The significance of the attack is that the Druses for the first time crossed the Hermon Mountain ridge, invading Lebanon, which is a distinct state from Syria but is under the French mandate.

Coming from Damascus in an automobile forty automobiles were seen carrying refugees from Hasbciya, as well as from Racheya, further south. Both these towns are inhabited by Christians, whereas the Druse attackers are either pagans or Mohammedans. While Syria is overwhelmingly Mohammedan, the majority of the people in Lebanon are Christians.

Eight hundred French troops debarked her yesterday to go to the revolt area and more are coming. Gen. Gamelin is preparing for a big cavalry action against the rebels, in addition to the joint actions of cavalry and armed tanks which are now in progress.

One action, which has Damascus as a base, is being carried on to the northeast to crush the rebels in towns from Douma to Nefik on the Palmyra Road. The French aim to clear the entire countryside between these towns and Aleppo and Homs, which have French garrisons and are safe. Another action is necessary on both sides of Mount Hebron, from Madi Hadjem to Hasbciya as well as to the north and south.

Despite occasional tearing up of rails on the Jerusalem Railroad, the French hold the road strongly. The extension of the railroad to Suedia is making possible the permanent subjection of the Druses. Sultan El Atrasch, as well as Bakri, the bandit chieftain, are concentrating their efforts on cutting the railroad and the auto road, but have not been successful. The French are maintaining normal service.

Sultan El Atrasch has sent a letter saying that the next time he attacks Damascus he will find means to prevent the bombardment from the fort. The French call this threat ridiculous. Everything is quiet in Damascus as the operations throughout the country continue.

NEED CITED OF PICKERS FOR COTTON

Two Thousand More Could be Employed in Salt River Valley

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 13.—About 2000 more cotton pickers could find employment in the Salt River Valley were they to be had. The same situation appears to prevail in all the other cotton-growing districts of the Southwest. An agent of the Arizona Cotton Growers' Association telephoned from Los Angeles that few men can be obtained there and that the police are assisting, for the benefit of Imperial and San Joaquin Valley ranchers, in rounding up the idle and unemployed. Yuma, Tucson and El Paso also report a relative shortage of unskilled labor, this partially due to the enforcement of immigration laws against Mexicans, the source of supply in previous years.

Thus far, Salt River Valley cotton continues to grow, frost having touched the plants in few localities, and those very lightly. The fall rains helped materially in establishing relatively high humidity conditions, favorable to continued growth. This has been especially valuable to the Gila Bend district, where a good crop is being gathered from 8000 acres that were a failure last year. Yuma, Tucson and Willcox report much better crops than had been expected, while the crop, per acre, is better around Phoenix than it was last year, when dry atmospheric conditions caused much shedding of bolls.

MASS MEETING CALLED ON IRRIGATION SCHEME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, Nov. 13.—With a view of crystallizing sentiment among San Joaquin delta land owners toward the eventual formation of a gigantic San Joaquin-Sacramento river water storage project, the Delta Land Syndicate has mailed out 1000 invitations to interested persons asking their attendance at a mass meeting here on the 24th inst. The invitational letter enumerates eight major water projects now under way in Central California, intimating that within a few years it will be impossible for such a great water district to be formed.

SALOONS TO BE CLOSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Nov. 13.—Saloons are to be closed in Pilares, the mining camp of the Moctesuma Mining Company, five miles from Nacozari. This is to be done following a petition from the families of miners and laborers, who assert that the saloons were taking the greater part of the revenue from the men's labor and thus have been causing relative destitution in the camp.

TRAIL ENDS FOR MORMON SCOUT

Ammon M. Tenney, Pioneer, Called by Death

Participant in Many Historic Incidents in Southwest

Second Only to Hamblin as Missionary Explorer

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHOENIX, Nov. 13.—Word has been received of the death, at the home of a son in the Gila Valley, of Ammon M. Tenney, one of the most famous of pioneer Mormon scouts in the Southwest. For about a year, till lately, he had been an inmate of the State Pioneers' home at Prescott.

Tenney was second only to the noted Jacob Hamblin as a missionary explorer in Northern Arizona. With Hamblin and several Welshmen, he was in the Hopi villages as early as 1858, a member of an expedition that had been sent by Brigham Young to investigate a report that the Indians spoke Welsh. In 1868 he participated in one of the very rare battles between Mormons and Indians, when he and two others fought their way out of a cordon of hostile Navajos.

In 1870 Tenney was with Hamblin as a guide for Maj. J. W. Powell in a trip from Utah through the Navajo country to Fort Defiance, participating in a great council with about 8000 Indians, under very dramatic circumstances. Later he went on several expeditions into the Indian country with Hamblin, upon whose tombstone at Alpine is inscribed, "Peacemaker Among the Lamanites." "Lamanites" is the general designation of all American Indians among the Mormons.

In 1877 Tenney, under official church direction, led in the establishment of Woodruff on the Little Colorado and in 1879, acting for the church, bought a large tract of land on which is the present city of St. Johns. He was a missionary to the Zunis and a grading contractor with John W. Young on the Atlantic and Pacific Railway Line. In 1875 he accompanied Daniel W. Jones, founder of Lehi, on a Mexican trip that included Phoenix, Tucson and El Paso on its route.

PULMOTOR HELPS OUT STORK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, Nov. 13.—The fire department responded with a pulmotor today and went to work on a new-born baby girl fifteen minutes after she had ceased to breathe. Two and one-half hours later the baby let out a yell. So did the firemen. The baby was born to Mrs. Lena Daries at Providence Hospital. When the child ceased breathing, the physician in charge pulled the fire-department box and got quick action.

Kentucky Man Shoots Father, Son; Kills Self

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SPRINGFIELD (Ky.) Nov. 13.—A father and his son, 33 years of age, were shot and wounded probably fatally by Joseph Campbell, 60, who, it is asserted, fired at them from a window of his home as the pair came into his yard at Polin, nine miles from here.

A short time later neighbors searching for Campbell found him dead in his yard, he having turned his shotgun on himself. Campbell's asserted victims, Eli Cutsinger, 60, and John Cutsinger, were brought to a hospital here.

According to reports, there had been trouble between the Campbell and Cutsinger families for some time.

Bridegroom After Paying for License Tells Pastor of Low Finance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROCHESTER (N. H.) Nov. 13. After Merle Whitehouse had paid City Clerk Frank Bussey $1 for a marriage license the other evening, he discovered his financial condition was rather alarming, but his bride-to-be had already arrived from Portland and the ceremony must be performed. So they journeyed to the parsonage of the First Congregational Church and there Rev. Donald Fraser, the pastor, performed the ceremony that united Whitehouse and Miss Annie J. Spencer of Portland.

After the ceremony Mr. Fraser heard the sad tale of the bridegroom's acute financial condition, and Whitehouse, agreeing to send him the money by mail, received a neatly engraved certificate. Whitehouse did not attempt to get his license on credit as City Clerk Hussey befriended a man once in that way and never saw him again.

Whitehouse's first wife is asserted to have divorced him a few weeks ago.

Every Facility at the Command of the British Admiralty has been rushed to Start Point on the Devon coast, where frantic efforts are under way to raise the submarine M-1, which went down Thursday in thirty fathoms of water, probably as a result of running afoul of one of the many wartime wrecks which clutter the ocean bed at this point. FIRST STRINGERS ABSENT AS STANFORD MEETS GRIZZLIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 13.—The Cardinal eleven faces California, Southern Branch, tomorrow, with four first-string men missing from the line-up. They are Capt. Ernie Nevers, Hal McCreery, Ward Poulson and Merrill Armour. The men were battered in the Washington game a week ago and are being given a rest by Coach Glenn Warner in order to have Stanford at its best for the "big game" with California a week later.

The Branch team is not expected to offer much opposition to the Cardinals, although it has defeated Occidental and Pomona.

However, the southern team will be at its greatest strength while Stanford's entire eleven is weakened somewhat as a result of the hard game last week.

Chris Freeman of Bakersfield has been shifted to first string tackle to take Poulson's place while Price probably will fill in for McCreery.

Ernie Patchett will start at fullback in place of Nevers, and Bob Hunt will replace Armour.

Ernie Nevers, captain and star fullback of Stanford's varsity football team, and Hal McCreery, first-string center, were released from the Palo Alto Hospital today where they had been sent for a rest. Neither of the men will be at practice until Tuesday and the doctors refuse to let them go to the Washington-California game at Berkeley tomorrow.

Coach Glenn Warner had planned on taking both men to the Berkeley contest to look over the Bear squad.

"APPLESAUCE"

Explodes Mushy Callahan in reply to the chatter from Hudkins. Callahan opines that he has trumped better cards than the Ace, strange as it may seem, and adds that there is always a joker in every game and that the Ace is likely to discover he's not the highest in the deck after all.

ED TUFTS RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF S.C.G.A.

Three Clubs Bidding for Southern Amateur Championship Event Here Next April

BY BILL WISE

E. B. "Uncle Eddie" Tufts, for more than a quarter of a century the outstanding figure in California golf, was yesterday re-elected president of the Southern California Golf Association, for the twentieth consecutive time.

The golfing tribute to the man who has done more for golf in this State than all other factors combined, came as the unanimous request of the more than 100 delegates attending the annual meeting of the association at the Los Angeles club yesterday.

"Uncle Eddie's" election followed the annual luncheon and business meeting, and upon the flowery nomination of E. R. Hurst, president of the California club. Before taking the executive chair that has become an association tradition, the newly re-elected chief thanked all voting delegates—assured them of the thrill that increases yearly, and pledged anew the assistance that has placed California in the center of the national golf map.

E. R. Hurst, one of the most popular and progressive down-State executives, was elected first vice-president to succeed William Orr, who was forced to resign through illness. Douglas Smith, president of Annandale, and H. W. Lawson, for many years active in association matters, were also elected vice-presidents of the golf organization.

Following a report from Earl Barker, association treasurer, telling of huge expenditures during the year, but with the organization bank balance double the amount referred to, the efficient and popular treasurer was re-elected.

Chester Lyday, one of the best-looking officers in the association, having functioned as a capable secretary should function, for years

McCORMICK COACHES ARMY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Nov. 13. Harold E. "Moose" McCormick, outfielder and pinch hitter of the New York Giants of 1912 and 1913, has been appointed head coach of the Army baseball squad of next season, it was announced today. He succeeds John H. "Hans" Lobert, resigned.

SENCIO UNPOPULAR WINNER

Crowd Voices Its Disapproval When Filipino is Awarded Decision Over Schwartz at Hollywood

Clever Sencio, who meets Fidel La Barba in a no-decision bout here shortly, wellnigh had his unbeaten reputation all banged up at Hollywood last night, the Filipino taking a highly unpopular decision from Izzy Schwartz, the New Yorker. Referee Leo O'Shea gave his verdict and was promptly made the target of a cushion shower by the mob of howling fans who insisted Corporal Izzy had won.

Sencio landed the most blows by a slight margin, but his punches were not as effective as those of his rival. Corporal Izzy showed himself to be a right smart flyweight. He was nearly as fast as Sencio, and just as clever. He merely spent more time in defending himself while Sencio was forcing the issue.

CLEVER SENCIO

The first round was even. Sencio landed a left uppercut to Izzy's eye early in this chapter, and cut his rival's forehead, but Izzy fought back gamely and had an even break on the argument. Both worked hard in the second chapter, but Sencio had a slight shade. The third round was ditto

In the fourth, Corporal Izzy shook off a couple of wraps and opened up. The round was his by a wide margin. He socked over a couple of lefts to the chin that put Sencio in a temporary daze for a couple of rounds. Izzy showed classy work in the clinches.

FORCES FIGHTING

Sencio partially recovered to get an even break in the fifth, although he missed a lot of swings. He continued to force the fighting in this round, as he had in the previous chapters.

Schwartz took the next round, considerably slower than the rest, while Sencio was still coming out of the partial daze. The seventh went to the Filipino by a slight margin, largely due to the fact that he rushed Schwartz, and he took the eighth in the same way.

Izzy put over a right in the ninth that staggered Sencio, evening the fight, but in the tenth the Filipino fe'nted a left and slammed over a right that staggered his man, and it was this punch that gave him the fight in the opinion of Referee O'Shea.

ADAMS COPS BOUT

The semi-wind-up went to Terry Adams via the decision method when he rocked Johnny Grella with some short and snappy lefts.

Adams took the initial chapter, but the second and third went to Grella when Terry crawled into a shell and stayed while his rival pecked away with rights. Adams gradually opened up, raining left jabs about the arena and especially in the fifth did he sock home the trusty south paw. He switched to use the right occasionally, but depended on the off mitt throughout most of the fight.

HOLLEY TRIUMPHS

As usual Young Papke tossed a lot of gloves in the special event, but not enough of them landed to do any effective damage, and Johnny Holley took the decision. Papke clubbed Holley to the floor with a wild left in the first round and duplicated with a right-hand blow in the second. Holley did not take a count either time.

Holley hit Papke frequently, landing straight, hard blows and deserved the decision.

Champ Monroe suffered a broken nose in the first round of his bout with Bobby Castor and was forced to retire giving his opponent a technical knock-out verdict.

The opener was a draw between Euell Paul and Louis Garcia, the latter a substitute.

PECK MAY GO TO MINORS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The gossips have it that the Senators have asked for waivers on Roger Peckinpaugh and that there is a strong chance that the veteran shortstop will be sent down into the minors. He is slated to become manager of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League if the Boston Red Sox finally decide that they no longer are so hot after the services of Peckinpaugh as pilot player.

It would be quite a blow to Peck to be released into the minors right after his being voted the most valuable player in the American League. Fate seems to like to play pranks with Peck, kissing him and cuffing him by turns.

During the early stages of the world's series last month, it was understood that a deal practically had been made for Peck to go to Boston.

PAYNE IS SWAPPED TO DUCKS

Angels Get Hannah and Yarrison for Moundman and Cash Sum

Making the first of a series of trades which are expected to put the Angels in the running for the 1926 Pacific Coast League title, the Seraph management yesterday traded George Payne, screwball pitcher, to Portland for Harry "Truck" Hannah and Babe Yarrison.

Although on the face of things it would appear that the Angels get the worst of the deal, Business Manager Oscar Reichow opines that Payne is fast fading and that Yarrison, being a young heaver, will be of much greater value to the club than Payne. Hannah was formerly with Vernon. He is a catcher and acted as manager of the Portland club during much of the last season, being sold during the playing schedule by the Tigers.

The Angel management felt that another catcher was needed to work with Gus Sandberg and that in getting Hannah they would secure a veteran receiver capable of helping with young pitchers. Payne never got along well with Marty Krug, Angel manager, which may have had something to do with his being traded. Some cash went to Portland also.

Unbeaten Dartmouth Eleven Invades Chicago Today for Battle With Maroon

IOWA BATTLES MINNESOTANS

Unbeaten Gophers Entertain Hawkeye Squad

Michigan Favored to Defeat Ohio State Team

Grange Ends Career Against Wabash Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Dartmouth's thundering eleven, undefeated and untied, breathing flame which has scorched every opponent of the green this season, will invade Stagg Field here tomorrow to battle Chicago in quest of the national football championship.

The game, one of the outstanding intersectional contests of the season, will be played before a capacity crowd of 35,000, with the big green dragon a top-heavy favorite.

Although the Dartmouth-Chicago game is the paramount struggle in the Middle West, there are three strictly Western Conference affairs on tomorrow's program which will have to do with settling the Big Ten championship.

HAWKEYES IN TILT

Iowa invades Minneapolis to battle the undefeated Gophers.

Ohio State and Michigan will engage in their annual battle at Ann Arbor in one of the most colorful games of the season. The Wolverines were rated as one of the strongest teams in the country before they were upset by Northwestern a week ago.

With a chance to pry its way into the muddled championship situation of the conference, Northwestern will play its final conference game tomorrow, meeting Purdue at Lafayette. The Purple eleven expects considerable opposition from the Boilermakers.

WABASH STRONG

The three other conference teams will engage in nonconference affairs. Illinois and "Red" Grange will meet Wabash at Champaign. It will be the last appearance of Grange on the gridiron that started him to fame three years ago. Coach Zuppke is not underrating Wabash but is figuring on the Ohio State game a week later as his biggest test and may not use Grange tomorrow except for a few minutes.

Indiana plays Rose Poly at Bloomington, and Wisconsin faces the strong Michigan Aggies at Madison in the other games of the day. There will be two other intersectional contests in the Middle West, Carnegie Tech coming to South Bend to play Notre Dame, while Washington and Jefferson mixes with Detroit at Detroit.

MAY HAVE RAIN

The Dartmouth eleven, after a light workout at Stagg Field today was declared ready for the fray, but its supporters were none too confident that it would win by a lop-sided score. Both teams were hoping for a dry field, but indications tonight were this wish would not be granted. The weather for tomorrow is not promising.

The heavy field will handicap Dartmouth more than it will the Maroons. If the gridiron is muddy or if rain is falling, Swede Oberlander, Dartmouth's sensational triple threat star, will be greatly handicapped in launching his aerial attacks. The end run formations which Dartmouth boasts will also be hard to get under way.

CALLAHAN AND HUDKINS CLASH

ber engagement. Ace polished off Johnny O'Donnell at the Hollywood Legion arena a week ago last night and did it pretty neatly despite a crop of bothersome boils on his left arm. The boils are no longer annoying the Wildcat and he should be in perfect shape this afternoon.

Callahan attained his best form a week ago last Tuesday night, when he did something no other fighter has been able to accomplish, putting Pal Moran, the veteran southern battler, on speaking terms with the birdies in five rounds. By turning that trick Mushy demonstrated that he has plenty of dynamite in his dukes, and inasmuch as he rates as a better boxer than Hudkins he is the favorite today.

Clyde Hudkins, Ace's brother-manager, is said to have bet $500 against $1000 that the Wildcat will win. Callahan is not a 2-to-1 favorite. The more general odds are 10 to 7. At that, there are plenty of Hudkins's backers to gobble up the bets.

PONCE IN SEMIFINAD

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams is offering what looks like a lot of action in his supporting card. Nat Pincus, a young man fresh from New York, makes his debut against Kid Ponce in the eight-round semifinal. The men are cantamweights. Pincus has met Abie Goldstein, Bushy Graham and all the best eastern fighters of his weight, while Ponce was matched with Pete Sarmiento here, but the booking fell throufh.

Benny Touchstone and Joe Woods clash in the six-round opener. They're heavyweights and should produce a lot of punches. Woods will have George Blake in his corner for his maiden effort in the professional racket. Joe got started at the Los Angeles Athletic Club and is a mighty tough chap. Billy DeFoe and Frankie Garcia have the other bout, another six-round affair.

HARVARD HARRIERS COP LENGTHY DASH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Harvard today defeated Yale and Princeton in the Big Three cross-country race over the stadium course, the Harvard team leading with 20 points; Yale had 47, and Princeton, 56. Willard Tibbetts, in finishing first for Harvard, clipped 18 1-5s. from his own record for the course of five miles 410 yards, by covering the distance in 28m. 9 4-5s.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

MUCH hangs on the result of the California-Washington game today. It is a pretty good bet that most of the folks at U.S.C. are a lot more interested in the game at Berkeley than they are in their own fracas with Montana. Not only does the northern game probably settle the western representative at the New Year's Day game but it will in all probability decide whether or not the Trojans have a chance to tie for the Coast championship. If Washington wins, the Huskies will properly lay claim to the Coast title and the New Year's Day game. If they lose everything is in a mess with California the only team having a chance to finish the year undefeated. We'd figure the Huskies to win today if it weren't for the fact that they're liable to be all bruised from last week's encounter with Stanford.

Seldom have we seen a more dramatic, surprising or decisive victory than that scored by Jimmy McLarnin over Jackie Fields. It was so exciting that most of the sport writers disagreed as to Fields's position at the end of the bout. Several of them said he was on his face. As a matter of fact he was flat on his back. McLarnin's exhibition was the most workman-like we've seen in many a day. Another real attraction was clever Leonard Garcia who dropped a close decision to Earl McArthur while if this young fellow Billy Atkinson isn't good enough to spoil an evening for Bert Colima we'll be very much surprised.

We are in receipt of a rather lengthy letter from Mr. R. G. Bingham, a graduate of West Point, who doesn't think that the cadets can be persuaded to come out here for the New Year's Day game because of the strenuous nature of their academic work and the fact that they have already made three trips to New York and one to New Haven this year. He quotes a letter from one of the coaches doubting the possibility of their making the trip but the admits that there must be some possibility of it since the Naval Academy, whose curriculum is about the same, once was able to get away.

P. H. Snider, writing from Clearwater, Cal., seems to be anxious to get Red Grange out here. In fact, he's so anxious that he makes a demand that we do so in capital letters at the bottom of his communication. After remarking that he thinks U.S.C. ought to take the varsity letter away from Fay Thomas he says, "Red Grange is the one outstanding star of the year and one individual who could fill that stadium. We got what we wanted when Notre Dame came out here last year. Why can't somebody make a strong bid for the popular demand this year? GET GRANGE OUT HERE FOR THE NEW YEAR'S DAY GAME."

Another correspondent signing himself by the initials D. D. offers a contribution as best short story of the year the following account of the Pomona-Whittier game which for Old Testament brevity style and conciseness can not be equaled—"Scoring: Touchdowns—Denny, Merritt. Conversions—Merritt." That certainly comes pretty close to telling the whole story of Pomona's 7 to 6 victory.

Report Ninety-three Entries Received for Bouts in Hollywood Athletic Club Meet

Arthur Ripley, chairman of the wrestling committee of the Hollywood Athletic Club, announced last night that ninety-three entries have been received to date for the Pacific Coast A.A.U. wrestling championships to be held at the Movie City club December 3, 4 and 5.

The Pacific Fleet will be represented by thirty-eight entries and they have been working hard for the past few months and are favorites to cop the majority of the medals. Carl Johnson of the film city club, will enter eleven. The Olympic Club, the Multnomah club, the Los Angeles Athletic Club, the Pasadena Athletic Club, the Alhambra Athletic Club, the Santa Monica Athletic Club, and several more clubs up and down the Coast have their wrestling teams in good shape and are ready for the tournament.

Arrangements are being made for a special train to bring the delegation from Portland and San Francisco down to Hollywood for the tournament. The sailors of the Pacific Fleet will occupy a special section, as several hundred are expected and they are bringing their band along with them.

Rocky Mountain Conference in Decisive Play

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Nov. 13.—With tomorrow's gridiron battles the Rocky Mountain Conference race will probably be definitely decided. Colorado Aggies, the present unbeaten leader of the conference, will face their hardest obstacle of the season, Colorado University, last year's champion, while Utah University, also undefeated in the conference cussle, but second in point of games won, battles Colorado College.

Two games outside the Rocky Mountain Conference are expected to create interest among the region's football followers—the Texas-Arizona scrap at Austin, Tex., and the Pacific Coast Conference battle between Montana University and University of Southern California at Los Angeles. The invasion of the Arizona Wildcats into the Lone Star State will decide the Southwestern championship for Arizona has brushed aside the two strongest New Mexico elevens—University of New Mexico and the New Mexico Aggies. But "dopesters" see only a faint glimmer of hope for an Arizona victory.

MANY LIMITS ARE CAUGHT AT RAINBOW

In word from Leigh Garnsey, manager of the Rainbow Angling Club, considerable snow has fallen in the mountains near the clubsite. The water in the stream is very cold and clear. Many members have fished this week, limits of nine inch trout being caught.

New members continue to join the club, each week seeing about twenty-five anglers applying. Among the new members is W. S. Hook, Jr., prominent among Southern California sportsmen.

San Bernardino Winner Citrus League Title

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 13.—The Red and Black of San Bernardino High School floats from the top of the Citrus Belt League for the third time in as many years. The Cardinals cinched the pennant here this afternoon by pounding through the Riverside line to a 23-to-0 victory. Ernie Pinckerts off tackle smashes and the general Cardinal play were too much for the Riverside preps, although they had the Gate City eleven up in the air part of the time with a baffling aerial offensive. Reeford Shea and Forrest McEuen were the Riverside stars. Duncanson rounded left end 55 yards to the first score of the game. Pinckert ripped through right end 45 yards for the second touchdown. Davis, speedy Berdoo back, grabbed Pinckert's short pass and raced 47 yards to the last touchdown. Pinckert booted a perfect field goal to end the scoring. The lineup:

Riverside (0)		San Bernardino (23)

MITCHELL DEFEATS ENGLISH CHAMPION

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SURREY (Eng.) Nov. 13.—Abe Mitchell defeated Archie Compston, British professional golf champion, by 9 up and 8 to play in their 72-hole match, ending today for a purse of £200 sterling a side.

Golf experts say that by his victory Mitchell achieves the distinction of being England's leading match player.

After finishing the first 36 holes over the St. George's Hill course yesterday 4 up on his opponent, Mitchell today continued his formidable game and simply overwhelmed Compston, who appeared unable to do anything right.

The youthful Compston defeated Mitchell twice this year over shorter distances.

Willie Wise Acclaimed Best Athlete on Islands

Hurls Ball With Accuracy of Ancient Ancestors

Appears Against Oxy Team on Turkey Day

BY MIKE JAY,
Sports Editor, "Honolulu Star-Bulletin"

HONOLULU (T. H.) Nov. 13.—The spear-throwing ability of his ancestors, and spear throwing was an art back in Hawaiian history, is directly responsible for the forward-pass throwing ability of Willie Wise, captain of the University of Hawaii football team, which plays the Occidental College team in Los Angeles on Thanksgiving Day.

Spear throwing was indeed an art in Hawaiian years gone by, and there are stories told of warriors who could hurl a spear with such accuracy as to bring down a running man 100 yards away. There are also stories told about King Kamehameha, the Napoleon of the Islands 100 years ago, who not only was a wonderful spear thrower, but was also a wonderful man at picking them out of the air. As a test once, he let a great squad of warriors toss their spears at him while he plucked them out of the sky before they reached him. A great man on the field of battle was King Kamehameha, and a worthy descendant of King Kamehameha's warriors is Willie Wise of the University of Hawaii.

CAPTAIN THREE YEARS

Willie is a serious-minded young man, 22 years old, who has been captain of the University of Hawaii football team going on three years, an honor similar to that which Walter Koppisch had at Columbia. Willie's captaincy is due to his uncanny field generalship. He is not the quarterback, but he is the brains on defense. His uncanny ability to outguess the attack of the other fellow, in other words, to grab the spear in the air, is something that is the continuous marvel of island football fans.

Willie first came into the football limelight as a player on a Honolulu prep school team. Singlehanded he tried to win the prep school title for his team, but his team-mates were too raw and green. It so happens that Willie's father, John, is one of the strong Republican politicians of Hawaii, in fact, ran for delegate to Congress on that ticket some years ago. At the particular time that Willie was attending McKinley High School in Honolulu his dad was a Senator in the Territorial Legislature.

"Why didn't the Micks win the title?" asked dad.

"We need a coach, dad," answered Willie.

WON GRID TITLE

"You'll have one," replied Dad, and the Territorial Legislature appropriated the necessary funds for a coach, and the McKinley High School next fall, captained by Willie Wise, won the interscholastic title. And in the course of that winning Willie became known as the "Brick" Muller of Hawaii because of his long and accurate forward passes.

"Some thrower is your son," Dad Wise was told one day.

"Why shouldn't Willie be good, his great-grandfather was one of King Kamehameha's best spear throwers."

Then Willie went to the University of Hawaii and continued to throw forward passes with a speed and an accuracy that kept the fans sitting on the edge of their seats. He is the ideal type of man to make passes. In the first place he is a triple-threat player can go through the line, around the ends or hit center, kick or pass. Further he is a cool, calm and collected sort of young fellow who seems to weigh carefully every decision before making it. When forward passes fail to the ground it is not his fault. It's always the fault of the supposed-to-be receiver. There is no such thing as hurrying Willie in his passes. Any player attempting to hurry Willie usually finds Willie other than where he was last seen. He takes his time and throws them well. Statisticians have doped it out that 50 per cent of his passes during his entire varsity career have been successful.

ARROWHEAD PREPPING FOR WINTER SPORTS

As a nucleus for the winter sports program at Lake Arrowhead this year a huge shipment of bob sleds, skis, snowshoes, toboggans and skates were unloaded this week in San Bernardino and were transported to the mountain lake region.

These will be used in the various winter tournaments and snow carnivals which will feature long-distance snowshoe treks, figure skating, ice hockey and other events.

GENE'S BROTHER CAN BATTLE TOO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Gene Tunney, challenger of Jack Dempsey, is not the only boxer in his family. There is Tom Tunney, for instance, Gene's older brother, who is a motorcycle cop. He arraigned in Centre Street Police Court today as prisoners on a charge of disorderly conduct and also as Exhibits A, B and C, Frank Smith, 27, and John Donlin, 40, No. 359 East 138th street, and Finley Wilkin, 39, No. 281 Avenue C.

The three interfered last night after Tunney had arrested a chauffeur at Fourteenth street and Third avenue for reckless driving.

Smith, Donlin and Wilkin paid fines of $2 each. They were badly beaten up.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

"THE best timer of punches I have ever seen in my twenty years in the boxing racket," was the compliment paid by "Gig" Rooney, manager of Jackie Fields, to Jimmy McLarnin, who knocked out his boy in less than two rounds of fighting at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

And so it went up and down the fight rialto all day yesterday. There were cheers for McLarnin; sympathy for Fields. "Baby-face" Jimmy is hailed as the coming champ of the universe. He displayed something that nobody had given him credit for—a devastating punch. In his previous fights in Southern California he had showed himself a clever boxer—nothing more. Now he's a Bobby Barrett—a murderous slugger—as well as a boxer.

Everyone is agreed on one fact, and that is Fields had no business in the ring at the weight he made. About six months ago he made 127 pounds for a fight with Joe Salas. He had a tough time making it then, but he had an even tougher job for the McLarnin affair. He came into the ring wan and pale, quivering and lean about the gills. He looked like a kid ready for a sickbed.

There is no reason to alibi Fields's defeat. McLarnin's victory speaks for itself, but Fields had no more resistance than a kitten when he was knocked through the ropes with the first right-hand wallop to the chin. But he proved that he is thoroughly game, and climbed manfully to his feet four times.

You can't take grit away from the kid. He showed his colors when a less courageous chap would have collapsed and stayed on the floor. The knockout set him back, but it should not spoil his career. All the champs have taken knockouts along the road. Benny Leonard got his; Jack Dempsey, and many others.

Back of the weight question is the inside story that Fields himself was responsible for the disastrous poundage he made. He takes care of his mother and two little sisters, and is paying for a house on the installment plan. He needed money badly, and the McLarnin match was the biggest in sight. He implored his manager to make the match; insisted he could make the weight and be strong. He forgot he was a growing boy and that what he did six months ago could not be done again. He overruled all objections, and the match was made. The rest is history.

Now they're talking up another McLarnin-Bud Taylor match. Eddie Long is willing to send the Terre Haute Terror in again, but he won't let McLarnin come in more than two or three pounds heavier than Bud. Normally the latter fights around 120 pounds, although he is a bona-fide bantamweight, and can make 118.

MIXED FOURSOME TOURNEY AT BRENTWOOD TOMORROW

Two score of the fastest medley golfing teams in this vicinity have already signed up, and as many more are expected to tee off in the feature invitational mixed foursome tourney at the Brentwood club tomorrow. Starting times may yet be arranged by phoning the club, Santa Monica, 213-38.

The condition of the Brentwood course that warranted postponing the invitational event scheduled for this week, will but add to the golfing pleasure of the medley event tomorrow. The greens are in fine shape—the course has always been a good golf test and the several out-of-bounds hazards promise to test the mettle of the many good golfers expected to play in the event.

Silver cups, larger than many trophies awarded the winners of low gross in tourneys that draw several hundred entries will be presented to the winners of both low gross and low net, tomorrow. The cups are the finest that have been offered in any local mixed foursome event.

Smiling Willie Hunter, probably the best known professional in the West, is all set and promises a golfing welcome to the record field expected to play through the foursome event.

L.A.A.C. Hockey Team Choice Over Rivals

HOCKEY LEAGUE STANDINGS

	Won.	Lost.	Pts.
Los Angeles A. C.	1	0	2
Auto Club	1	0	2
Hollywood A. C.	0	1	0
Casa del Mar	0	1	0

The exceptional strength shown by the Los Angeles Athletic Club hockey team against the Hollywood A. C., Thursday night has made the Mercuries favorites in the game to be played Monday night at the Palais de Glace, when they will face the strong Casa del Mar sextet.

Abbie Newell, himself the outstanding star of his team, has developed a tremendously fast, splendidly co-ordinated squad. Considered the weakest team in the league, on paper, prior to the league opening, the L. A. sextet now looms as one of the biggest factors in the championship race.

The Casa del Mar team has displayed great improvement in practice since the opener Monday night which the beach team dropped to the Auto Club, and though the L. A. A. C., club is given a slight edge Monday night the contest should be another ding-dong affair, such as the first games proved.

BULLDOG LIGHTIES COP FROM SANTA ANA

Pasadena's lightweight football team won over Santa Ana 9-to-0 on the Santa Ana field yesterday. Both scores made by the victors were direct results of Santa Ana fumbles. In the second quarter Johns recovered a miscue on the Saints' 25-yard marker and Thompson placed a drop-kick between the uprights for three points.

In the next quarter Wootan picked up a Santa Ana fumble on the 15-yard line and galloped to a tally. The score:

Bonita Takes League Title From Claremont

Bonita won from Calremont 20 to 0 yesterday and took the Tri-County League title. All three touchdowns made by the winners came as the result of long runs. Richards first cut loose for an 80-yard dash in the second quarter, buzzing up the sidelines. Koaler tallied in the third chapter with a 30-yard spring, and Richards, who captains the Bonita squad, again ran 40 yards for another touchdown. Bonita had the ball on Claremont's 10-yard line when the game ended.

Neither squad had been defeated before today's game. Both displayed good football, but Bonita seemed better trained and was in superior condition. Thomason kicked two goals after touchdown. The score:

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LOYOLA SCENE OF SOCCER TILT

Thistles Meet Sons in First Game of Afternoon

Vikings Take Scots in Big Contest of Program

Outcome of Games Doubtful to Followers

The soccer bill for next Sunday at Loyola Field should provide the material for two hard-fought and exciting games, if past performances of the participants be taken as a criterion.

In the opener, timed for 1 p.m., the improving Thistles will tackle the Sons of St. George and endeavor to break into the win column. Harry Elliott, the Wasp's veteran forward, has found his shooting boots, and is determined to puncture the net more than once before the final whistle blows. He will be backed to the utmost in this by Charlie Burleigh, another old timer, who last week electrified the fans with just a flash of his old-time form. Burleigh is fast getting into shape and will be heard from before the season has run its course.

Roberts, the Wasp's left fullback, is another player whose work is attracting more than passing notice, and the Sons' forwards will find him a big obstacle in their path.

The result will no doubt be close with the Sons a slight favorite.

The outcome of the second game is a very doubtful quantity. Neither side has shown sufficient superior class to justify its getting even a slight edge on the other.

Their league record shows each to have won the same number of games and neither holds any decided advantage on goal average.

Scots' supporters are pointing to their team's victory over the Clubmen, who in turn rode rough shod over the Vikings, in extenuation of their claims for a Scots win Sunday.

As against this, however, there should be considered previous impressive showings of the Vikes and some consideration given to the fact that the Vikes were not at full strength against the Club last week.

Manager Mortenson of the Vikes promises a stronger team and better teamwork for the clash with the Scots, which would indicate that the latter, strong as they admittedly are, will not find the going any too easy.

Jim Londos to Meet Siki on Olympic Mat

Lou Daro, unable to get Joe Stecher to consent to a return match with Jim Londos, did the next best thing yesterday and signed the Greek to meet Reginald Siki in his main event for Monday night, the 23rd inst.

Londos, the most popular matman ever to appear in Los Angeles since he gave the long-legged champion the battle of his career last week, is one heavyweight who has not drawn the color line nor left town, since the huge Abyssinian made his defy to the world in general and the heavyweight grapplers in particular, put his name on the dotted line, when it became certain that Stecher would not agree to meet him again. His action will be hailed with delight by Southern California mat enthusiasts, who would like to see Jim try his luck at unscrewing the negro's head with his famous reverse headlock.

In the semi-wind-up Pete Sauer, a Los Angeles heavyweight, is coming back home with eastern and middle western critics singing his praises that he was unable to get here. He will meet Earl Clemings of Wichita, Kan., a pupil of Jim Browning.

The added feature of the evening will be Prof. Ohta, Japanese jui-jitsu expert, in two ten-minute rounds with George Grebloff, Russian giant. The novel bout should prove interesting with the dope favoring the oriental.

Oresta Vadelphi, the first grappler to be recognized as the heavyweight champion of Italy, will meet Al Bufford, French heavyweight, in the opener.

WHITTIER STATERS DEFEAT EL MONTE

The Whittier State School, 110-pounders surprised and defeated El Monte yesterday, 2 to 0, after a hard-fought game without either team being able to gain an advantage. El Monte, champions of the San Fernando Valley League, found their rivals too powerful and although they were able to do some gaining in midfield, were stopped when they threatened. Le Viene attempted to punt from his own goal line in the second quarter, but was downed by four Whittier tacklers, who broke through the line, scoring the safety.

Whittier State plays the Whittier High bantams Monday afternoon. Yesterday's score:

YANKEE STADIUM TO SEAT 80,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Ed Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, just back from a moose hunting trip in the wilds of Canada, announced today that plans have been completed for enlarging the seating capacity of the Yankee Stadium to 80,000 for the football games to be held in that amphitheater in 1926.

ter for the touchdown. Almada converted.

ROMANS START

Once started the Romans waded through the Jefferson line at will. Rothard and Moses started on the Jefferson 45-yard line after the kick-off to march down the field to score, Rothard carried the ball over left guard and Almada converted.

In the second period Jefferson took the kick-off and started an offensive drive from the 35-yard line. A pass from Ostroff to Allensworth was good for ten yards. On the next pass, Moses intercepted the ball for first down on the Jefferson 45-yard line. Moses hit center for twelve yards and Rothard followed with fifteen more in four tries over guard and center. Moffat carried the ball to the 5-yard line and Los Angeles was penalized five yards for off side. On the next play Almada tossed a pretty pass to Moses, who skirted right end for a touchdown. Almada converted. A few minutes later another pass intercepted by Moses gave the Romans first down in Jefferson territory and Rothard went over center to score. Almada booted the ball between the crossbar for a perfect average.

RESERVES SCORE

Although the Democrats were facing the second and third strings during the last half, the line would not hold and Los Angeles was able to score again in the final stanza. Scott, who played a fine game with an injured knee, was forced to kick from his own 2-yard line. The ball grounded on the 25-yard line and bounced back toward the Jefferson goal line. Thompson, a reserve, who had just been shoved into the fray, scooped up the ball and ran through a broken field for a touchdown. Alexandra converted.

POLYTECHNIC DEFEATS FRANKLIN

Polytechnic resumed her interrupted march through the City League schools yesterday by very thoroughly defeating Franklin High by the score of 48 to 0, in the style they were going before Lincoln upset them a week ago by a 7-to-6 score. The game, played on Moore Field at Southern Branch, was all Polytechnic from start to finish, with the Printers never threatening to tally.

Franklin received the kick-off as they did all kick-offs subsequent and opened up with a passing attack on the second play after making 4 yards by criss-cross on the first play. The first pass was completed for 7 yards and first down, then came three incomplete passes and a buck for no gain, Bates being forced to pass on the last down to avoid a loss when he fumbled a high pass from center as he waited to kick. Poly took the ball at about midfield, and marched to a touchdown without interruption, and that is the tale of the whole game, Stephens, Murphy and Post took the ball alternately for regular gains as the Mechanics went down to their touchdown, Post scoring and Stephens converting.

MURPHY TALLIES

Murphy made the second touchdown late in the opening quarter and Stephens again converted. Franklin only had the ball twice more in the quarter, losing it once on a fumble and the next time forced to kick after three incomplete passes.

In the second quarter Griffiths and Lauterman each, crossed the Franklin goal, and Lauterman converted one of them. Franklin had the ball four times but lost it once on a fumble and once on an intercepted pass. The other two times they were forced to kick.

At the opening of the second half, Franklin made a first down on a completed pass and then Griffith fumbled and Elzer, Poly end, picked up the ball and ran 55 yards to a touchdown. Lauterman converted. Griffith had been shifted from center to the backfield.

Franklin received again, tried passing and failed, got the ball again and repeated the passing attack which failed and Stephens and Chili Carrol carried the ball to within striking distance, but a couple of 5-yard penalties and unorganized work lost the opportunity, and Franklin kicked out of immediate danger at the end of the third quarter.

MANY SUBS

In the last quarter many substitutes and times out with some penalties marred the playing, but still Poly scored twice for another fourteen points with Stephens and Post making the scores and Stephens converting.

TROJANS TAKE ON MONTANANS

elas sis concerned, so the burden of furnishing entertainment rests on one Morley Drury.

After reports had drifted back from Idaho concerning a slim blond, young savage, who battered his way through mud and opposition wreaking havoc throughout the entire Vandal horde, Drury became the center of interest. He was the cynosure of some 25,000 pairs of active eyes. Drury responded nobly. He lugged the ball to some three touchdowns and booted four of the points after touchdown. The only trouble being that the active pride and joy of Long Beach usually dashed around too fast for the human eye to follow, and a small streak of dust advancing from "x" to the goal line was about all that was seen of Morley.

DOES IT ALL

Tomorrow Coach Howard Jones has planned to put his versatile athlete to the test supreme. Morley will pass, as usual. He will be on the receiving end of sundry other passes. He will gallop about the ends and he will smash the line. He will kick the ball when the occasion demands, and he will plant it between the goal posts for points after touchdowns. He will run interference when another of the backs is carrying the ball and he will back up the line in the same terrific fashion that he has to date. And, now, in his spare time, he will call signals.

This is no new task for Drury. He yodeled the numerals for Long Beach High School and ran the frosh team last year from the quarterback position. And he did all the other things mentioned above at the same time. Drury will call signals from a halfback position with Mort Kaer staying in at quarterback. If Drury goes tomorrow as he is expected to go, he will run the squad in the Iowa game the following week.

LARANETA STARTS

Tomorrow's Trojan backfield will thus be composed of Kaer, Drury, Earle and Laraneta. The latter is starting at fullback in place of Bob Lee. "Larry" has been showing increasingly good form of late and has succeeded in finding for himself a regular first-string berth.

Montana enjoyed a brief workout in the Coliseum yesterday afternoon, but the Grizzlies were none too joyful. Russell Sweet, the .10 flat dash man who has been burning up the turf in all grid games, watched the workout from the sidelines, decorating a pair of crutches. Sweet is suffering from a sprained ankle, and in all probability will not see action tomorrow.

KELLY IS STAR

As a result Billy Kelly will do most of the bal. packing for the visitors. It was this young man who galloped to two touchdowns against Idaho, one of them being a 70-yard sprint, and passed for the other touchdown, beating the Vandals 20 to 14. Kelley will be a marked man tomorrow, but even this may not stop him from getting away. He is fast and shifty.

In a preliminary contest the Trojan Babes are to engage Loyola. The latter squad is to wind up the season for the Yearlings who have not lost a game to date. Loyola, with a 13 to 9 victory over the San Diego State college to its credit, is expected to furnish plenty of opposition.

The starting line-ups:

Root Signs Up Lou Rollinger and Jack Lee

Lou Rollinger and Jack Lee, willing light heavyweights, have it out in the six-round semi-wind-up at the Olympic Auditorium next Wednesday night.

Bud Taylor and Pete Sarmiento, generally considered the best pair of bantamweights in the world, fight the ten-round wind-up.

Rollinger is just back from Chicago, to which city he traveled following his two tough fights with Frank Muskie. Larney Lichtenstein's high-school boy has filled out no little, and is consequently punching better than ever.

In Lee he takes on a rugged, experienced opponent. Jack journeyed to Mexico with Jack Dempsey, picking up a few pointers and slugs on the whiskers. He was good enough to take a six-round decision from Sailor Eddie Huffman and have that worthy on the floor in Wilmington. Huffman beat him in ten rounds later.

Angel De La Cure, a Filipino bantamweight, in the same class with Peter Sarmiento and Clever Sencio, makes his initial appearance here in a six-round engagement with Johnny Godinez, who can punch. Since arriving in this country last June, De La Cruse has been a positive sensation in San Francisco.

Johnny Sacco, tough lightweight, squares off with Dave Mutaffa of Pasadena in a four-rounder, while Young Sallee and Young Clare, junior lightweights, hoist the curtain.

Venice Cops Bay League Grid Title

The Venice High School heavyweights yesterday cinched the Bay League football title by defeating the Huntington Park eleven by the score of 13 to 8 repeating the performance of the Babes, who won the title in their weight by defeating the Park lightweights Thursday afternoon. The game yesterday was played at Venice in a high wind. This is the first time in thirteen years that the Venetians have copped the title.

Huntington Park scored 8 points in the first quarter by means of a safety and a field goal, the latter kicked by Brown from the 40-yard line and from an angle against the wind, a phenomenal kick. The safety came earlier when a Venice kick was blocked and the wind carried it to the 1-yard line, where a Venice man fell on it but rolled over the goal, where he was tackled for the 2 points.

Brown outkicked Solomon throughout the game and the Park line outbucked the Venetians blocking several punts but the winners made more first downs and scored in the second and third quarters with touchdowns to win. Solomon and Dunn made the touchdowns.

TANGLE TODAY IN BIG GAME

Washington has a smart as well as a powerful team this year there are those who remember how California brains licked a Washington team of tremendous strength two years ago, and they are pointing to this fact in predicting a 1926 victory for the Bears.

Of course, there is another angle to be considered in summing up Washington's chances. Coach Enoch Bagshaw's big Purple Tornado eleven had a terribly tough game with Stanford one week ago, and in spite of the fact they won, 13 to 0, the Seattle boys must have taken quite a pounding.

On the outcome of the game hinges the decision of the committee of graduate managers who must name the western team to play the East at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

PICK IN WEEK

This selection does not have to be made until the Saturday after Thanksgiving, but if Washington cleans up tomorrow there is nothing left to do but extend the invitation to Bagsy Bagshaw's eleven.

The weather man has been deluging the territory up here rather freely the past two days, but he forecasts a clear day tomorrow, which will be of benefit to the Bears with fast backs like Capt. Tut Imlay and Jimmy Dixon operating on the field of play.

The rest of the California backfield combination probably will be Earl Jabs and Dick Blewett at quarter. The latter's punts have been increasing in length each game, and his tremendous boots are expected to play a big part in the struggle. Jabs and Young will alternate in punching the Washington line, vying with Elmer Tesreau, the Huskies' captain, and George Wilson, the hard-rock young man who stopped Ernie Nevers last week.

In spite of threatening weather the biggest crowd that has seen a football game in the Memorial Stadium outside of a battle between California and Stanford, will be on hand tomorrow. The California managers report a sell-out, which means over 71,000 persons will see the fracas. Even Tightwad Hill, which overlooks the field, will be thrown open to the public and they can see the affair from long-range for four-bits per head.

WITH VENGEANCE

The Washington team arrived in Berkeley today, thirty-six strong, sullen and grim because of the circulation given by San Francisco papers to the story of how George Wilson and Capt. Tesreau laid for and knocked out Ernie Nevers by heeling last Saturday.

The field is a bit spongy from slight rains last night and hard rain Wednesday night. This figures as a Washington advantage, due to Washington's supposedly impregnable line.

The weights as given out show California's line averaging 189 and Washington, 181; California backs, 173, and Washington, 175; team averages being California, 181, and Washington, 179.

California is in somewhat better physical shape than Washington due to injury to Wilson and the way the Stanford game used up a couple of others. The betting is said to be 10 to 8 and 10 to 7, but there is little money in sight.

The line-ups:

California.		Washington.

CHAFFEY UNION IS LOSER TO REDLANDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Nov. 13.—Although victory was wrested from them in the last three minutes of play, the Chaffey High School Tigers retained their place at the bottom of the Citrus Belt Football League when they went down to defeat this afternoon on the campus of the local school to Redlands high by a score of 9 to 7. By a forward pass and a short line buck, Redlands scored a touchdown in the first quarter, but failed to convert. Chaffey scored a touchdown in the third quarter, when Licht made a twenty-yard run from a cross bunt. He converted successfully, and the score stood at 7 to 6, in favor of the locals until the last three minutes of play. Redlands attempted a drop-kick and missed, but as one of the Chaffey men was off side, the Tigers were penalized five yards and Redlands, given another try, was this time successful, leaving the final score, 9 to 7.

Covina Takes League Title by Easy Win

The final touchdown came in the last quarter when Richter, a substitute, smashed the weakening Citrus Union line for four yards and the touchdown. The line-ups:

REUNION SPREE QUITE RIGHT

Judge Rules Celebrants Who Served in War Could be Justifiably Excused

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 13.—When a man has served his country by years of fighting overseas in time of war, a little celebration on the anniversary of Armistice Day is not entirely out of place. Thus ruled Judge Clyde R. Burr of Monrovia, who substituted for Judge Frank Dunham of Pasadena in Police Court today. A. F. C. Wallace and J. J. Callaghan appeared in court today on charges of intoxication, after having been arrested on the night of Armistice Day.

kilties uniform, as he was when arrested, told the judge that he was one of the handful of men left of a Scotch regiment that was torn to pieces in the famous siege of the Dardanelles, and that during the convention of British War Veterans of Southern California, in session here Wednesday, he had met an old pal, whom he hadn't seen since they served together in the war. Naturally, Wallace told the court, they got a bottle of whisky and celebrated the reunion in appropriate fashion.

When Callaghan told a similar story of an unexpected reunion and jubilee, Judge Burr ruled that circumstances alter cases, and that this was one of the cases. They were both dismissed.

George Arnold, a chimney sweep, arrested the same night, fared less happily. He had deposited $100 bail, but when he appeared in court this morning he was so drunk that the officers arrested him again and locked him up to sleep it off.

Officers Chosen for Merger of Lemon Growers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 13.—Following the consolidation of the Central Lemon Growers' Association which has its packing-house in Villa Park, and the Tustin Lemon Growers' Association, which has a house in Tustin, the directors of the central association chose managerial and departmental heads for the coming year. E. B. Collier, who for years has been manager of the central association, was re-elected manager. Roy Runnells, who has been manager for the Tustin association is assistant manager. John Allen was left in charge of all field work, L. A. Stevenson of the office force, Louis Meyers is foreman of the Villa Park house and Turner of the Tustin house.

Under the plan of consolidation, the central association, which had 1700 acres, signed up the 400 acres of the Tustin house. Thus, the central association as it now stands, it being the surviving association in the consolidation, has 2100 acres, and is easily the largest lemon association in the world. Next year the association will ship 650 cars of lemons. Possibly the next year or the second year, the output will reach 1050 cars.

Other Counties Ordering Cotton Seed From Kern

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 13. — So great has become the fame of Kern county's pure-seed Acala cotton that Madera and Merced counties have already ordered 100 tons of the local Farm Bureau's selected stock, to be used for planting purposes in the northern counties, according to H. S. Jewett of the pure-seed committee. The orders will be supplied from the pick of the seed from this year's crop. Thus through selective planting the one variety cotton of the valley and particularly of Kern county will be improved yearly.

Despite the great quantity of seed ordered already for the northern counties, Mr. Jewett phrased the assurance that there will be plenty of seed for Kern cotton growers for whom it is primarily selected. So extensive have the plans been laid for the selection of this year's standard and select seed, said Mr. Jewett, that there will be sufficient for all of this county and a great portion of the valley as well. The seed which will be supplied to the northern counties is the Acala standard.

GLENDALE, Nov. 13.—A campaign for the abolition of wheels of fortune and other gambling devices will be launched by the federated church brotherhoods in Southern California, it was announced at today's meeting of the State Sunday-school convention in session here.

AIRPORT LAW DRAFTED

Plan Passed at Glendale to be Submitted at San Francisco Meeting

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Nov. 13.—Legislation for the establishment of airport or airplane landings is forecast in the resolution presented at the meeting of the Western Aero League here, by W. G. Scott of Los Angeles, at a meeting to arrange final details for the meeting to be held in San Francisco on the 20th inst.

The resolution embodies a bill which is to be presented to the State Assembly calling for legislation that will give the boards of Supervisors in the various counties the power to zone any fields in their counties, and to purchase, if necessary for such purposes, and to condemn property in the counties in which the proposed landing fields are located.

Plans for the expansion of the league through the organization of branches in the seven Western States have been worked out by a special committee. These plans provide for the establishment of at least fifteen fields in each State and for a permanent organization to direct the affairs of the various branches in collaboration with the executives of the league.

GIRLS HELD AS LOVING BANDITS

Spanish Pair Suspected of Numerous Hold-ups

Endearments Induce Victim to Drop Caution

Caress Covers Introduction of Gun Into Game

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 13. — Charged with highway robbery, two Spanish girls were arrested by Pasadena police officers early this morning, hardly ten minutes after C. F. Beach of 1438 1-2 East Washington street, had rushed into the police station and told the officers that they had held him up at the point of a gun.

The Police immediately rushed to the district near Garfield avenue and Union street, where the asserted hold-up occurred, and arrested the two women a few blocks from the scene. They gave their names as Juanita Duvall, 22 years of age, and Anita Lopez, 26, both residents of Los Angeles.

Beach told the officers that he had been driving home in his car, when the girls, who were on foot, hailed him flirtatiously. He stopped and alighted.

"Hello, dearie," one of the pair said, and threw her arms around his neck, calling him by endearing terms. While this was going on, he says, the other slipped around behind him, and commanded him to throw up his hands, pressing something into his back which he believed to be a gun. He obeyed and the other went through his pockets, he said. The girls got about $5 and various trinkets and keys.

At the station, Beach identified the women as his assailants, and identified a souvenir coin which he said they had taken from him. They did not have his wallet. Both girls deny the accusations and declare they came to Pasadena to get work. They are being held for further questioning.

According to Captain of Detectives Betts, two women have been doing similar jobs here for several weeks, but because of the fact that they are women and because of their amorous advances at the time of the hold-ups, few men have cared to report the incident to the police.

Marriage Echo of Sensational Divorce Trials

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, Nov. 13.—An interesting sequel to a divorce suit which caused a sensation here a little more than a year ago when, on the eve of their golden wedding anniversary, Mrs. Laura Glover, charging infidelity and asserted "love nest" activities on the part of her spouse, obtained a legal separation from John M. Glover, wealthy orange grower, was news today of the marriage of the latter and Dr. Alice P. Smith, young Upland osteopathic physician.

According to authentic report, Glover, who is 71 years of age, and Dr. Smith were quietly married in Ventura nearly a month ago and are now residing at 730 East Holt avenue, Pomona, the former residence of the bride's sister, Dr. Lillian Smith.

While Mrs. Laura Glover named no co-respondent in her divorce action, she recited in her complaint, how her aged husband became enamored of another woman and told of having caught the pair in compromising positions. Rumor at the time linked the names of the rancher and the woman doctor.

In the settlement at the time of divorce, Mrs. Glover retained the family home, 2205 North Euclid avenue, where she is now residing.

The Glovers, who had resided together in harmony for nearly fifty years are the parents of several grown children, all of whom are married. They are also grandparents.

Citrus Growers and Packers in Annual Session

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Nov. 13.—Two hundred citrus-fruit growers and packers of Southern California gathered here today for the annual meeting of the Mutual Orange Distributors. The distributors ship fruit for thirty-six packing associations in Southern California, and the boards of directors of all these associations attended the annual meeting today when C. P. Early, general manager, reported on one of the most successful seasons in the history of the association.

He reported the addition of six packing associations during the year. He cited one packing-house in Orange county where, without loss of acreage, 70 per cent less fruit was shipped this season than last. Prices were high and the returns were exceptional. The distributors shipped more than 5000 cars of oranges, which was 30 per cent less than the year before, and the returns were more than $1,000,000 greater.

Mr. Early was again chosen to be the general manager of the distributors. He predicts a great future for the industry, and says that one exceptional feature he noticed on his last trip through the East was the amount of fruit being used for orange juice.

The telegram from the California student body announcing the choice also invites her to Berkeley for the big game next Saturday and several days as the honor guest of the student body.

STUDENTS JAM POLICE COURT

Thirty-four Up on Parking Charge in Pasadena

Jurisdiction Issue Puts Judge in Quandary

Those Who Deny Guilt Sent to Juvenile Hall

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 13.—Thirty-four Pasadena High School students enjoyed a boisterous half-day vacation this morning when they were brought into Police Court on charges of violating the city parking ordinance, when residents of the neighborhood near the school complained that the boys and girls parked their cars in front of driveways and threw lunch boxes on the lawns. For once "petting parties" were not at issue.

Principal William F. Ewing appeared with the giggling students in tow, and for two hours the court tried to unravel the complications that followed when it was discovered that parking was legal on some of the streets and not on others, and that anyway the court had no jurisdiction over the students because they were practically all minors.

SOME CHANGE PLEAS

"Is there anyone here who does not want to plead guilty?" finally asked Judge Clyde R. Burr of Monrovia, who was on the bench.

Thirty-four voices answered as one. The one wanted to plead guilty. This was awkward. The court and the City Prosecutor deliberated and at length announced that all those who pleaded not guilty would be taken to the Juvenile Hall.

Some changed their pleas at this and were promptly fined $1 each. Others, however, insisted on their innocence, and in this extremity the eloquent pleading of Principal Ewing obtained their dismissal.

THESE WALK OUT

The defendants who left the courtroom, headed by Miss Verona Rockwell, science teacher, were Lucile Green, Foster Warwick, Georgia Stevenson, Edith Cavanaugh, John Hutchison, Kenneth Swartout, Hugh Smith, Kenneth Gardiner, Bruce Woodard, Albert Evans, Wayne Hackney, Dane Wilhite, Azure Hawes, Harry Tinman, Roy Lehman, Lucile Horton, Irvine Peterson, Ellen Ortega, Fletcher Gould, Salome Gist, William Colligan, Florence Sanford, Mary Renway, Lucile Harrow, Roy Newman and Bruce Williams. Bench warrants were issued for a few who failed to appear this morning.

INGLEWOOD JOINERS MEET OPPOSITION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 13.—A bomb shell was exploded at the annexation meeting held here last night at the instance of Joseph P. Conklin, president of the South Inglewood Improvement Association, when the secretary of that organization, Earl A. Robinson, arose and objected to the distribution of special membership cards to the audience. These cards, if signed, carry a pledge to support the annexation movement as well as a fee of $1 as dues to the organization. The secretary showed by the minutes of the last meeting of the association that it had never gone on record as favoring annexation, and that the only action taken at that time was when Joseph Conklin, the president, requested that a speaker be secured for last night's meeting to talk on annexation. Mr. Conklin had been appointed to secure a speaker, and the secretary intimated that Mr. Conklin and two others had exceeded their authority by going before the Los Angeles City Council and in the name of the association, securing permission to circulate annexation petitions. "No vote has ever been taken by this society favoring annexation, and, therefore we have no right to hand out cards that bind us to an annexation pledge," Mr. Robinson asserted.

Investment Bankers Expected to Market Liens Monday

City of Dresden is Important Manufacturing Center

Frankfort Known Throughout World for Its Fair

Two German municipal improvement bond issues, aggregating $9,000,000, are reported to have been purchased by Speyer & Co., and Blyth, Witter & Co., and it is understood the bonds will be offered for public subscription early next week. The financing constitutes an issue of $5,000,000 City of Dresden twenty-year 7 per cent bonds, maturing in 1945, and an issue of $4,000,000 City of Frankfort, serial 7 per cent bonds.

The two cities originally planned to issue bonds in larger amount, but the German government committee in charge of all security financing, authorized the loans reduced to $5,000,000 and $4,000,000, respectively, to eliminate the possibility of expenditures for unnecessary improvements.

Frankfort, the largest and most important city in southwestern Germany, is more than 1000 years old, and has a population of approximately 470,000. The city owns 56 per cent of the 83,300 acres of land within its limits, and the value of property owned by the city is estimated at $70,000,000. The city owns and operates public utilities, railways, taxi companies, public markets and parks.

Frankfort, an important banking center, is the home of the world-famous Frankfort Fair, and is located on the River Main. Important industries include the manufacture of chemicals, leather goods, paper and lumber.

Dresden is an industrial center, having a population estimated at 630,000, and has water connection with Hamburg. Chief among the industries of the city is the manufacture of machinery, glass and chinaware, scientific instruments and tobacco products.

Total assessed valuation of the property in the city amounts to $714,000,000, of which $90,000,000 is city-owned property. The city owns considerable real estate, street railways, and other public utilities. The income of the city from productive properties for the year ending March 31, last, was $13,000,000. Dresden has shown a surplus every year since 1900.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Financial markets were cheerful today, reflecting such factors as the rally in French francs, the absence of a rise in the New York Reserve rediscount rate, settlement of the Italian war debt to the United States and the proposed re-election of Montague Norman as governor of the Bank of England.

Investments were in better demand, while foreign securities rallied with French francs, although it is felt in financial circles that the upturn in Paris has not been justified by measures so far proposed. It is considered that the recovery is due mainly to belief that no political crises have so far developed.

Most speculative markets were buoyant, while investments were not affected by the fact that underwriters of the Gold Coast loan had to take up the greater part of the issue.

The president of the Federation of British Industries has just published a report of his visit to the United States, in which he gives prominence to an often-reiterated statement that Americans consider Great Britain down and out industrially.

It is felt here that this statement slightly exaggerates the situation, as American business men are shrewd enough to perceive that English writers necessarily emphasize the weak spots to secure the necessary reforms

RAISERS OF TURKEYS TO FORM POOL

Growers of Imperial Valley Plan Marketing to Highest Bidder

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Nov. 13.—Dissatisfied with prices now being paid for their birds by Coast buyers, Imperial Valley turkey raisers are forming a pool through which they expect to market all of their Thanksgiving stock to the highest bidder.

Buyers are offering from 30 to 35 cents a pound, which is at least 10 cents a pound lower than the Los Angeles market justifies, according to E. L. Gathwaite, county farm adviser.

In order to advise valley ranchers of the true market situation, Mr. Garthwaite held a meeting of turkey raisers in the north end of Imperial Valley at Nulberry schoolhouse Tuesday night, and a second meeting is to be held at Holtville next Tuesday. Los Angeles produce houses have been asked to submit bids on the entire turkey production of members of the Imperial Valley Farm Bureau and these bids are to be opened at Tuesday's meeting.

According to the farm adviser, the turkey crop in the valley is about 40 per cent below normal this year, and as Imperial supplies a large part of the Thanksgiving trade in Los Angeles the shortage will affect the Coast market.

The farm bureau asked its members to hold their turkeys until next Tuesday's meeting.

New Alignment Looming in Oil Field of Turkey

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Much interest was manifested in London today in the announcement at a meeting of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company that the company now holds 47½ per cent of the shares of the Turkish Petroleum Company, this showing that the American group, which included the Standard Oil Company, has abandoned the 25 per cent of the shares it previously held.

An agency dispatch from Constantinople states briefly that American oil interests have been granted a monopoly in the sale of petroleum in Turkish territory. It is believed there may be some connection and the new grouping in the Turkish Petroleum Company.

Earlier reports from Angora mentioned the establishment of a government petroleum monopoly without mentioning any American connection therewith.

PRICE TREND UPWARDS IN STEEL LINES

Annealed Sheets Up to Parity With Galvanized and Firm Tone Noted

BY DON PARTRIDGE
(Associate Editor Iron Trade Review)

During the past two weeks prices on steel products have advanced in most lines and a firmer tone is noted. Black and blue annealed sheets were advanced this week to correspond to the advance made last week on galvanized sheets.

Awards of concrete bars involved 100 tons for an addition to the synagogue in San Francisco and 100 tons for an office building in Oakland, both placed with Truscon Steel Company. Pending business is of fair proportions. Prices out-of-stock in the San Francisco district are now firmer and the wide range that has been quoted recently has gradually disappeared.

This involved 375 tons for a pipe line for the East Bay Water Company in Oakland and was placed with the Steel Tank and Pipe Company and the Western Pipe and Steel Company. Pending business exceeds 9000 tons exclusive of approximately 10,000 tons for a pipe line project in San Diego which will come up in the near future.

Fabricators report a fair volume of small work flowing into their shops. Awards amounted to over 1000 tons and included 300 tons for the Mangrum & Otter warehouse in San Francisco, 225 tons for a theater in San Francisco, both placed with the Moore Dry Dock Company; 300 tons for an addition to the synagogue in San Francisco, secured by Dyer Brothers, and 300 tons for an office building in San Bernardino, placed with the Union Iron Works of Los Angeles. Prices are firm at a minimum of 2.30 cents c.i.f. with some business bringing 2.35 cents.

Greater activity is noted in the cast iron pipe market. Business up for figures totals over 2000 tons, the newest inquiry calling for 1400 tons for Newport Beach. Awards included 105 tons for Redwood City and 105 tons for Alhambra, Cal., placed with the United States Cast Iron Pipe Company, and 107 tons for Eureka secured by the American Cast Iron Pipe Company. The Republic Supply Company secured 489 of standard black pipe for the Hetch-Hetchy project, Crane Company 166 tons of standard galvanized for Los Angeles and the Petroleum Equipment Company 1000 tons of 12 3-4-inch O.D. pipe for the Honolulu Oil Company.

NEW SOVIET BANK REPORTS

Note Issues Drastically Revalued; Currency is Stabilized Abroad; Government Dominant

BY EARLE E. CROWE

In soviet Russia an important banking and currency experiment is under way. After disregarding the laws of economics and plunging the country and its business enterprises into bankruptcy, the government of the soviet union has finally fashioned a banking and currency system designed to introduce banking credits into trade and industry and to facilitate the production and distribution of commodities. The State Bank of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is the medium through which the government hopes to rehabilitate Russian business affairs.

Since its inception in 1921, the State Bank, according to its report for the first half of 1925, has achieved a certain success in re-establishing banking credit and in stabilizing the new currency system. The people, however, who are supposed to have clamored for soviet rule, seem to have paid dearly. Soviet Russia has emancipated the debtors and the creditors are bearing the cost. But the acute disorganization of the currency system resulting from the depreciation of the ruble left debtors and creditors alike to flounder in the chaos of commerce, industry and agriculture.

NOTES REVALUED

In the process of currency stabilization, the State Bank was forced to extreme measures. One ruble of the 1922 note issue was made equal to 10,000 rubles of previous issues. In 1923, one ruble was made the equivalent to 100 rubles of the 1922 issue, or equal to 1,000,000 rubles of previous issues. The soviet notes, however, were abolished in 1924, when the new unit, the chervonetz, was introduced. The gold contents of the chervonets are the equivalent to the content of ten of the former gold rubles.

Certain standard banking principles are incorporated in the practices of the State Bank, although it obviously is intended to further some of the soviet Socialistic principles. It is the depository of the People's Commissariat for Finance, which is an organization loaning government funds to industrial and agricultural enterprises and which may borrow from the State Bank. A significant statement in the bank's report, however, is that the loans to industry by the People's Commissariat are being decreased in recognition of the principle that it is more advisable to substitute financing in the form of bankers' credits for financing out of the state budget.

BUYS GRAIN

The State Bank also maintains a grain department. This division is intrusted with the duty of creating grain reserves for export and of supplying the home market. Certain co-operative societies assist in these operations, which are financed by the State Bank. The bank at the same time purchases grain on its own account.

Capitalization of the State Bank consists of 10,000,000 chervontzi, partly acquired by grants from the government. It is the bank of issue, and all notes are secured by the deposit of precious metals and stable foreign currencies, equal to 25 per cent of the value of the issue. In practice, the bank has maintained metallic reserves considerably above the legal minimum, amounting on May 1, last, to 40 per cent.

CURRENCY REFORMS

Through the three currency measures of 1924, the chervontzi were introduced to replace the ruble note issues, one gold ruble being equivalent to one-tenth of a chervonetz. These measures established a uniform currency system, consisting of denominations of one, three, five, ten and twenty-five chervontzi in bank notes and one, three and five rubles in treasury notes. In addition, small silver and copper coins were put into circulation. The note issues on May 1, last, totaled 604,400,000.

The bank discounts bills, loans to individuals on the security of goods or documents, grants documentary credits, and authorizes various forms of credits to industry. It also acts as intermediary between certain of its clients, mainly industrial bodies, and the People's Commissariat by advancing loans to the former for the account of the latter.

American bankers will watch the soviet experiment with interest. While it has taken hold of its problems in a courageous manner, it plainly is a creature of the government and subject to the whims of the soviet officials. Other countries have learned to their misfortune the danger of the attempt to fuse political theories with economic laws.

Bull Movement Resumed With Rail Group Setting Pace

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The "bull" movement on the New York Stock Exchange struck its stride again today when all the ground lost in Tuesday's dramatic collapse in prices was recovered with total sales of 2,934,300 shares, being exceeded in the last nine years only by Tuesday's record-breaking total of 3,340,600.

SURVEY OF TRADE SKY CHEERFUL

Steel Company Report Held New Evidence of Commercial Progress

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

No perceptible lessening of business confidence resulted from the collapse of stock prices early this week. The primary cause for the reaction existed within the market itself, speculation having been carried to excess, and during the period of readjustment in that quarter, attention was temporarily diverted from some of the best industrial news of the year. Another large gain in the unfilled orders of the principal steel producer has added substantially to the accumulating evidences of commercial progress, while the prospect of extensive buying of railroad equipment in 1926, which is still stressed in current reports, further strengthens sentiment.

Results disclosed in financial statements of various corporations, moreover, have exceeded estimates, and resumptions of long deferred dividends and declarations of extra payments show that prosperous conditions prevail in different lines. There are, in fact, few discordant notes in dispatches from the leading trades and geographical sections of the country, adverse phases being the exception.

Weekly bank clearings $9,512,199,000.

MAGNOLIA-STANDARD TO MEET IN DALLAS

LEGALITY OF PROPOSED PLAN FOR MERGER WILL BE DISCUSSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 13.—Information has been received by the Attorney-General's department of Texas that a meeting of stockholders of the Magnolia Petroleum Company will be held at Dallas on the 24th inst. to consider a tentative contract entered into between directors of the Standard Oil Company of New York and the trustees of the Magnolia Petroleum Company for merging of the two corporations. At this meeting the shares of the Standard Oil Company of New York in the Magnolia Petroleum Company will be nonvoting.

It is explained that under the plans of the proposed merger the entity of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, so far as maintaining its present name and officers is concerned, will not be disturbed. Formal approval of the proposed merger has not been asked of Attorney-General Dan Moody, but the question of whether the transaction would be in violation of the antitrust laws, or the State judgment which stands against the Standard Oil Company, will be gone into, it is stated.

REORGANIZE ADAMS GOLD MINING FIRM

Physical Property to be Sold to Katherine Company for Stock

To relieve the stockholders of the burden of entirely financing the development work in the Adams Gold mine, the company is incorporating the Katherine Mining Company under Delaware laws with a capital of $1,000,000, and the entire physical property of the Adams Gold Mining Company, with the exception of the Admantine claim at Oatman, will be sold to the Katherine Mining Company for a block of its stock, which will in turn be distributed to Adams stockholders.

This was a statement made yesterday by Oliver C. Edwards, Jr., president of the Adams Gold Mining Company, in a report to stockholders of the company on the development work of the mine and progress of the company. It was also stated that at a meeting of the board of directors of the company held recently, assessment No. 17, of 1 cent a share was levied upon the outstanding capital stock of the company, payable immediately. Stock delinquent on December 5 will be sold at public auction on January 9, 1926.

Stockholders of the company have paid sixteen assessments of 1 cent each. As the par value of the common stock of the Katherine Mining Company is $10 a share, the Adams stockholders paying assessment No. 17 will receive one share of common stock of the Katherine Mining Company for each fifty shares of Adams they now own. The new stock is not assessable, but treasury stock must be sold to finance new developments.

The Katherine mill has been treating about ninety tons of ore daily, and the mill is being doubled in capacity to 150 tons, the new unit of which will be in operation by January 1, 1926, when Adams ore will be trucked there for treatment.

THE INVESTOR

Treatise Discusses Factors in Determining Values of Security Issues, Particularly the Preferred, of Power and Light Companies.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Considering the immense growth in public interest in power and light company securities, particularly the preferred stocks of such corporations, which they have sought to popularize through subscription offers to customers and employees, a few points on the matter of judging such securities will probably not be amiss.

When determining the value of such preferred stocks, says F. S. Smithers & Co., in a treatise on the subject, there are a number of factors which should be taken into consideration, including territory served, earning power, management, condition of physical properties, costs of operation and capital structure.

It is difficult to fix a method by which any one particular company may be accurately measured, but for general purposes comparison of certain items can be made the basis for a quick survey.

For such purposes there are several items which lend themselves readily available—namely, costs of operation, which are reflected in the operating ratios; earning power through the ratio of net income to the sum of fixed charges and preferred dividends, and, lastly, capital structure, based on the ratio of dollars of funded debt and preferred stock to gross earnings.

The operating ratio represents the percentage of gross earnings which is consumed by the sum of operating expenses, maintenance and taxes, and this ratio depends largely upon the amount of maintenance charges, which it must be assumed are adequate.

When applying the rule to earning power, it is pointed out, the ratio of net income to the sum of fixed charges and preferred dividends should be taken rather than the ratio of the balance after charges to preferred dividends, for the reason that if a company has a large funded debt and a small issue of preferred stock the margin of safety may be found more apparent than real.

CONCERNING CAPITAL

Where the market value of the equity behind a preferred stock can be obtained, capital structure can be determined satisfactorily, but when this value is not obtainable, as many times proves true, capital structure can be compared through the ratio of par value in dollars of the sum of funded debt and preferred stock to gross earnings.

Figures of five representative companies, based on operations for the calendar year 1924, are cited for comparison. These show that companies serving cities have an operating ratio of 60 per cent, companies using largely steam have an operating ratio of 85 per cent, and those principally hydro-electricity an operating ratio of 46 per cent. Holding companies, judged by consolidated statements, show a ratio of 80 per cent.

The ratio of dollars of funded debt and preferred stock to gross earnings is substantially higher in the case of hydroelectric companies than in the case of steam companies. This, it is explained, is due to the much greater initial investment necessary by the former, which is offset by the much lower operating ratio, when the plants are in operation.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Rails Feature

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—With confidence restored by maintenance of the 3 1-2 per cent local rediscount rate and the buoyancy of the stock market, bond prices continued their upward movement with renewed vigor today. Trading expanded rapidly as active bidding developed for all classes of investment and speculative securities.

Revival of interest in the railroad shares brought about a corresponding display of buying activity in the bonds of the carriers, obligations with convertible or other speculative features attracted the largest following. Norfolk and Western convertible 6s and Florida, Western and Northern 7's sold 4 points higher, while gains of 1 to 2 1-2 points were scored by Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5's, Chicago, Great Western 4's, Denver and Rio Grande 5's, Western Pacific 5's and the Seaboard, International-Great Northern and Frisco income and adjustment issues.

Another flurry in St. Paul Railway junior liens was started by the circulation of reports which were later denied, that a basis had been reached for a compromise between banking factions fighting for control of the road's reorganization policies. The refunding 4 1-2 and 4's of 1925 each advanced a point.

Oil company bonds closely followed the rails in finding favor with the public. The brighter outlook indicated for the industry by a series of favorable dividend and earning announcements directed speculative attention to this group and buying orders came in at a rapid rate. Skelly Oil convertible 6 1-2s kept pace with a rise in the stock by jumping 5 1-2 points to a new high level and Sinclair 6's were run up 2 points. The turnover in each issue approximated $590,000.

Trading was less active in the foreign division, but prices held firm in response to the welcome reception of the Italian debt settlement. At the same time Liberty bonds were strengthened by the elimination of fears over a change in the rediscount rate.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond.

TRADING SHIFTS TO RAIL STOCKS

Carriers Gain Sharply on Heavy Buying

Activity in Oil List Also Features Day

Sales Volume Second Only to Year's High

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Chief speculative interest shifted from the motors to the rails on the resumption of the broad upward movement in today's stock market. Trading was again on an enormous scale, total sales of 2,984,300 being exceeded this year only by Tuesday's record-breaking session of 3,340,600 shares.

Speculators for the advance had plenty of ammunition in their campaign for higher prices. Of paramount importance was the retention of the 3½ per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

The weekly mercantile reviews continued optimistic in tone. Dun's stated that "no perceptible lessening of business confidence resulted from the collapse of stock prices early this week." Bradstreet's reported that "trade and industrial reports are more uniformly favorable than at any preceding period this year, a distinct increase in good trade reports being noted this week, and business is still heavily ahead of what it was one and two years ago at this date."

General Motors encountered the traditional "selling on the news" following the announcement of the $5 extra cash dividend, the stock closing over 2 points lower at 137 5-8. Hudson also fell back over 2 points to 116 1-4 and Pierce-Arrow, Packard, White and Studebaker yielded fractionally. Mack Trucks showed independent strength by climbing 5 points to 227 3-4, closing just below the top.

NE WHIGH IN RAILS

Rails were under heavy accumulation throughout the session. Pittsburgh and West Virginia advanced 12¾ points to a new record high at 107 and Atlantic Coast Line recorded a similar gain of 233 1-4, also a new top. New York Central moved up 3 points to 130, the highest price since 1909, and Baltimore and Ohio climbed over 3 points to 92¾, the highest level since 1910. Other new highs for a year or longer in that group were attained by Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Norfolk and Western and Lehigh Valley, the gains running from fractions to nearly 6 points.

Heavy buying of the oils was based on reports of improved trade conditions and rumors of an early increase in Pennsylvania crude prices. Mariand, Mid-Continent Petroleum, Skelly and Sun broke through to new high levels, while the Pan American issues, Pure Oil, Standard Oils of California and New Jersey, Independent Oil and Gas, and Houston all recorded net gains of 1 to 3½ points.

SPECIALTIES UP

Buoyancy also developed in a number of high-priced industrial specialties in which favorable developments are believed to be pending. Foundation Company, which recently announced the signing of several important foreign contracts, jumped 9 points to a record high for all time at 175. American Can, American Safety Razor, Crucible Steel, Ingersoll Rand (new stock,) Ludlum Steel, National Lead, Pathe Exchange, Pittsburgh Terminal Coal, Remington Typewriter, Standard Milling, United Drug and Woolworth were among the many issues to show net gains of 3 to 6¼ points. United States Steel took on a new lease of life by climbing 4 3-4 points to 137½.

Radio Corporation and Union Bag and Paper were in supply most of the day, showing net losses of 3 1-8 and 2 1-4 points, respectively.

Call money held steady all day at 4½ per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Trading in the foreign exchanges quieted down with the principal rates holding firm. Demand sterling ruled around $4.84 3-8 and French francs and Italian lire were quoted just above 4.04 cents.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

MONEY is stored-up man power. If I have $500 that means I have the purchasing power to buy 100 days of labor at $5 a day.

I can purchase the labor of a farmer who raises food, a mechanic who builds automobiles, or a servant who will cater to my personal convenience.

Money is valued only as it represents the ability of the owner to command the labor of others.

If we could conceive of a condition under which every individual supplied his own wants and refused to work for another money would cease to have value.

WALL STREET PARAGRAPHS

Friday and Thirteen Loses Terrors as Market Forges Ahead

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Time was when superstition played its part in Wall street, but no longer does Friday the Thirteenth figure as a stock market element, as was shown today in a strong and active session. Railroads took the lead and, with full speed ahead, some of them overtopped their previous price records of the year; some of them, in fact, went higher than at any time in the past few years. The industrials were not overlooked, but new leaders were given a chance and some of them made good. Among the oil stocks there was renewed action, brought about, no doubt, by persistent attention directed toward them. Nor was it entirely because the oils were considered behind the general list, as dividend possibilities were of such nature that their importance was given market prominence. Disappointment was at hand, however, in at least two quarters. Maintenance of the discount rate at an unchanged basis and an extra dividend on General Motors—the maximum prediction making good,—had made it appear that Wall street had further good cause to rejoice. The immediate response of General Motors, however, showed that the "good news" had been discounted.

Possible Explanation

Marking up the renewal rate to 5 per cent was quite a surprise, but this step may have been based on an adjustment of funds among members of the clearing-house for the purpose of bolstering the reserve position in tomorrow's statement of that institution from the deficit of a week ago.

Dividends Ahead

Rails took the lead and several of them mounted to prices unequalled in several years. Toward New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio, the street held similar thoughts as each road was slated for action through which higher dividends would be returned to stockholders of these roads. Furthermore, it was believed that before 1925 shall have departed, the Vanderbilt shares will be on an $8 basis and those of the Baltimore and Ohio raised to $6. Atlantic Coast Lines was another road on which dividend discussion persisted and greater benefits from the large earnings were expected to be ordered for stockholders. But in a broader consideration of the rails as a whole Chesapeake and Ohio found favor, and among analysts it was regarded as the cheapest stock in that group.

Reviving Hopes

That Pennsylvania had by no means abandoned its hope of securing control of Norfolk and western was made plain, as the street had intimations of a new offer to be made for the latter stock not already in the Pennsylvania treasury. Three shares of Pennsylvania for one Norfolk and Western was the nub of the revised story which originally had inspired a theory of an 8 per cent guaranty for the desired property.

Watching Signs

Always alert to changing conditions, some of the active market makers turned toward New England as a possible seat of operations. Improving industry in that section, long behind the country at large, had been made apparent as the discount rate was raised at Boston. Subsequent reports of employment and other signs today were sufficiently encouraging to father a belief that the New Haven was to stage a smarter come-back than heretofore had been noted and, coincident with a broadening rail market, better things were suggested for its future. When October earnings appear in the near future, the New Haven should make an interesting contribution, with further addition to the growing net. Tomorrow the road will have some fifty specials on the tracks for football service, the main attraction being the Yale-Princeton game at New Haven.

Somewhat Disappointing

General Motors failed to perform in the manner expected for a broad jump at the start was anticipated in celebration of the dividend action of the company's board. A $25,000,000 melon, as it was generally designated, was taken calmly enough by the market, but an alibi was at hand in the explanation that foreknowledge of the extra had been thoroughly discounted prior to the official step. What most concerned the financial community had to do with the approaching meeting of the Du Pont board. Coupled with the regular quarterly disbursement, that company will have received in the near future from its General Motors investment approximately $3,000,000. Monday will decide the question and then Wilmington wires will be watched for tidings out of the Du Pont Building.

Stirring Up Oils

The long-awaited movement got under way in the oils, with Maryland and Midcontinent Petroleum as the leaders in volume. In the upswing, the Standard shares joined and at its best price Standard of New Jersey was up more than 2 points, an unusually broad jump for that stock. Maryland was looked to as a potential candidate for dividend increase, with $4 the probable objective. Midcontinent, the rejuvenated Cosden company, also was pictured as being in line for action to put the shares on a dividend basis. The Texas Company board, with a meeting in the offing, may spring an extra, the street heard, while other concerns, especially those of the refining class, held out hopes for the optimistic. In deciding to acquire an interest in the Pure Oil pipe line, the Prairie Company lived up to the forecasts of men prominent in the industry who knew of negotiations to that end extending back over several weeks.

SMALL GAIN FOR COTTON AT CLOSING

Irregular Market Trend Seen as Natural Under Present Conditions

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. — The market continued irregular with mixed trading today. Prices went off about 15 points during the first half-hour from yesterday's closing, with December selling at 20.15, January, 19.62, March, 19.75 and May, 19.59. This was due to an accumulation of southern selling orders overnight, following the sharp break here late yesterday from the strong advance of Wednesday, and also to some local pressure.

This was followed by a sharp rally on covering of shorts with considerable new trade buying coming in, and also from Wall street houses. Before this recovery ran its course, prices had been carried up 10 to 15 points from yesterday's closing, with December selling at 20.48, January, 19.90, March 20 cents and May 19 3-4 cents. At that level so much fresh liquidation by local trade commission houses developedin connection with fresh southern hedge selling, the market soon reacted with prices going back to the early low levels before 2 o'clock from which there was only slight recoveries in the latter trading. There were no new developments in the general situation. After the market had a maximum recovery of over 200 points or $10 per bale, from the extreme low levels of the 2nd inst., the reaction of yesterday and today's further setback was looked upon as merely a natural movement in the circumstances, with the higher levels bringing out liquidation of long contracts bought during the last fortnight's decline and fresh hedge selling against the continued heavy movement of the crop.

The amount brought into sight for this week is 678,000 bales against 761,000 last week, and 683,000 last year, making the total from August 1 to date, 7,980,000 bales against 6,739,000 last year.

The world's spinners' takings for this week are 452,000 bales against 526,000 last week, and 297,000 for last year, making 4,943,000 bales from August 1 to date, 3,668,000 last year. This week's exports are 211,000 bales against 206,000 last year, making 2,880,000 bales against 2,451,000 last year, with the present world's visible supply of American cotton 4,612,000 bales against 4,022,000 a year ago, an increase for the week of 195,000 bales.

OFFSHORE DEEP TO BE CHARTED

Coast Survey Vessel Here for Winter

Work of Measuring Waters Begins Soon

Discovery of New Fishing Banks Expected

The United States Coast and Geodetic Survey steamer Pioneer, under command of Lieutenant-Commander Robert F. Luce is back at Los Angeles Harbor after a summer charting the Alaskan Peninsula and ready Monday to start her winter's work measuring the water's depth thirty to seventy miles off Southern California.

Incidentally it is expected, the Pioneer and the Guide, soon due from the Rogue River country, will locate additional fishing banks off these shores, as they have done in past seasons, proving of vast worth to the fishing industry.

During the approaching season the Pioneer will work the area immediately west and northwest of Catalina Island. She is one of a half a dozen survey ships engaged the last several years charting waters off California, Oregon and Washington with such thoroughness they never will need resurveys, except at mouths of harbors and rivers and similar places.

The Pioneer is equipped with a sonic sounding apparatus obtaining ocean depths in a few seconds by measuring time taken for sound to travel from the ship's bottom to the bottom of the ocean and back again to the ship.

In addition the steamer carries a subaqueous sound-ranging apparatus recently developed and used here last season for the first time with high success. The apparatus, by measuring the time taken for sound of an explosion of a small bomb of TNT, fired near the vessel, to travel under water to special stations at known points ashore, enable the ship to obtain its position while offshore.

With this, hazy or foggy weather means nothing, whereas under old methods operations were possible only in daylight and in clear weather. Recently precise locations have been obtained by this apparatus at distances of 200 miles offshore.

OPERATOR TO PUSH TUNA SEARCH SOUTH

Tuna have disappeared from Turtle Bay and John Heston, operator of many tenders and fishing boats, announced this afternoon yesterday of dispatching a small fleet to Magdalena Bay, 265 miles farther south, in quest of the illusive sea food. He said he would dispatch one or two tenders and a few boats, now at Turtle Bay, to the new grounds, by wire today. Following the discovery of the tuna, the grounds 400 miles south, tenders and small boats have been returning by the dozens every day since the 4th inst., the date of the discovery. Fifteen tenders and twenty-five small boats are still at Turtle Bay, and Heston said he would order them home if the fish didn't reappear in another day or two.

Friday, the thirteenth, was too much for passengers booked on the Japanese liner Rakuyo Maru, particularly when the vessel numbered thirteen, and all canceled passage before the ship sailed for Portland and the Orient yesterday, according to S. Kaneko, manager of California representative of the Y. K. K. Line, owners. Superstition was the assignable reason for cancellations, but the actual reason, it was said, was that the passengers preferred the big How Kong of the same line, due here in a few days, and slated for arrival in Japan almost as soon as the Rakuyo, due to the latter's Portland stop. The How Kong had more than 150 orientals bound home from South America, and one booked for the city of Dallas (Tex.) cotton here for the Orient, the first of several cargoes scheduled for the Y. K. K. ships shortly, and from the farthest eastern point cotton ever has passed through this port.

The Union Ice Company has announced construction to start within a week on a 60x35-foot reinforced concrete cold storage plant on Terminal avenue, Wilmington, for the storing of fish from canneries during the fishing season. Heretofore canneries have had difficulty in storing excess supplies of fish in their local ice plants until they could be canned.

Hugh P. Fitzpatrick, local manager for Swayne & Hoyt, announced the steamer Hollywood is due Thursday, en route to the South, with cargo of pacific cargo, and the West Jappa Thursday from Latin States with equal freight. The West Canob will substitute for the Jappa southbound, indicating. Fitzpatrick said, his line's request for an additional ship had been granted. The Canob has been on San Francisco run of late.

W. A. Pensey, district passenger agent of the French Line, announced that Chef Jacques Landauer, chef of the steamship Paris, has been awarded first prize in the buffet classic class, at the National Food Show in New York. The entire display entered by Chef Landauer was prepared while the Paris was en route from Havre to New York on her maiden westbound trip. The jury was unanimous in making the award, which was based on the appearance, arrangement, preparation and quality of the foods displayed.

SPREADING BUTTER.

To bite a slab of bread too big
Makes you seem too much like a pig;
To spread your butter on too thick
Is also an unpleasant trick.
Eat little pieces, lightly spread;
Don't be a Goop with buttered bread!

Defense Rests in Murder Case of ex-Klan Head

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NOBLESVILLE (Ind.) Nov. 13. Eph Inman, veteran criminal attorney, begged a jury today to spare from the electric chair and prison cell, D. C. Stephenson, former Grand Dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, and two bodyguards, on trial with him for murder.

It was the last word in defense of the three men, whose case will rest soon after noon tomorrow with the jury of ten farmers, a truck driver and the manager of a gas plant. Inman asserted Stephenson was the victim of enmities engendered in political warfare and besought the talesmen to find the trio not guilty of asserted abduction and assault of Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis last March 15. The State charges Stephenson, Earl Gentry and Earl Klenck with responsibility for her death.

Miss Oberholtzer committed suicide as a "free agent," the chief counsel for the defendants asserted in closing his argument.

Semiswamp of Arkansas Now Producing Rice

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Nov. 13.—Several thousand acres of semiswamp land in Southern Arkansas that was deemed practically worthless twenty-five years ago is now producing rice in such abundance as to give business in plenty to ten rice mills. The value of the land for rice culture was demonstrated in 1902 by J. M. Fuller, an Iowa farmer, who came south looking for opportunity. Rice has become one of the most important crops of the State. Four of the ten mills are operated by the Arkansas Co-operative Rice Growers Association.

This year's crop is reported to be excellent and is bringing the grower $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel. It is harvested like wheat and hauled to the mills in bulk.

La Casa Blanca ha expresado su satisfacción por la consolidación de la deuda italiana.

El Capitán Paul Foley ha dimitido como juez abogado de la junta del Shenandoah, e irá a responder desde la barra de los testigos a los cargos que le hace la señora Lansdowne.

No Hay Esperanza de Salvación para la Tripulación del Submarino

LONDRES, Noviembre 13.—Se ha perdido ya toda esperanza de salvar a los sesenta y ocho oficiales y marineros del submarino inglés M-1, que se fué a pique ayer durante las maniobras que efectuaba a la latitud de Start Point, Devonshire.

Fué ya localizado el sumergible en el fondo del océano, a 250 pies de la superficie del agua, profundidad demasiado grande para intentar el rescate, y a la que según se teme, pronto quedará aplastado el casco del buque por la presión del agua.

Si bien se cree que la tripulación está todavía viva, pues la provisión de aire es suficiente para que la vida se prolongue de treinta y seis a cuarenta horas, les espera a todos la triste suerte de morir sofocados. Pueden, pues, durar dos días; pero ya está escrito su inexorable destino; morirán lenta, pero seguramente, en medio de los horrores de una situación como la suya, con el angustioso recuerdo de sus parientes y amigos, y el convencimiento, que ha de torturarlos mientras vivan, de que están en el más completo desamparo.

Aviador que Planea Ir de Londres a Sudáfrica

LONDRES, Noviembre 13.—Alan J. Cobham, famoso taxiaviador, saldrá de Londres el próximo lunes, y tratará de volar las 8000 millas que le separan del Cabo de Buena Esperanza, Sudáfrica, acompañado tan sólo de un mecánico y un cinefotógrafo. Irá en un avión De Haviland DF-50, con motor Armstrong-Siddeley-Jaguar.

Cobham va a hacer el viaje por cuenta de la compañía anónima "Imperial Airways", en parte para hacer propaganda aérea, probando que son posibles esas travesías, y en parte para fijar la ruta de posible y futuro tráfico comercial.

La Señora Valentino Entabla Juicio de Divorcio

NUEVA YORK, Noviembre 13.—Winifred Hudnut Valentino ha puesto punto final a las "vacaciones matrimoniales" en que se embarcaron hace algunos meses ella y su marido, Rudolph Valentino, el jaque de la pantalla. Ha decidido verse libre de pasiones amorosas y entera de corazón, quedando así en posibilidad de dedicarse a su propia carrera, sin trabas y sola. La noticia fué dada hoy por la madre de Winifred, y confirmada poco después por la hermosa muchacha, quien hace saber que interpuso demanda de divorcio en París.

El naufragio, los salvajes y el hambre causaron destrozos tales en esa partida de desventurados (Shipwreck, savages and starvation made such havoc with the doomed band), que, cuando en 1529, Vaca y tres compañeros se encontraron convertidos en esclavos de los indios, eran ellos los unicos supervivientes de la expedición (that when in 1529, Vaca and three companions found themselves slaves of the Indians, they were the sole survivors of the expedition).

CLARICE NEVER CROAKS IN VAIN

Rains Come as Forecast by Vocal Efforts of Lodi's Pet Frog

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, Nov. 13.—Clarice, the official pet frog of the city of Lodi, is the talkingest thing these days. She began to croak Sunday—and along came the rain. And again on Tuesday she croaked—and there was rain. On Wednesday, she burst forth into her merriest croaking—and it poured all day yesterday.

Clarice is the genuine weather prophet of the Lodi district. She never fails to forecast correctly and it always rains when she croaks. Farmers rely on her and telephone to her home, the city pumping plant, whenever in doubt as to the weather.

Clarice never peeped during the long, dry summer, and for a time attendants at the pumping plant thought she had lost her valuable voice.

CHILDLESS HOMES

Read Mrs. Benedict's Letter Praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kewanee, Illinois.—"When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine. Last spring and summer I got all run-down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay up only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do all my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E Pinkham's medicines to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my 'teens and until I started taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. MARY R. BENEDICT, 313 Payson St., Kewanee, Ill.

Sheik Defeats Romeo in Technique of Making Her Say Yes

The Old and the New

On the left Eleanor Veale and Edward Blaine demonstrate courtship tactics as used by Romeo. On the right Carrol Greene and Grant La Mont give modern version of love-making.

THE modern campus sheik and his sheba yesterday outnecked and outdid the immortal Romeo in the technique of lovemaking in a contest staged for the benefit of several thousand students at the weekly rally at the University of Southern California conducted in Bovard Auditorium.

Romeo and Juliet versus the campus sheik and his sheba was the title of the farce which was put on to settle once and for all times, a controversy which got its start when Prof. Habeson of the English department of the University of Pennsylvania declared the modern campus lovers haven't a "look in" with the immortal lovers created by the pen of Shakespeare.

Competent judges decided after a unique display of love-moking on a stage with a setting of Juliet's famous balcony, that the modern campus sheik and his sheba won the contest "by a neck."

The farce was staged under the direction of Clare Kaufer, head of the senior school of speech. Edward W. Blaine and pretty Eleanor Veale gave a serious presentation of the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet.

Grant La Mont and Carroll Greene followed with the modern

CAHUENGA PASS ROADS INSPECTED

Councilmen Take Trip Over Old and New Due to Protest at Abandoning One

A group of City Councilmen yesterday afternoon made an inspection trip of the old and new roads through Cahuenga Pass. The Council at present is divided upon the subject of retaining the old roadway or abandoning it.

The land for the roadway now under construction was given the city by C. E. Toberman, the city agreeing to abandon the old roadway to him. When the ordinance of intention abandoning the roadway came up in the Council it was opposed by Councilman Randall, who urged the retention of both highways. Yesterday's journey was to familiarize the Councilmen with the terrain.

The Board of Public Works yesterday advertised for bids for the improvement of the new roadway through the pass. The bids will be opened next Wednesday, it was announced, as the board wishes to have the work completed and the road opened by Christmas.

BUDDHIST EXTOLS AMITY

Japanese Religious Leader Lauds International Good Will in "Times" Radio Address

The people of the United States and Japan are in perfect harmony in fundamental principles and should be able to get along side by side as two great friends, Count Lord Abbot Sonyu Otani, the highest Buddhist priest in Japan and brother-in-law of the Emperor, declared last night in an impressive speech delivered over KHJ, The Times radio station.

Count Otani arrived in Los Angeles Thursday to participate in the dedication of the new $250,000 Hongwanji Buddhist Temple, East First street and Central avenue.

The Japanese priest's speech addressed to the "citizens of Los Angeles," follows:

"Since arriving at your great city, I am deeply impressed with its beautiful and picturesque scenes. This is my first visit to America. I am therefore a stranger to you and your city. Following the custom in Japan on occasion of this nature, I will formally announce my name to you. My name is Sonyu Ohtani. My residdence is in Kyoto, Japan. It is the home of all the Buddhist missions of Hongwanji sect.

EXPLAINS TENETS

"I appreciate the opportunity granted to me whereby I am able to enjoy the privilege to address through radio, citizens of this great city of Los Angeles.

"The growth of Mahayama Buddhism and its influence over the intellectual side of the Japanese civilization are two inseparable things. The history of one is more or less the history of the other. Japanese people are trained from childhood to respect the customs of deference, love and industriousness. These are the gifts derived from the teaching of the Mahayama Buddhism. They are no doubt the fruits of the doctrine of self-denial and superego.

"Mahayama Buddhism has always assumed a progressive attitude toward guiding the minds of the people. It is progressive. There exists a marked distinction in this respect between Mahayama and Hinayama Buddhism. The distinction is this, that the latter is exceedingly conservative. The religious students are requested to

REFERENDUM ON RATE ATTACKED

Water Board in Paradoxical Stand on Public's Rights

Haynes-Mathews Group Seeks To Escape Ballot Resort

Judge Defers Decision in Suit for Injunction

Rights of the public to apply the referendum to rates of the publicly owned water department were attacked in Judge Shaw's court yesterday by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners through its special counsel, W. B. Mathews. Paradoxical as it may seem, the Water and Power Commission is composed of some of the most ardent supporters of the referendum, such as Dr. John R. Haynes, and includes some who were instrumental in enacting referendum legislation. In this case, however, the board contends the referendum was not intended to apply to its rate-fixing acts.

Whether the city charter provision that the people may by referendum vote choose either to accept or reject an ordinance passed by the City Council applies to ordinances fixing rates for the city's public utilities was the principal point in argument.

At the conclusion of the arguments Judge Shaw took under advisement the application of E. E. Lamptor, former Councilmanic candidate from the First District, for an injunction to restrain the city from collecting higher water rates ordered by a recently adopted emergency ordinance.

Mr. Mathews argued that the charter's referendum provision does not cover rates fixed by the city's rate-fixing body. He said it is exempt from the referendum in that such a work as rate-fixing is an expert and technical matter of a quasi-judicial nature. Such quasi-judicial matters, he said, have been held by high courts not to be subject to referendary action.

Mr. Lampton based his suit on the ground that no emergency existed at the time the ordinance providing for the new rates was passed. He averred that the ordinance should have been placed before the Council in the regular manner, thus giving the people time in which to prepare referendary action against the proposed increase in rates. Kimball Fletcher, his attorney, argued that the charter's referendum provision is broad enough to cover all kinds of ordinances, with certain uncontested exceptions.

The city had filed a demurrer and motion to strike certain points from Mr. Lampton's application, and these matters also were taken under submission by Judge Shaw. In the meantime the city has been prevented from putting the new rates into effect by a temporary restraining order obtained by Lampton at the time he instituteed his action against the ordinance.

Contract Let for Paving of Malibu Road

Contracts for the paving of six miles of new highway through the Malibu ranch from Los Flores Canyon to Latigo and the widening and reconstruction of the highway from Ventura to Camarillo, were awarded yesterday by the State Highway Commission in Sacramento, according to a telegram received at the local office of the commission.

PROSECUTOR CONFIRMED IN CITY POST

Mayor's Action Approved by City Council to Validate Increase in Salary

The reappointment of J. M. Friedlander as City Prosecutor was contained in a letter received by the City Council yesterday from the Mayor, and received immediate action. Under a suspension of the rules the reappointment was confirmed by unanimous vote.

J. M. FRIEDLANDER

Several weeks ago Friedlander received an increase of salary, and an opinion by City Attorney Stephens stated that it would be necessary to rename him to the position in order for him to draw the higher pay. Yesterday's action, therefore, was in the nature of a formality.

Friedlander was named City Prosecutor on July 25, 1923, succeeding William D. McConnell, who had been appointed to the police bench by the Board of Supervisors. Prior to that time Friedlander had been upon the staff of the City Prosecutor for eight years, and at the time of his appointment was Assistant City Prosecutor.

He is 35 years of age and was graduated from New York University.

FOLLETTE IN PLEA TO GOVERNOR

Former Justice Accused of Perjury Asks Pardon of State's Executive

Channing Follette, former presiding justice of Los Angeles Township, has made a personal appeal to Gov. Richardson for a pardon from the one to five-year penitentiary sentence imposed on him for perjury, it was announced by his attorneys last night.

The attorneys, H. L. Geisler and Robert M. O'Connor, made the announcement of Follette's appeal to the Governor a few hours after their appearance in Judge Keetch's department of the Superior Court. Follette was scheduled to have appeared before Judge Keetch yesterday for resentence. But he failed to appear and the attorneys explained their client was in the northern part of the State and will not be able to return to Los Angeles for several days. Judge Keetch thereupon continued the matter until next Friday.

In the meantime, it was learned, Follette's commitment to San Quentin had been signed and is in the hands of deputy sheriffs. It may be possible, it was stated, that Follette will give himself up directly to these deputies upon his return here and thus escape another appearance in court.

Should the Governor deny Follette's appeal for a pardon, it was stated, his only hope would be for an appeal to the United States Supreme Court. Follette's last appeal to the Second District Court of Appeal was denied on the 5th inst., and the case sent back to the trial court. The former jurist is at present at liberty under $25,000 bail.

Leaders Hope to Regain Lost Ground During Today

Pridham Appeals to Citizens to Unite in Support

Following are facts and figures of yesterday's efforts in behalf of the Community Chest:

Amount subscribed, $176,106.

Total subscribed to date, $1,246,825.

New subscribers, 23,774.

Total subscribers to date, 23,505.

Per cent subscribed yesterday, 7.

Per cent subscribed to date, 44.

Workers will meet again this noon in the Chamber of Commerce banquet hall to make reports on the last twenty-four hours' work.

Obtaining only $176,106, Community Chest workers yesterday experienced the slowest day of the campaign for funds to maintain 143 charitable and welfare institutions. This amount falls considerably behind any daily total for the first five days of the appeal.

OPEN YOUR HEART

Workers have obtained only 44 per cent of the grand total to be raised. Yesterday's contributions bring the amount now subscribed to $1,246,825. The campaign quota is $2,830,798. Yesterday only 7 per cent was raised, this being the poorest showing of any day. There are now 23,505 subscribers to the Chest, 25,774 being included in yesterday's solicitation.

Due to yesterday's poor showing Chest leaders are out today to regain the lost ground. There will be no canvassing tomorrow and for this reason plans have been laid for an extremely busy time of it today. Unless a much stronger showing is made during the next twenty-four hours the campaign will go into the second week considerably behind in its daily average. Chest officials wish to avoid this and every effort will be expended to regain the lost ground in today's work.

HARD TASK AHEAD

According to Chest officials at least 50 per cent of the grand total should have been subscribed by last night, while it is the general thing to have 60 per cent in with the campaign half over. Workers now must average better than 11 per cent each day in order to make the campaign a success.

R. W. Pridham, Chest president, last night appealed to citizens of Los Angeles to get behind the appeal and raise the budget in the allotted time.

"Workers have been lending their best efforts for weeks, not only in canvassing, but in preliminary preparations for the appeal," he said. "They can't raise the desired amount without the whole-hearted support of all Los Angeles. It is up to every man and woman in the city to get behind the movement and make it the success it deserves to be. There can be no compromise in this war of mercy and if the volunteers are given proper support from our citizens I know the goal will be realized."

J. L. Van Norman, vice-chairman of the campaign, presided at the luncheon meeting yesterday, where hundreds of enthusiastic workers again gathered in the banquet hall of the Chamber of Commerce.

Guest speaker for this occasion was David A. Brown, a national character in Jewish foreign-relief work, who is now conducting a campaign to raise $15,000,000.

"The Community Chest does something bigger and better than merely raise money," declared Mr. Brown. "It puts into the soul of every man, woman and child something that carries them through life, a bigger finer character.

"There is not a business man in this magnificent city who, if asked what he is in business for, will answer as he did heretofore —'to make money.' It is to give service that the business man, and every citizen is dedicating his work. We are living in an age

WOMEN IN DISPLAY AS MARKSMEN

Acting Jail Matrons Shoot It Out With Opponents of Juvenile Bureau

The two-gun woman is in a fair way to take the place of the almost extinct two-gun man of the West, if Chief of Police Heath has his way. Yesterday for the first time women of the police department handled forty-fives at the police pistol range.

Four policewomen under command of Capt. Shand, who are now acting as jail matrons, shot it out with a team of four from the crime-prevention department of the juvenile bureau. Capt. SHAKESPEARE FETE IN MAY Preliminary Salons Will be Conducted Prior to Drama Revival Next Spring

Los Angeles is to have its Shakespearean Festival next May in keeping with the annual celebration at Stratford-on-Avon. The Shakespearean Festival Series with W. A. Clark as one of six announced advisory board members has been organized and opened offices in the Philharmonic Auditorium. The other members are Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, Mrs. John Cobb Macfarland, Mrs. F. P. Newport, Mrs. Hansen Moore, secretary, and George Leslie Smith, treasurer.

The patroness list already is one of the largest and most exclusive announced for any artistic enterprise in the history of the city.

At the home of W. A. Clark on West Adams on the evening of the 24th inst., a series of ten preliminary salons devoted to the study of the works of the immortal bard will be begun to be followed by others bi-weekly in certain of the largest private homes. Plays to be given at the festival will be abridged for the salons and interpreted by R. D. MacLean and assisting artists. Music will also be used.

Receipts and subscriptions already have been placed in a Shakespearean Festival Fund.

At his home on Sycamore avenue R. D. MacLean said yesterday that the pendulum is swinging back to 'the noblest, gentlest, yet strongest of rallying signs among the English speaking people of the world.' I look for a tremendous popular response to this Shakespearean Festival Week. It will be an additional glory to the

The Lancer

SOME interesting "fan" letters:

"Editor The Times: It's all wrong—the stuff Harry Carr wrote about farm life.

"As a writer on farming problems Harry's a first-class movie critic.

"Really, you know, Harry should confine himself to European wars, in all of which he has participated since Napoleon swam the Hellespont, and the late Mr. Alexander the Great conquered the Esthonians and Laplanders.

"SIDE-WINDER" COWS

"Nobody but Harry ever heard of mowing hay in New England pastures. Such scanty grass as there is in New England pastures is mowed by the lowly kine, said kine being a cross between a Jersey and a wolverine.

"Up in Waldo county, Maine, where I was born, the cows' legs were two inches longer on the starboard than the port side, to enable them better to browse on the rocky hillsides.

FARM GOLF LINKS

"No, Harry, the trouble with farm life isn't because they have tried to make it like city life. It's because it's too unlike city life. When farm houses are furnace heated, electric lighted and each has its telephone and radio and convenient golf links, the hegira farmward will begin.

"But not toward the old New England farm; instead, toward the highly specialized California ranch, where rural and urban life are so happily blended.

"SLUG SIX."

EARLY-DAY FLAPPER

A letter from Hobart Bo... worth:

"I have been rereading John Evelyn's Diary lately and came across a quotation which seems apropos to our time, but shows that history, even of the 'flapper,' simply repeats itself.

"He comes up to London from a long stay at his estate of Sayes Court at Deptford in about 1678, and notices that 'our ladies do paint their faces as our street women had used to do.'

"Times have not changed so much, have they? When you and I were boys the women of the demimonde tried to look and act and dress like ladies. Now the ladies do all they can to act like professionals.

"But this is really what I want to write about. You surely remember Dr. Johnson's definition of oatmeal as a grain, 'in England food for horses; in Scotland food for men.'

"I got a copy of the Marine Dictionary of Falconer, London, 1798, but originally published in 1755. Here is a piece of delicious definition that I think should rank with Johnson's, and will not, I hope, bring on another combat with perfidious Albion!

"'RETREAT — The order or disposition in which a fleet of French men-of-war decline engagement or fly from a pursuing enemy.'"

COWBOY SADDLES

From an indignant horseman:

"Mr. Carr, Dear Sir: For the benefit of those who deride the so-called English pad in favor of the California stock saddle, I would beg to suggest that the stock saddle is used by two classes of people, Ranchmen, who handle stock, and those interested in silver-mounted gimcracks.

"The latter class will doubtless wear hip boots on wet sidewalks.

"It might also be pointed out that English pads have evolved through generations of horses and horsemen some thousands of years older than the American cattle industry."

"BERNARD GARBUTT."

SANTA MONICA CHEST BUDGET AND DATE SET

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 13.—A budget of $36,790 was decided upon at a meeting of the directors The campaign will start December 2 and last for six days, according to Charles E. Hewes, president of the Santa Monica Community Chest.

The campaign will be conducted by C. W. Lee, director-general. There are already more than 250 workers affiliated. This will be Santa Monica's first Community Chest appeal, the organizations concerned having raised funds separately in previous years.

Mr. Hewes announced today that citizens of Santa Monica should not confuse their own Community Chest movement with that of Los Angeles, as there is no connection between the two campaigns.

PALAIS DE GLACE TO DONATE RECEIPTS

Joining in Los Angeles' great charity campaign, the Palais de Glace will have a benefit evening for the Community Chest next Wednesday.

Sixty per cent of the gate receipts will be donated to the Community Chest fund, all expenses for the evening to be defrayed by the ice rink.

version of love-making, with La Mont doing some honest-to-goodness "cave-man" stuff.

"My Gillette," he cried, as he climbed up a ladder to his "sweetie" to show how the 1925 lover does his stuff. Miss Greene represented the queen of the sorority house, while Robert Raede enacted the part of the housemother and John Atwell, a milkman.

Miss Greene also "did her stuff" to perfection and the contest went over big. The judges decided the modern version of love-making took the honors because Romeo did too much talking while the campus sheik took his "sweetie" by storm, climbing up his ladder and taking her into his arms for a necking after a lot of nonsense.

RETURNS OF WESTGATE ELECTION CANVASSED

BIBLE'S HUMOR TO BE TOPIC

Subtlest Satire and Keenest Wit Found in Holy Book, Says Pastor of Mesa Church

The richest humor, the subtlest satire, the keenest wit and the most trenchant sarcasm in literature are not to be found in the works of Mark Twain nor Dean Swift nor Moliere nor Voltaire—they are to be found in the Holy Bible. From floral Eden to blazing Sinai and on to the thundering Revelations of St. John the attention of the reader is often challenged by expressions which inspire no feeling but mirth.

"Who told you you were naked?" Jehovah asks Adam when the first man explains his attempt to hide from the Lord by cleverly accusing his Maker of not having provided him with clothing. Speaking to Job, Zopher says: "Vain man would be wise—though man be born like a wild ass's colt." Addressing the "man with the boils," Eliphaz inquires: "Should a wise man utter vain knowledge and fill his belly with the east wind?" Job is "nobody's fool" and he comes back at his tormentors with the cutting remark: "No doubt that ye are the people and wisdom shall die with you."

David, armed only with a sling, yet with the confidence of youth in a righteous cause, upon seeing the boastful Goliath, inquires: "Who is this uncircumcised Philistine that he dares to defy the army of the living God?" Solomon says of the meddler: "He that passeth by and meddleth with strife that belongeth not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears." It may be poor translation that is responsible for the line: "And when they awoke in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses."

"Humor is a sign of sanity and a sense of the incongruous," declares Dr. H. C. Culbertson, pastor of the Mesa Congregational Church. "This life, with its false values, must be funny from the viewpoint of eternity, just as we laugh at the pranks of our children." Dr. Culbertson will preach tomorrow morning on "The Jokes of Jesus," his subject for the evening being "The Man Who Discovered God."

TO SPEAK FOR KHJ

"Is it right to kill in the name of mercy?" This question will be discussed by Dr. G. A. Briegleb in his sermon on "Human Husks," to be preached tomorrow evening at the Westlake Presbyterian Church. At 10 a.m., tomorrow, Dr. Briegleb will give an address to the KHJ audience from The Times' broadcasting station, his subject being "Blessings and Glories That Belong to Twice-born Men." Following the sermon, Dr. Briegleb will go to the Westlake church and address his congregation on "Wisdom's Discovery of Christ."

Pease will give a free organ recital. On the 17th and 18th inst., from 2 p.m., to 10 p.m., the women of the church will give a bazaar. Should all children be compelled to attend public school? Does the Community Chest deserve support in Los Angeles?" These are among the questions to be discussed by Dr. William MacCormack in his sermon tomorrow evening at St. Paul's Cathedral. The subject for morning is "Our Sufficiency."

TALKS TOO MUCH

When a man loses his voice it isn't so much of a tragedy as he thinks it is.

STILL HARPING

The National Association of Harpists will meet here next March for their annual gathering. We trust that they will find something worth while to harp about.

SUFFERING POLITICIANS

On account of the weather, the civil war and a few other things we are not getting our usual ration of peanuts from China. The result will be noticed in the local political field.

DANGEROUS NAILS

Sanitary statistics show that last year 15,000 accidents, for which compensation was paid in New York State, were caused by nails. Yet claws are considered more dangerous than nails.

THE LIFE IN SEEDS

James H. Breasted, the historian, has presented the University of Chicago with a collection of seeds from the ancient tombs of Egypt, including seeds of olives, dates and pomegranates. These seeds are still alive.

GOING ONE BETTER

The people of New Jersey are excited over the dipcovery of the footprints of a dinosaur. That's nothing. At La Brea, within the limits of Los Angeles, the skeleton of the dinosaur that made the tracks, or very similar tracks, has been unearthed. It is now in the County Museum.

A CROSS EMU

An emu recently shot in Queensland was opened up by the slayer and found to have a lot of nails, some marbles, a few pennies, a door key, a glass salt cellar, a wrist watch, a stove lifter and a couple of stone arrowheads in its interior. The bird must have been in training for the cross-word puzzle column.

THE HANDICAP OF YOUTH

Enthusiastic football fans who were for voting for Red Grange for Congress were finally advised that the demon of the grid-iron was not really old enough to answer the constitutional requirements in the matter of age. He spent last summer cutting ice for suburban residents, but not enough of it to make a bridge to Washington.

A NEW INDUSTRY

The Agricultural Department is fostering boys' and girls' bamboo clubs with the idea of starting a bamboo industry. California climate is ideal for the growing of bamboo, the king of grasses, said to be particularly useful for garden poles of all sorts, hay racks, fish rods, tool handles, clothes-line props, water pipes, book racks and portiere rods.

A DOG'S LIFE

Evidence in a divorce case shows that the wife exchanged her wedding ring for a dog. At present prices of terriers this is no easy thing to do and the first impression is that the lady drove a good bargain. At the same time the husband declared that he was made to lead a dog's life, anyhow, and, therefore, the woman might have saved her ring and kept a brass collar on her spouse.

ROADS LEAD TO PARADISE

One of the local traffic cops says that on a single day recently he noted motor cars bearing the license plates of places so remote as British Columbia, Maine, Florida, Mexico City and Hawaii. That shows that folks come hither from all corners of the earth. It was expected that the visitor from Honolulu would complain of the moist roads on his journey, but it seems that his car made most of the passage on the deck of a ship.

CLASSY CALLERS

Both the bankers and the editors of America are coming to Los Angeles next year for their national conventions. These furnish interesting and impressive groups of visitors. Their coming cannot but be an advantage to the future of the city and its environs. Both organizations have gathered here before. They have learned to like California and they are spreading the glad tidings in a forceful way. The bankers and editors furnish a lot of stimulant for any community.

THE WICKED CITY

Most of the naughty plays, books and pictures appear to come from New York. Maybe this is one of the reasons why an eminent clergyman would set the city off from the rest of the world and hold it in anathema. The Knickerbockers themselves insist that they only endure wickedness for the amusement of their visiting friends. They read sermons and go to bed at 10 o'clock. It is their company that sits up late and asks for raw or racy entertainment. This explanation, however, will hardly be accepted in the provinces. At any rate, Gotham appears to be a sort of clearing-house for things indelicate.

CAPITOL AND WHITE HOUSE

As the date for convening a new Congress approaches the eyes of the country are turned to the White House. The last Congress well deserved the epithet, "The Worst in History;" and the people are placing their reliance in the ability of the President to persuade the members of the present Congress to profit by its predecessor's mistakes.

President Coolidge lost no prestige because the constructive measures which he recommended to the last Congress were either wholly rejected or so amended that they could not serve the purpose for which they were intended. The President was triumphantly vindicated in the 1924 elections; and most of those of his own party who opposed him were either defeated or elected by such scant pluralities that they realize they must make amends during the coming session for their past faults and blunders or retire to private life at the end of the present term.

That the President desires to work in harmony with Congress is evidenced by the number of party leaders he has already called to the White House for consultation. These leaders include most of the members of his own party, in both houses, who opposed the administration policies two years ago. There is much constructive legislation on the administration program, and the President seeks party harmony in order that the Democratic opposition may not be able to form blocs of sufficient voting strength to defeat administration measures.

There are a number of problems which the President desires to remove from the realm of partisan politics. He desires them to be considered as national measures rather than administration measures; and to this end he has sought the opinions of the Democratic leaders. No President has approached a session of Congress with an attitude more devoid of narrow partisanship. He does not seek triumphs for his party, but legislation from which the whole country will benefit.

No President has evidenced a greater desire for harmonious co-operation of the executive and legislative branches of the government. A close student of American political history, the President is probably impressed by the fact that Congress seldom measures up to the standards set for it in the Constitution. It wastes too much time in petty squabbles, in playing what has come to be termed peanut politics. Public opinion has recognized this; with the result that, while Chief Executives are, as a rule, highly respected and possess the confidence of the people, Congress is generally viewed with a mixture of distrust and disgust.

If Congress measured up to the standard generally set by our Chief Executives the work that is now being done in the White House would be performed by Congress committees. The President is compelled to waste much valuable time preserving harmony in the legislative branch. Congress seldom follows its own leaders; and the country has come to look for leadership from the White House in legislative affairs.

Present signs indicate a more harmonious session than that of two years ago. The farm bloc is so badly splintered that it no longer possesses even a semblance of a balance of power. This is admitted by the leaders of the bloc two years ago who are still in Congress. And they attribute it to the general prosperity among the farmers, who are doing better than two years ago. They were then told by the bloc leaders that legislation was necessary to cure their agricultural and economic ills; but they have since found relief under existing laws; and they realize the truth of the admonition from the White House that they must look to their own industry in intelligently cultivating their acres and not to Congress for relief, that the administration would give them whatever co-operation was possible without disrupting economic conditions, but that a multiplicity of new and experimental laws would add to their economic burdens in place of relieving them.

A different tone is already noticeable in the committee conference over tax reductions. There is a disposition in both Republican and Democratic ranks to aid the President and Secretary Mellon in their sincere endeavor to reduce the tax burdens of the people. No one now seeks to make political capital out of opposing the economic program of the administration. Even the politicians have found that this is not good policy.

There is a justifiable hope that the new Congress will do better than its predecessor; and this is strengthened by the consideration that it could not do much worse. The country is demanding less wrangling and more constructive legislation, and the people are more interested in the economic and industrial problems awaiting immediate solution than in the 1926 elections.

SALESMANSHIP

"I have never known a permanently successful salesman who was not morally sound," said J. B. Williams of the Parafine Companies when he spoke before the local Advertising Club.

Mr. Williams was taking a fling at the schools of salesmanship, which teach that salesmanship is chiefly a matter of psyching the customer, nosing out the victim's weaknesses and hypnotizing him into buying whether he wants the goods or not. He termed this a "refined type of burglary."

"Business is not a battle, it is co-operative service to society," he said, which might be regarded as indisputable, except that salesmanship schools all over the country are teaching exactly the reverse. In fact, a whole literature has grown up on these lines, often amazing in its frank insincerity.

But salesmen, like the advertising men, have come to realise that honesty is the best policy. Honest advertising has long since been preached from one end of the country to the other, aided by the watchfulness of every reputable newspaper. The other kind soon defeated its own ends, and the buying public showed no signs of that permanent moronic eight-year-old intellect in such matters as the psychologists presumptuously saddled them with. And, from Mr. Williams's talk, it is obvious that the public has also become wise to the hokey-pokey psychohypnotic salesman who deals in spells rather than on the merits of his merchandise. Such a man actually insults the quality of his own commodity as well as the intelligence of his clients.

Of course, the personal integrity of a salesman is his best asset. How could it be otherwise if he hopes to build up a permanent trade? How can he hope to win the respect and faith of a customer in the guise of a slick Svengali? Good customers are invariably good business men and, therefore, intelligent. If they could be bamboozled once—once would suffice.

It is interesting, too, that business is leading the way in this campaign for personal integrity, fair dealing, public service and no trickery. It will perhaps get around to other professions—and to public officials—in time.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Fifty years ago choice tomatoes sold for 30 cents a peck. Fat hens brought 25 cents. Farmers were happy to obtain 50 cents a bushel for potatoes. Eggs retailed at 10 cents a dozen. Good butter was 15 cents a pound.

However, those were the days when you traveled at the startling velocity of five miles an hour in a one-horse power surrey. If you would talk with another on business you walked a mile across the town or sent a messenger.

Those were the good old days when the lamp smoked in all its glory and filled the room with gloom. Gas was a city luxury.

Back-yard broadcasting was the only radio and saxophones were not frequent enough to tickle the toes of the youth. There was no jazz on the air.

Those were the wondrous years when women wore full skirts that swept up the streets and gathered germs and brought them home for nurture and expansion. They gloried in waists that resembled the wasp—and never went swimming.

Women rode sidewise on horses and were so frail that they had to be assisted at every step. They were the gorgeous moments when men did the courting and women answered "Yes!" or "No!"

The back room of the saloon was headquarters for all politics and a drink and a cigar were the chief vote-getters. The men did the voting and the women did the washing.

You could distinguish a miss from a man on the street and a grandmother from sweet 16. You were not compelled to look a second time to see whether they were roses or rouge.

Men had lodges and women had no clubs. The women were content to know what the men told them and the women never dreamed of uplifting society.

Men held the offices and women held the babies. A woman in Congress would have been a hussy. As for a woman Governor—what man would have stood it and what woman would have stooped?

Would you return for 30 cents a peck, for 50 cents a bushel, for 15 cents a pound, for 10 cents a dozen?

MOVIE INFLUENCE

Hollywood films are extending America's trade over the globe. There is no more potent salesmen than the flickers. It is in the pictures that the dwellers in all the lands from Abyssinia to Zanzibar get their first knowledge of the many devices for home comfort and domestic service created in this country. Some screen offering will show a modern American kitchen with its shining glories and massed conveniences and some planter in Java will want a duplicate. The many inventions and novelties used and presented in pictures create a desire for possession in the breast of the stranger.

The De Milles have certainly carried the American bathroom to civilization's frontier. They are experiencing the joys of open plumbing in lands where the people seldom took baths except when they fell in the river. The table manners of the world have also been advanced 100 per cent through the flickers. Peoples of other lands look with wonder at the array of tools we have on the damask and they learn how to spear their salad with accuracy and the proper implement.

The electrical devices and farm machinery shown in certain film stories help to create new trade lanes extending to all quarters of the earth. Likewise, Hollywood's ideas in dress may gradually take possession of the world. The women of Turkey have thrown away their veils and come out into the open in modern regalia. The men and women of the Orient are gradually assuming a Broadway front.

Some of the results, however, are tragic. The men and maidens of many alien lands could never understand our passion for kissing. They have watched the fading clinch in our pictures with mingled derision and disgust. But now they are learning to imitate and enjoy. They are learning that kissing may not be as foolish as it looks. There is often a tang to it that imparts zest to life.

The Japanese used to think our manner of caressing coarse and vulgar, but the rising generation is learning that kissing is rather pleasant exercise. It may appear at first as immodest or mayhap immoral, but it carries a savory kick. That is why some of the old-timers in Japan are beginning to rave and rail against a surrender to the customs of the Occident. They are protesting against the expansion of the kissing habit and insisting that their offspring return to the manners and morals of their fathers. They fear that between the clinch and the Charleston their loved ones are taking the high road of infamy.

Dare we blame them?

Just About It
by James J. Montague

THE LAST STRAW

Grand opera is soon to be given in rag-time.

We misunderstood Mr. Wagner,
For most of the years of our life
We thought that his stuff was discordant and rough—
A hideous musical strife.
In fact, all the great compositions
Of masters both living and dead
In the days of our youth—if we must tell the truth—
Were utterly over our head.

We were strong for the barber-shop ballads,
And the tunes that our grandfathers knew,
And the popular songs that recited the wrongs
Of maidens whose hearts were too true.
We were fond of the saccharine waltzes
Turned out by the late Mr. Strauss,
And the lilts that Blanche Ring used to step out and sing
In a fashion that brought down the house.

But we have our pet hatreds in music,
As probably everyone has;
And when all through the land every kind of a band
Began to play nothing but jazz,
We turned to the opera for refuge—
And, to our amazement, we found
That we speedily fell for its magical spell,
And thought it the last word in sound.

And now, if they jass Mr. Wagner
And render Puccini in rag,
If the classical tunes are squeaked out on bassoons
That sound like a sheep with a jag,
We must wander about the great city
Distrait and bemused and demented,
And cursing the day while pursuing our way
That music was ever invented!

IF ONLY—

None would go comfortless on his way
If only we understood
That the kindly word we fail to say
Would do such a world of good.

None overburdened or in despair
Would stumble along the road
If we knew how it lightens the heart to bear
A part of another's load.

None would plod wearily mile by mile
And a mask forbidding wear
If we only knew how a friendly smile
Finds an answer anywhere.

For many an impulse is hid from view
Which might do a world of good,
And many a kindness we'd gladly do—
If only we understood.

LETTERS TO The Times

Defends "Puritanism"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have just read your report in today's paper of the debate between Rupert Hughes and Dr. Frank Dyer on "Resolved, That What the World Needs Is Less Puritanism."

I cannot go to a peaceful and conscience-clear night's rest without writing you a word regarding the impression it made on me. It seems to me it is a great pity for a newspaper with the high standards we always expect from The Times to even publish such reactionary and heretic criticism of our Puritan forefathers as the wicked and certainly unfounded criticism of Rupert Hughes.

I am surprised that you do not feel it your duty to discredit his reflections and brand him as the infidel and dangerous radical that he is. I am surprised that a minister of the gospel can feel that by allowing such discussion in his church he is helping the race. But no doubt Dr. Dyer feels by bringing out these base reflections and refuting them he can the more solidly build up a strong urge for the better morals and the high ideals of the past. In that I think he is mistaken. To recognize such a man as Rupert Hughes is giving him power over some people. And to publish his heresies, without due indignation and judgment, is to accept and condone his views. As a staunch and patriotic American I protest!

MRS. J. G. SCHUTTE.

"Poor Mr. Hughes!"

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Alma Whitaker in your Monday's edition asks "What is the matter with Rupert Hughes?" and then, in an article replete with violent superlatives, hysterical adjectives and feminine inconsequence proceeds to demonstrate her utter disqualification to reply to her own question.

For epithet is not argument, nor is railing reasoning. Sentiment is not sense, nor is an issue disposed of by labored invective. And an article in what Alma Whitaker elegantly calls "a messy little magazine", may easily be cogently effective, especially where conclusive truth is sought and not "a conclusive chorus of assorted and intelligent people," before whom Alma Whitaker tells us she "read the Hughes article aloud," to the murmured chorus of "Poor Mr. Hughes."

There is no subject on earth too sacred to be discussed. There is no belief, political or religious, whose claims are not properly open to question and rejection or acceptance.

Who is the "blasphemer" and the "atheist"? He is the fellow who differs with Alma Whitaker and "her assorted and intelligent company of people" who think they dispose of the question with their childish and idiotic "Poor Mr. Hughes." HENRY J. WEEKS.

Women's Clubs

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] At the regular meeting of the Los Angeles District Board, C. F. W. C., held on Thursday, November 5, a unanimous vote of thanks was given you for having Mrs. John D. Sherman's luncheon address of November 4 broadcasted over The Times station.

Mrs. Sherman's talk was used as a part of many club programs that afternoon and many expressions of appreciation have been received from individuals who otherwise could not have heard Mrs. Sherman. ALICE F. LANE.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE PERFECT LAND

What though the boosters, in their might, of modern Edens rave?
There is no land of pure delight
this side of Jordan's wave.
We have to cross to Paradise to find that perfect shore where no man has to swat the flies and pilgrims weep no more. In every human latitude there is some grievous flaw; in prairie land the blasts are rude, the rains are wet and raw.
On tropic isles the dreamer thinks he might in peace repose, put there the rotting seaweed stinks and chiggers bite his nose. I journeyed to a lovely land where sunshine is the boast, and there I found the people stand, a sad and grouchy host. "You should be happy as a queen," I said, "in such a place, and yet methinks a frown is seen upon each downcast face." They looked upon me through their tears and murmured, in disgust, "It hasn't rained in seven years enough to lay the dust." The traveler from parts remote tells tales of human throngs, and everywhere the wailing note is heard throughout their songs. The Eskimo alone is glad; he does not weep or curse, although the weather's always bad and daily growing worse. He doesn't credit rosy tales of lands where summer dwells, of babbling brooks and verdant vales, green leas and bosky dells. He thinks that snow is everywhere, with ice and frost and rime, so he's content and doesn't care to hunt a better
clime. WALT MASON.

HARD WORKING GIRL

Mrs. Plush frequently changes her maid. She steadily lowers her demands upon new applicants. Recently she interviewed one.

"Do I have a latchkey?"

"Yes, of course."

"Am I expected to clean the boots?"

"Only if you wish."

"Must I dust the piano?"

"Oh," said Mrs. Plush, at the end of her mildness, "only sufficiently to enable us to distinguish the black keys from the white."

FIRST LION OF SEASON BROUGHT IN

Animal Trapped at Deer Flats Wins $35 Bounty for Captor

The first mountain lion to be bagged in Southern California during the present season was brought to Los Angeles yesterday by Lester Sloan and Harry Chase, guides at Camp Baldy. They were promptly paid the special bounty of $35 offered by William S. "Bill" Hart, and the California Game and Fish Association on predatory cats.

The lion was trapped by Sloan near Deer Flats. It had killed a 160-pound three-point buck, and had dragged the carcass for more than three-quarters of a mile. The guide followed the trail and set traps about what remained of the carcass after the lion vanished. The cat was trapped when it returned to resume its meal.

The guides reported evidence of the killing of many lambs and mountain sheep in the region of Grayback and Temecula. Manager H. S. Ryerson of the Fish and Game Association stated that a definite program looking toward the extermination of the predatory animals will be pushed by the association in order to conserve the game. A State bounty of $20 is now offered on mountain lions, but Mr. Ryerson stated that the Legislature will be asked to increase that amount so that systematic hunting may be encouraged.

SEEK NEXT YEAR'S AIR RACE HERE

Aviators Tell Lions' Club Members of Advantages for Pulitzer Contest

Urging that every effort be made by Los Angeles to have the Pulitzer aviation races run here in 1926, a group of aviators, including three of the world flyers, outlined to the members of the Lions' Club at their weekly luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday the advantages that would accrue to the city if this international event can take place here.

The speakers included Lieut. Erick Nelson and Lieut. Leslie P. Arnold of world flying fame; Maj. Charles F. Willard, treasurer of the Southern California branch of the National Aeronautical Association; Lieut.-Col. Harry Graham, in charge of Rockwell Field at San Diego; Lieut. Cyrus Bettis, who took part in this year's Pulitzer races in New York, and Capt. William A. Frye of Clover Field Reserve Corps.

"Los Angeles should have these races in 1926," declared Maj. Willard, "I know that this city can put on an aviation meet second to none in the world. To get these races, however, it will be necessary for Los Angeles to establish an adequate air field."

Lieut. Graham stated that Rockwell Field at San Diego will do everything in its power to assist in getting the Pulitzer races to Los Angeles, and similar sentiments were voiced by others of the speakers.

Mann Act Case Dismissed for Arizona Charge

Charges of violating the Mann Act by bringing Mrs. Ada Wightman, 21 years of age, to Los Angeles from Globe, Ariz., a year ago, were dismissed yesterday by United States Commissioner Turney against G. J. McClellan when an action of wife desertion was filed against him in Arizona.

Mrs. Wightman, a fancy ice skater, also was released as a material witness and her $500 bond exonerated.

ICEMEN TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

Convention Votes to Raise $200,000 Fund to be Used to Educate Public

The adoption of a resolution providing that a fund of $200,000 be raised during the ensuing year for educating the public in a better method of using ice concluded the business of the convention of the National Association of Ice Industries at its closing session at the Biltmore yesterday.

It was stipulated that this money is to be raised by voluntary subscription among the companies engaged in the ice industry, and that none of it is to be expended until the full amount has been obtained.

The question of a code of ethics for the association was disposed by a suggestion on the part of the resolutions committee that this subject be taken under the advisement and study by the organization during the coming year. The adoption of such a code, it was pointed out, involves so many complexities that it was thought advisable to hold it in abeyance until next year's convention.

The subject of combinations into large unit corporations in the ice business was the principal topic dealt with in yesterday's discussions. The majority of the delegates indicated their approval of such combinations, toward which there is a decided trend in the ice industry, it was said.

The total number of registrations at this convention, which opened on the 10th inst., was 725, according to Secretary Smith. It is one of the largest conventions ever conducted by the association. The majority of the delegates will depart from Los Angeles today in two special trains.

ADVERTISING CLUBS HEAD TO GIVE TALK

C. King Woodbridge, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World and of the Dictaphone Corporation, will be the guest of the Los Angeles Advertising Club at luncheon at the Biltmore Tuesday. Delegations from the advertising clubs of Glendale, Hollywood, Long Beach, Pasadena, Santa Ana, Riverside, San Bernardino and San Diego, and from the Women's Advertising Club of Los Angeles, will be present, the Hollywood club bringing Louise Fasenda as its guest. President Woodbridge has traveled extensively since he was elected. He paid a visit to England and addressed the advertising clubs of that country, then crossed the Atlantic and the United States to attend the session of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs at Seattle. Don Francisco will preside at the luncheon.

"ELECTRIC ICE" TO GO ON THE MARKET

Announcement was made yesterday that the Delco-Light Company's system of electric refrigeration, known under the trade name of "Frigidaire," will be handled in this territory by the Southern California Edison Company. According to Ivan L. deJongh, manager of the Los Angeles sales branch, about 110,000 of the systems are now in use.

INDIANANS TO EAT PIE

One of the state events of the week will be given by the next native sons and daughters of Indiana, the evening of the 17th inst. at the Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, 845 South Figueroa street. This will be the annual pie supper. Clarence D. Lawler will be in charge. A feature will be dance numbers by Miss Gladys Margaret Huls. The latter part of the evening will be devoted to dancing, the music to be furnished by the Miles Regal Orchestra.

BREAKER OF QUARANTINE SENTENCED

Carrier of Smallpox Who Spread Disease to Twelve Given Thirty Days

Vincent Espinoza of 715 Barnard street, who broke a smallpox quarantine on his home and spread the disease to twelve persons in the neighborhood, causing the death of five, was sentenced to thirty days in the City Jail yesterday by Police Judge Pope.

City Health Officer Parrish was the principal witness against the disease-carrier. Testimony revealed that Espinoza's two children contracted small-pox on September 22, last, but that he failed to report this to the health authorities.

The children's ailment was discovered by a teacher in the school they attended and she informed the city health office. The home of Espinoza was placed under quarantine but the same day, it developed, Espinoza left home and went to a neighboring pool hall. There he played several games with Cassimiro Monego, 42 years of age of 1713 North Spring street, and Francisco Rivira, 30, of 1653 Alpine street.

They contracted the disease and died. Other deaths attributed by city health officers to Espinoza's action are those of William Bartholmew, 60, of 1640 North Alvarado street; L. Delaballade, 32, of 3528 Michigan avenue, and Mrs. M. Hawthorne, 45, of 116 East avenue Thirty-two.

Two other persons are in critical condition from the same disease and the death of one of them, an aged woman, is expected.

Move Begun to Acquire Park at Eagle Rock

Initial steps in a movement for the acquisition of a sixty-five-acre tract northeast of Eagle Rock for a city park were taken yesterday at a meeting at the City Hall of representatives of the various civic organizations of the Fourteenth District. More than a score of delegates were present from the district's civic bodies, including the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, Women's Club, Parent-Teachers' Association and the realty board. Councilman L. C. Ash from the Eagle Rock district, presided.

The tract under consideration, sometimes known as Eagle Rock Park, lies north and east of Anandale Boulevard and south and west of the Edison Road. Colorado Boulevard runs through the tract. Two-thirds of the proposed park is within the corporate limits of the city of Los Angeles. The northern portion lies within the city limits of Pasadena. Eagle Rock, a California landmark, is included in the park plan.

Committees were appointed at yesterday's meeting to determine what steps are necessary in the acquisition and definite action is expected at the next meeting of the movement to acquire the tract for a park.

Culver City Bus Driver Fined for Court Contempt

A. M. King, a Culver City bus driver, yesterday was fined $50 by Judge Shaw for contempt of court. The fine was imposed at the rate of $25 a block for two blocks King drove outside the Culver City limits one day last month. King, who formerly ran a bus line between Los Angeles and Culver City, was enjoined from doing so by the Pacific Electric a year ago.

King said the Culver City authorities asked him to drive to the city limits to pick up passengers dropped there by a Los Angeles Railway bus. The driver of this vehicle, King explained, said he had difficulty in turning in the Culver City streets and asked King to meet the bus two blocks farther out. The only time King did so, he said, he was caught.

Lawyers representing the railway contended King had threatened several times to violate the injunction.

Confession in Burglary Fails to Free Couple

A dramatic confession from the witness stand by James Murphy, burglar suspect, that he alone was guilty of the crime charged also to Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Burch failed to move Justice Russill yesterday. The three were held for trial in Superior Court, Justice Russill stating that he was not entirely convinced by Murphy's self-sacrificing assumption of all guilt.

The two men and the woman are charged with the burglary of the home of Wayne Birdsall at Graham Station last September. Murphy on the witness stand, however, declared that the Burchs were absolutely innocent of the crime, and that he was making the confession in order to save innocent persons from punishment.

Irvin, secretary of the Los Angeles Can Company, will be in charge. Allen Cutler, president of the Cutler-Lobingier Packing Company, will speak.

How You Can Help

You are helping to build a Greater Los Angeles—if you think it and love it and cater Los Angeles! You can boost home-made goods and trade in Los Angeles, if you wear things and eat things all made in Los Angeles.

The canned-goods week was such a success that it has been decided to extend it and enlarge it, making this a special food month, featuring Los Angeles-made and prepared foods. It behooves every housewife to visit the Industrial Show and become familiar with the delicacies and viands fit to grace the table of a—no, not a king—a Californian.

Send a taste of California back home for Thanksgiving in a dainty gift basket or box of Cousin Mary's flower preserves, or marmalade. All first-class grocers carry them, but if your grocer doesn't, go to 3011 S. Vermont, or phone BEacon 0159. You know they're absolutely pure — made of blossoms and sugar—violet, carnation, rose, geranium, sweet pea, orange blossom. Also four marmalades, orange blossom, sweet orange, orange grapefruit, orange pineapple.

There are two big surprises for the great majority of visitors to the Industrial exhibit of Greater Los Angeles, lower floor Chamber of Commerce Building, 12th and Broadway. One is that there are so many nationally-known and nationally advertised products made in Los Angeles and vicinity, and the other is that there are so many well-known food products made and prepared for market here.

The well-known Del Monte brand of canned goods has an attractive exhibit, which will tempt your appetite.

Members of the Federated Women's Clubs visited the Industrial Show last Monday and many were the expressions of enthusiasm over the idea of making the show a permanent institution, because of its value not only to the individual exhibitors but to Los Angeles. The special food exhibit of course was the center of attraction.

Cubbison's Cracker Company, in an exhibit of whole-wheat products has a new flaxseed cracker. It has a crispy, toasted flavor that everybody likes.

One of the most artistic exhibits is that of L. J. Christopher Company's popular chocolates.

You'll be glad to add another delicacy to your table, when you have tasted Glen Rosa Preserves. Ask the hostess to let you sample them at the Glen Rosa booth.

Send $1 bill for harmless hair remover and book, "How to Remove Wrinkles in Fifteen Minutes." Nikk-Marr Shoppe, 950 S. Figueroa.

Mere man—not a cook—was making pie crust with Grandma's Flaky Pie Crust at the Industrial Show yesterday, just to see if anybody could do it. Be sure to taste it when you visit the show.

Why order just "pickles"? Peter Piper Brand insures a pure, wholesome, deliciously flavored relish.

"Permo" everything in your home permanently mothproofed. Phone for particulars. Scientific Mothproof Co., MEtro. 4163.

A new household convenience every man and woman will be delighted to discover, is the pretty bedroom accessory called "Milady's Lingerie or Gentleman's Linen Container." It is not only pretty, but moisture-proof and washable inside and outside. They're ventilated and made in sizes most convenient for the average bedroom. They are manufactured and guaranteed by Murdoff-Cadwell Manufacturing Co., 810 Santa Fe. Send for illustrated pamphlet.

A realistic, life-size cow, two giant milk bottles with well-known Bear, effectively illustrate the Burr Creamery.

There's a new concentrated pure lemon juice shown by the Imperial Fruit Products Co., that can be used for lemonade, pies or anything for which you would use fresh lemon juice. It's so convenient and will keep indefinitely. Beauty parlors find it a wonderful convenience, too.

At the Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting at the Industrial Show yesterday, two darling little Japanese girls in their native costumes sang "America."

In large volume they buy. At cash prices they sell. That's why Chaffee's Markets can serve you so well, at less than you pay at many a store. You'll find you are getting both better and more!

Trade your favorite recipe for a twenty-five-pound sack of flour! See the Globe A-1 prize offer, back of Magazine Section Sunday.

Look around you and be informed—what excellent food products and household utilities are made and prepared for the market in California. One good place to learn is at the Industrial Show in the Chamber of Commerce Bldg. There's a special food exhibit this month.

When you're at the Postoffice you are only half a block from Mora's Grill, 107 W. Market. Not only their noon lunches, but the marvelous evening dinners will please you.

Now that cooler evenings are here and more gas stoves going, let us remember to be sure that the room in which gas is burned is well ventilated. It's just good sense to breathe pure air, instead of monoxide gas.

Simmer large prunes until soft, but whole. Stuff with Castle Cottage Cheese and nuts, serve in nest of lettuce with mayonnaise whipped cream.

The net curtains on casement windows should have a rod at top and bottom.

Brides and grooms! Here's a new idea for that first home! Daisy S. Baird, 4811 Hutington Dr., specializes in finding suitable homes for you—just the kind of cosy nest you want on terms to suit your income. Call GArfield 8940 and make an appointment with her.

When you make a bread pudding try this: A layer of the pudding mixtures, then a layer of sliced Jonathan apples, then alternate layers until the baking dish is nearly full. Sprinkle bread crumbs over the top and several bits of margarine.

Snuggle up! In one of those light, fluffy, warm silk down comforters, and a pair of Kenwood pure wool blankets from Simank Brothers, 725-727 W. Ninth st., chilly nights are a real pleasure. Phone VAndike 0767 and they will show you samples for upholstering and draperies in your own home, too.

ANNANDALE CLUB BOARD UNDER FIRE

Member Committee Calls Meeting to Pass on Deal With Realty Concern

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

PASADENA, Nov. 13.—Dissatisfied with the manner in which the board of directors of the Annandale Golf Club are running the club, a committee of members, through the secretary, John M. Hall, today called a meeting for Saturday, the 28th inst., to "determine whether or not it is to the interest, prosperity and permanency of the Annandale Golf Club that the five-year exclusive agency contract between the club and the Blankenhorn Realty Company be abrogated or approved."

Dissatisfaction among club members over contracts signed by the board of directors when Robert M. Modisette was a member of the board, with the Blankenhorn company, of which Modisette is an official and a heavy stockholder, has been growing for some time, and it is expected that those members may demand the resignation of the entire board.

In a letter sent to members of the club today by the committee headed by S. Hazard Halsted and organized to investigate the situation, it is stated that the club's property south of Colorado street was being sold by the Blankenhorn company under an exclusive five-year contract, and that the commission on the sale amounted to from 10 to 20 per cent.

The purpose of the meeting on the 28th inst., according to today's communication, is to discuss the whole question of the contracts openly and impartially, and to arrive at a just decision as to their merits.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Canned Goods

The following is taken from the official record of the United States Department of Agriculture for March 25, 1925:

"Most canned foods will stand a little freezing without appreciable change. Repeated freezing and thawing cause the goods to become flabby and give a flat taste. In all these cases the interior of the cans shows a distinct attack upon the tin. With fruits the coating of the cans is made to appear as though it were galvanized. Canned foods will resist a fair degree of heat or cold without serious injury, but continued heat or a very high temperature or repeated freezing and thawing will cause deterioration in quality. The Bureau of Chemistry is of the opinion that if the containers of frozen foods are not burst or ruptured in any way that would permit the entrance of micro-organisms such as molds, yeasts and bacterio, the food will remain wholesome and may be eaten with safety."

Asthma

Mr. C.: The diet in asthma and bronchitis is no different from the diet for normal health, unless it is found that some certain protein or other food may bring on attacks. (Laboratories give protein tests to determine which is the offender in these cases.) Overeating in general is more apt to bring on attacks than any particular food.

Asthmatic attacks are also brought about by protein that is inhaled, such as the protein from cat, dog and horse dandruff, or possibly fine particles from woolen garments or blankets, sometimes from feathers or articles of wearing apparel or furs that are worn.

Special exercises to develop the chest are indicated, and all the usual measures for normal health must be carried out. That means fresh air night and day, daily baths with a cold rubdown or shower in the morning, sufficient sleep and rest, mental control, and proper diet. You should have your nose and throat examined for abnormalities, and a general physical examination.

We have an article on balanced diet which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Reducing Gum

L.: The latest quackery under the sun is a reducing gum which contains phytolacca descendra, or poke root.

Pin not your faith to it. Phytolacca has long been discarded by the medical profession as having no effect at all on the weight, and it may be dangerous.

Don't you know how to reduce safely without having to go hungry? If not send for our booklet on the subject. (Inclose self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in stamps with request.)

Numerology

Mrs. M.: Stop worrying because the letters of your name signify failure, according to numerology.

Logically minded people put no faith whatever in numerology, astrology, palmistry and such things.

In the case of numerology, for instance, who is going to arbitrarily say, and why should number eleven vibrate to genius, and number seven to loneliness, sorrow, etc.? The so-called "science" has no foundation so it is not a science, but a pleasing pastime, if you will. If anyone would be prejudiced in favor of numerology, I should be, for my vowels vibrate to accomplishing things that no one has attempted before, and my consonants vibrate to genius. That is the way I worked it out, according to a newspaper article I read. My mathematics are sometimes rocky, so it may be possible that I'm a miserable failure, instead.

H.: Send for our article on tuberculosis and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.

My dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to Dr. Peters in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

LONG BEACH ARMY CAMP CAUSES ROW

Loss of Title to City Park Threatened as Result of R.O.T.C. Permit

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 13.—The City Council today, in the face of protests from Mrs. Fanny Bixby Spencer, pacifist, and others, granted the right to establish an R.O.T.C. military training camp in Recreation Park, this city's new 140-acre playground.

Action of the Council was based on receipt of assurance from Llewellyn Bixby, vice-president of the Alimatos Land Company that his company will not object to the establishment of such a camp in the park. The park was deeded to the city by the Alimatos Land Company and a clause in the deed provides that it must never be used for anything but park purposes, under penalty of the park reverting to the original owners. The Council was assured by Mr. Bixby that all the directors of the Alimatos Land Company have approved the establishment of a military training camp in the park.

John Arnold, leader of the pacifists opposed to the training camp, warned the Council that Mrs. Spencer's protest filed with the Council a few days ago has the legal effect of a ninety-day notice and that the Council may, by its action, put itself in the way of a suit to wrest title to the park from the city. Mrs. Spencer is a stockholder of the Alimatos Land Company, she declared in her protest against the training camp.

EXTOLS GOOD-WILL

"Turning to the subject of the relationship between Japan and the United States, I wish to say that the peace of the world hinges, to a great degree, upon the relationship of these two countries. It is hence my earnest desire that the new existing good feeling between the two countries may remain ever undisturbed.

"Japan lies on one side of the great ocean, while the United States lies on the other side each facing the other. Pacific Ocean is the intermediary between them. Japan has a history of civilization of her own and ideals and morals likewise of her own. The United States has a history and civilization of her own, and ideals and morals also of her own. They may be, perhaps, more or less, foreign to each other, yet to serve the noble purpose of advancing the good feeling of both countries, one must look upon the other with broad-minded and sympathetic view, willing to learn and understand the history, ideals and morals of each other. A relationship between any two nations, constructed upon commercial interest alone, totally disregarding the ideal and moral phases, oftentimes has brought regrettable consequences.

Friendship that lacks confidence and reliance can hardly last long.

GOVERNMENT OF TRUST

"A country may possess many respectable and admirable things which deserve fair and just consideration. Mutual understanding brings about trust, confidence and reliance. The people in this country have a government of trust and love. That is admirable. This beautiful air atmosphere seems to prevail the whole land. I noticed this distinctly wherever I have visited. This form of government is in perfect harmony with the very principle taught by the Mahayama Buddism.

"My personal experiences in this country convince me that the government and people of Japan and those of the United States stand on exactly the same principle—a principle of love, trust, justice, humanity and brotherhood. Being in perfect harmony to the fundamental principles, our countries should be able to get along side by side as two great friends. When I leave your country in January of the next year, I will do so with a pleasant memory and a hope that the future of the two countries will be ever brighter and more promising. Before closing my address, I urgently request that, when occasion arises whereby you may be interested in the study of Japan, please do not forget to look into the intellectual and spiritual side of her civilization. I again thank you for your attention."

DEDICATE TEMPLE

One hundred and fifty Japanese children between the ages of 3 and 14 years, all garbed in picturesque costumes sent here from Japan for the occasion, participated in a procession of the Chigo (Buddhist Angels) as the feature of yesterday's program of a three-day celebration at the Hongwanji Buddhist Temple.

Between 3000 and 4000 Japanese and several hundred Americans turned out to witness the impressive procession, the second of its kind ever to be conducted in Los Angeles. The Japanese swarmed the streets as the procession made its way from the temple, north on Central to Jackson street, thence west to San Pedro street, and down First street to the temple.

IN OFFICIAL COSTUMES

The children were garbed in the official Chigo costumes, the dress of the girls being red, green and white and that of the boys being blue and white. All wore golden crowns as headpieces.

The procession of the Chigo is conducted only on rare occasions in celebration of some great event. Even in Japan the procession is a rare occasion. It dates back to the reign of Emperor Kimmei in 1300. The children in the parade represented angels to protect the gospel of Buddha.

The Angels or Devas—people of Heaven—guard their Lord Buddha as he teaches his doctrine.

Little Hiroko Ohno, 4-year-old daughter of Rev. J. Ohno, chief minister of the Hongwanji Buddhist Temple, led the procession. The children marched into the temple and across the altar before the shrine of Buddha to receive their blessings.

Following the procession of Chigo a weird but impressive religious ceremony took place in the temple which was packed to overflowing. Hymns were sung in Japanese. Rev. Chosui Ike made the welcome address, during which he traced the history of the local temple and thanked the members of the congregation for their donations which brought about the construction of the temple which gives the sect here a permanent home.

Rev. Kusuhara of Japan, Rev. Ohzu, Los Angeles, Rev. Toyota, Santa Barbara, Rev. Toga, San Francisco, Rev. Ohno, Los Angeles, Rev. Moriki, Japan, and Rev. Shoi Yamada, Los Angeles, took part in the services which concluded with a sermon by Count Otani on the "Truth of Buddhism."

TWO-HOUR SERVICES

For twenty minutes the priests chanted weird prayers. This was followed by a sermon by Bishop R. Hanada of San Francisco. The services took more than two hours to complete.

The first procession of Chigo in Los Angeles was ten years ago when the Hongwanji Temple was established on Jackson street under authority from Count Otani, whose home is in Kyoto, Japan, where the head church is located.

Count Otani, of the Japanese nobility, is the highest Buddha church official of the Shin sect—the largest in Japan—to visit this country. Yesterday morning he was taken on a tour of the city, during which he visited the Fairbanks-Pickford studio, the Famous Players-Lasky studio and the famous Bernheimer Japanese gardens in Hollywood. He was guest at a luncheon at the Alexandria Hotel following the tour.

The visit of Count Otani will end tomorrow when a great memorial service will be conducted at the temple beginning in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. Count Otani also will take part in this service. The celebration will conclude with a program of Japanese dancing, music, opera and drama in the evening, beginning at 7 o'clock.

development in the vicinity of the tract he bought," said Mr. Mines. "The plot he purchased has a large strategic value, occupying the same position as the Arcade properly between Fifth and Sixth streets on Broadway does."

New buildings under construction or about to be erected in the immediate vicinity will enhance the value of the Murphy tract within the near future, Mr. Mines pointed out. Those new projects include the height-limit office building to be erected on the northeast corner of Seventh and Flower streets by the Sun Realty Company; another building of the same size and type to be erected by Edwards & Willdey at Seventh and Lebanon; two new theaters, one for William Fox and one for the Wilkes Company, to be located west of Figueroa on Seventh street, a height-limit hotel on the corner of Stuart and Hartford streets by I. Eisner, and a 1600-room hotel on the south side of Seventh street, west of Bixel street, by Joe Toplitzky.

STANDING IN COURT LOST BY CONDUCT

Plaintiff Asking Share in Ranch Declared Entitled Only to Wages

However, Joe Champagne fared in the poker games in which he admitted he had taken part, he lost his contention that he had earned a half-interest in a valuable ranch, largely as a result of having played that game, described by Judge Stephens, in his opinion, as one "with which many are acquainted but which is known by few."

Champagne was before the court to claim from T. E. Passons a half-interest in the Passons ranch near Montebello. He said that he had been employed to develop the ranch at a wage of $5 per day, with the agreement that if he made a success of the venture he would receive one-half of it.

But Passons discharged him without settling the question of interest in the property, Champagne declared.

Passons, on the other hand, said there had been no agreement other than a daily wage agreement, and that he had discharged Champagne because of immoral conduct. It was testified that Champagne had played poker and entertained women on the ranch, charges that he admitted.

This confessed conduct, Judge Stephens ruled, deprived Champagne of his standing in a court of equity, and the court declared him entitled only to his daily wage-rate pay.

Driver of Wild Truck Released in Child's Death

An inquest into the death of 3-year-old Conrad Arenson, crushed to death beneath an overturned truck at Fountain avenue and Wilton Place the 11th inst., resulted in a verdict of "unavoidable accident" yesterday. As a result Mrs. Eunice Nelson, 1205 1-2 McCadden Place, and Lloyd Stein, employed by the Hollywood Cleaners, 2693 North Beechwood Drive, who drove the truck, were released from custody.

The boy, who was seated on a tricycle at the time of the accident, was killed, and his mother, Mrs. Rosella Arenson, 1501 North Wilton Place, was injured when the truck turned over on them after a collision with an automobile driven by Mrs. Nelson. Mrs. Arenson is in a critical condition at the Hollywood Hospital suffering from a basal skull fracture. The inquest was held at the W. C. Draper Undertaking Company.

TRAFFIC-TAG "FIXERS" GIVEN HEAVY FINES

Professed "fixers" of traffic tags were dealt a blow yesterday in Justice Scott's court when he fined Harry Cohen $50 and J. J. Davis, former special officer at the Terminal Market, $100, the former for attempting to have a tag fixed, the latter for saying he could fix one.

Bed Alvarado, another professed fixer, is in the City Jail in connection with the Cohen case. Sam Cohen, it was testified, got the tag in the first place, and turned it over to Harry, who is said to have said Alvarado $12 to take care of it. It was testified Davis took $15 from T. Ota and $10 from I. Wada on the pretense of having their tags cancelled, and that the transaction was discovered when Ota and Wada had to appear and pay fines.

HOLD-UP OF LODGE FOILED

Deputies go to Pomona Resort After Confession of Desperate Plot Revealed by Suspect

With the confession of a weird and desperate robbery plot in their possession, Deputy Sheriffs Modle and Dewar yesterday afternoon traveled to Silver Peak Lodge, near Pomona, in the hope of locating the rendezvous of a bandit gang that, the officers were told, planned to rob guests at the lodge Armistice night and baffle pursuit by blowing up the roads leading to the place.

The robbery plot was brought to light, say the officers, following the arrest early last Wednesday of Robert Wilson, alias Albert Moran, an ex-convict, by Deputy Constable Smith of Whittier.

Officer Smith was called to a point about five miles from Whittier on the Whittier-Pomona road by W. E. Fennell, Santa Fe railroad agent at Los Nietos. Fennell told the deputy Constable that he was held up by two men earlier in the morning when he stopped by a wrecked car to offer assistance. The two men forced him to drive them to Walnut, threatening his life if he made an outcry. At Walnut, one drove away in his car and the other forced him to accompany him to a ranch house, where the bandit made arrangements to have the wrecked car pulled out of a ditch. While the rancher was attempting to pull the bandit automobile out Fennell got an opportunity to telephone the constable and Wilson's arrest followed.

Deputy Sheriffs Dewar and Modle found that the big car in the ditch belonged to Abe Meeking, living at the Hotel Californian, who had placed the car in rental service. Meeking told the officers that the men had rented his car and that he drove them to various places in the city. Finally, near Santa Monica, they held him up, forced him to occupy a rear seat and eventually threw him out about fifteen miles from Los Angeles on Ventura Boulevard.

After Meeking had identified him, say the officers, Wilson evinced a desire to talk and confessed, they said, that he and the other bandit were the leaders of a gang that planned to rob the guests of Silver Peak Lodge. They hired Meeking's car to round up the members of their gang and arranged to meet them near Puente. When Meeking's machine skidded into the ditch, Wilson's companion had in his possession a four-ounce bottle of nitro-glycerin, the bandit declared, that was to have been used to blow up the road leading to the lodge after the robbery.

Wilson's failure to appear at the bandits' meeting place, the officers think, probably aroused the suspicions of the rest of the gang and the robbery of the lodge was abandoned. However, Dewar and Modle believe that the bandits may have been afraid to return to Los Angeles and one of them is known to have disappeared in Fennell's car. They hoped to locate traces of the car or bandits near the lodge, last night.

NAMED AS GUARD SLAYER

Asserted Super-Burglar Held Here Going East to Face Charge of Murder in Jail Break

Harry H. Wood, asserted super-burglar under arres there, has been definitely identified as one of the four convicts who broke out of a Philadelphia penitentiary in November, 1923, in a gun fight which cost the lives of two prisoners and a guard, police announced yesterday.

The fugitive's identity, police stated, was established by his fingerprints and circulars broadcast over the nation at the time of his escape. These revealed that Hood was the only member of the quartet of convicts to make good his get-away. Two of his pals were shot to death in their tracks after they had brought down the guard. The third man was recaptured and is now serving a life term for the guard's murder.

The suspect is credited by police with more than a score of robberies here, in Pasadena and in Long Beach in the past few months in which plunder running into thousands of dollars was obtained. In spite of this, detectives said, Hood will not be prosecuted here but will be taken back to Philadelphia to stand trial there for the guard's slaying.

Records revealed, according to detectives, that Hood, under the alias of Emil J. Brody, was sentenced to a long term in the eastern State penitentiary in 1920 on fifteen counts of burglary. The suspect was picked up here by Detective Lieutenants Harris and Elaner after a long investigation into the series of burglaries, all similar in execution, here and in outlying cities and towns.

As a result of Hood's arrest, the detectives said, a great part of the plunder obtained has been recovered.

Protest Storm Meets Proposed Long Beach Law

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 13.—Seeing City Attorney Mason's proposed ordinance defining the powers and jurisdiction of the Long Beach Harbor Commission a proposal to curtail the authority of the people's duely elected representative in the Council and give it to appointed officials, city Councilmen at today's meeting denounced the proposed measure in no uncertain terms and held it up.

On motion of Councilman Evans, the matter was referred to a committee appointed by the Mayor, the committee to report its findings at next Friday's meeting. Councilmen Tucker, Callahan and Condit were named on the committee.

The ordinance as proposed, would give the Long Beach Harbor Commission, a newly created body, jurisdiction, not only over harbor waters, docks and wharf but would extend it to cover the proposed industrial district extending several blocks north of Anaheim street, it is stated. In arguing for the adoption of the ordinance Councilman Filmore Condit declared that the United States Government will not entrust the aldermen of New York City with harbor funds and that it is not likely that the Government thinks more of the Long Beach Council than it does of the city fathers of Gotham.

She was given a divorce from James Parmalee Lynch by Judge Summerfield yesterday.

Mrs. Lynch set forth that she had married him in 1921, when he was using the name of Leroy, which was that of his stepfather who lived in Denver. A few months later they had been married again under the name of Lynch.

"I can forgive almost anything," said Mrs. Lynch, "and he has given me enough to forgive—all except his affair with the other woman.'"

She had named as corespondent Mrs. Iva Litell. She declared that detectives had found Lynch and Mrs. Litell together at Santa Barbara. Litell already had obtained a divorce, she testified.

Judge Summerfield granted her plea. She was represented by Attorney Newton J. Kendall.

ILLS PUT ON INABILITY TO FOCUS MIND

Roth Tells Masons Bane of Modern Business Man Consists of Inattention

"It is not incapability but inattention, unwillingness to focus the mind on the business at hand that is the cause of so much embarrassment and so many failures in the social and business worlds," declared David Roth in an address given yesterday before the Masonic Club at the Alexandria Hotel.

"There is virtually no limit to the capacity of the human mind to develop its various factors and attributes," said Mr. Roth. "The average man employs only from 10 to 25 per cent of his mental ability. In regard to memory, modern psychological experiments have exploded the old theory that the storing of many impressions in the mind is a detriment to intellectual development and that the memory will collapse under the burden. On the contrary, the memory, like other faculties, requires exercise for growth."

Irving Mitchell, president of the Masonic Club, announced that the first luncheon at the new club building on Grand avenue will be on the 18th inst., when Maj. C. C. Mosley will speak on "The Development of Aeronautics." A banquet for members only will be given at the new club on the evening of the 25th inst.

All Masons, whether members or not are invited with their ladies, to visit the club on the afternoon and evening of the 27th inst. The evening program, on that date, will include an entertainment by the Ladies' Orchestra, with Alice Mortimer directing, and selections by the Hollenbeck Chanters and the Golden West Commandery Band. On the evening of the 30th inst., a smoker will be given at the club building.

GAS CAUSES EXPLOSION IN THEATER

Engineer Injured as Blast Follows Attempt to Light Extinguished Pilot Torch

A gas explosion yesterday in the basement of the Majestic Theater caused several hundred dollars damage to the boilers and the walls. T. J. Kellingsworth, 39 years of age, stationary engineer at the theater, was slightly injured in the blast, which knocked him unconscious.

He had gone into the basement yesterday morning to light the gas under one of the boilers. The pilot light had become extinguished in some manner during the night. A gas pocket formed and when Kellingsworth applied a match to the light a heavy explosion resulted. It was stated at the theater that the damage was relatively slight, though the blast shook the building.

Asserted Rum Runner Ready to Drop Appeal

Frank Kubota, sentenced to serve two years and pay a $7500 fine as owner of a boat asserted to have landed liquor on the wharf of the Curtis Packing Company at Long Beach, appeared yesterday before Judge McCormick and said he is about ready to abandon his appeal and begin serving his sentence.

Kubota was convicted with Alexander B. Stewart, Long Beach millinoaire, and others.

He was out on $25,000 bond until he was surrendered recently by his sureties, Mrs. Ella Green and Mrs. Ivy D. Jividen. These women were indicted Thursday, charged with perjury in making a false report of their property holdings. Kubota testified when he was surrendered that he had paid $5500 for the bail.

Fires Destroy Garages, Auto and Residence

Four garages, an automobile and a shed at 725 Ridgewood street, owned by Mrs. Mae L. Payne, were destroyed by fire yesterday. The blaze started from an incinerator. Loss was placed at $3000.

Sparks from an incinerator started a fire, which destroyed a one-story frame dwelling at 2122 Bonsallo avenue, owned by Mrs. T. J. Auble and occupied by J. M. Andreaz. Loss amounted to $2000. Damage estimated at $1500 was done to a one-story frame dwelling at 134 South Avenue 50, owned and occupied by Mrs. Frank Haup. A defective gas heater is blamed.

CARMEN TO MEET AGAIN AT BAY CITY

Street Railway Body in Final Session Discusses Undue Traffic Delay

San Francisco was chosen as the next convention city of the California Electric Railway Association at the closing session of their meeting here at the Alexandria yesterday. The next convention will be in May, 1926.

Yesterday's session resolved itself into a series of informal discussions by the four sections of which the association is composed. The subject of undue delays in the operation of street cars was the topic in which most interest was displayed. The consensus of the street railway men was that delays in street car traffic usually are due to the encroachment of other vehicles on the car tracks, the remedy for which must be sought in the adoption of stricter traffic regulations by municipalities.

Each section's discussion ended with the election of a chairman for the ensuing year. R. B. Hill of the Los Angeles Railway was elected chairman for the superintendents' section; Frank Miller of the Sacramento Short Line for the engineering section; Ben S. Allen, of the Key System Transit Company of Oakland for the public relations section; and C. Fennimore of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, for the storekeepers' section.

During the afternoon the delegates, who represented all the interurban and city street car lines of the State, inspected the new subway tunnel of the Pacific Electric Railway Company in Los Angeles, and later the shops of the Los Angeles Railway Company.

Calawaii Docks at Port Tonight From Honolulu

According to radio advices received from Capt. A. A. Sawyer by officials of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, the S.S. Calawaii will dock at Wilmington at 6:30 this evening. The passenger list comprises the usual percentage of tourists who have taken the three weeks' round-trip from Los Angeles to the Hawaiian Islands aboard the popular liner, and residents of the islands, many of whom are coming to the mainland to remain for the holiday season or to spend a week at Christmas shopping before returning home on the Calawaii when she sails again for Hawaii on Saturday next.

In fulfillment of the prediction of an unusually heavy tourist trade to Southern California and the Hawaiian Islands this winter, reservations for the sailings of the Calawaii next week already number over 100, stated R. F. Cullen, general passenger agent for the steamship company, and reports from ticket and tourist offices indicate a large passenger list for the 'Christmas Voyage," of the S. S. City of Los Angeles from Los Angeles on December 5.

Physical Test to be Made of ex-Councilmen

A thorough physical examination of Charles E. Downs and Joseph Fitzpatrick, former Councilmen convicted of bribery, was ordered yesterday by Judge Hahn of the Superior Court. The examination is to determine whether jail fare and confinement have so effected the well-being of the two former officials as to make their admission to bail necessary.

Through his counsel, Downs Thursday appealed that he be allowed his liberty on bail pending the outcome of his and his fellow ex-Councilman's appeal from their conviction and sentence to one to fourteen years at San Quentin. In his petition, Downs stated that he was suffering physically and had broken out in a rash from the meals. Dr. Benjamin Blank, County Jail physician, will make the examination of the two men and report his findings to the court.

SILLIKS SOUGHT TO CLOSE UP ESTATE

Florence Sillik and her daughter, Florence Jane, are being sought, according to a letter received by The Times. The pair were last heard of in this city several years ago. The mother was an actress at that time. The daughter now is about 13 or 14 years of age. The settlement of an estate depends upon finding them, according to Mrs. Charles E. Kemper, 5224 Lyons avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

JAPANESE HIGH PRIEST SPEAKS

Emperor's Brother-in-Law Guest at KHJ

Explains Faith of Eastern Intellectuals

Talented Groups Present Day's Programs

BY PAUL SHEEDY

Radioland last night had the unique experience of hearing over the air one of the most prominent figures in Japan of the present day—Sonyu Ohtani, head of the Mahayama Buddhism, the religion of the intellectuals, and brother-in-law of the reigning Emperor of Japan. Here in Los Angeles, for the dedication of the new Buddhist temple, he talked before KHJ'S microphone early in the evening.

Briefly telling of his faith, which predominates in the eastern empire, he addressed himself first to his countrymen in Southern California, as he speaks only Japanese, but a full interpretation of his brief remarks immediately followed, showing the attitude of his people toward promoting better feeling between these two countries guarding the opposite shores of the Pacific Ocean. He also spoke Briefly of his home at Kyoto, Japan, the home of all the Buddhist missions of the Hongwanji sect, of which he is the titular head.

LORE OF THE TRAIL

Following this brief talk, Gladys De Witt, widely known authority on the lore of the old Santa Fe Trail, made her weekly appearance at the tower studio, speaking particularly on the romance that envelopes Havasu and the "People of the Blue Water," the canyon of entrancing beauty that is the most prominent tributary of the Grand Canyon itself. It was on the mighty rock walls of this cleft that were found the ancient picture writings recently uncovered by scientific parties, telling of a civilization in this district more antique than had hitherto been conjectured, some of the drawings being untold ages old. It was here in this inner canyon, back on the small flat areas, that the once mighty but now fast vanishing tribe of the "People of the Blue Water" lived, their lives being interwoven with these vistas of forgotten centuries as depicted on the canyon walls.

WESTERN AUTO ENTERTAINS

Last evening's special concert from 8 until 10 o'clock, was given through the courtesy of the radio department of the Western Auto Supply Company, honoring their Western Air Patrol receiver, and presenting a fine array of radio talent, featuring the instrumental music of the Titian Trio, favorite musicians who frequently appear on the matinee programs, having also played on the afternoon hour yesterday. The vocal portion of the evening was especially fine, with Edward Novis, baritone, and Lenore Killian, both prominent artists of the city's colony, giving several groups of excellent selections, with Lilyan Ariel, concert pianist, as accompanist. Gladys Burch Dale, violinist, again displayed her talents in solo work, with Uncle Remus and his inimitable dialogues lending a humorous touch to the program.

Many of the station's prominent juvenile stars appeared on the children's hour, which had the unusual feature in the music of S. J. Vitale and his juvenile orchestra, with "Sir Richard" Headrick, screen juvenile; Catherine Cotter, the "Sweetheart of Radioland;" L. D. Moore, 4-year-old reader; [illegible] and talk on history.

POPULAR GROUP

The matinee of the Pacific States Electric Company had a group of the popular entertainers, including the Titian Trio, who played a varied series of compositions; Karl Brandenberg, always a favorite with his tenor solos, and Grace Currey, well-known harpist, who regularly broadcasts from the studio. The noon concert was given by Rod Loring and his Oaks Tavern Orchestra, featuring Betty Abbott, the girl with the baritone voice, that has attracted so much attention.

Preparations are being made at KPSN, the new radio station in Pasadena, owned by the Pasadena Star-News, for a distinctive program for the night of Monday, the 23rd inst., when the new station will be formally opened. Well-known musicians and other notables will take part. The complete program will be announced in a few days.

KPSN will have a wave length of 315.5 meters. The station is 1000 watts. George Cecil Cowing of the Star-News staff, has been appointed as director and chief announcer of KPSN. Associated with him on KPSN staff will be Forbes W. Van Why, radio engineer; George Frenger, program department, and P. C. Pryor, studio office.

The attention of the Bureau of Standards has again been called to the frequent misuse of its name in connection with the sale of dry batteries for radio receiving sets. Claims have been made by some dealers and factory representatives that the superiority of their particular brands of dry batteries has been shown by tests made at the Bureau of Standards. Tests of batteries, including the dry-cell A and B batteries for radio use, are made at the bureau in accordance with government specifications.

These tests are made to aid the departments of the government in the purchase of batteries and to help each manufacturer to improve his product. The bureau does not publish the results of its tests, nor does it inform any manufacturer of the results of its tests on other manufacturers' batteries. Therefore statements that any make or brand of battery is superior as shown by tests made at the Bureau of Standards are unwarranted.

PLEA NEARLY WON EXCEPT IT WAS OLD

Tale of Debts and Direful Want Moved Judge Until He Discovered Vintage

A tear-inspiring plea that his wife's death three years ago had saddled him with a $1700 debt and that his grandmother and child were in want, almost gained the sympathy of the court yesterday for Warner S. Reynolds, 27 years of age, accused of forging a compensation check, but——

Another judge less than three years ago had heard the same story when Reynolds was hailed into Superior Court on a charge of passing bad checks and granted him probation.

United States Judge McCormick commented on the situation, saying [illegible] probation than any other class."

He ordered Reynolds to pay the amount of the forged compensation order, $57.50, back to Fred B. Shore, 805 East Fifth street, from whose house it had been taken while Reynolds was on a visit, and sentenced him to year and a day in the Los Angeles County Jail.

Council Seeks Committee on Rapid Transit

The personnel of the Rapid Transit General Committee was discussed yesterday at a conference of Councilmen and the names of about thirty-five prominent citizens presented. While Chairman Moore stated that the personnel of the committee would not be announced until next week, it is believed that Mayor Cryer and William G. McAdoo, formerly Secretary of the Treasury, will head the list.

From the general committee, of about forty, will be selected an executive committee of a limited number, which will proceed to study plans for city transportation. The Kelker-De Leuw report, submitted last April, will form the basis of the discussions.

CLUB HOME PLANNED AT UNIVERSITY

Campaign to be Started for $80,000 Masonic House on Westwood Site

An extensive campaign is being begun this week by the Masonic Club of the University of California, Southern Branch, for funds for an $80,000 clubhouse to be built on the university site in Westwood. The building will be at the disposal of the general student body as well as all Masonically affiliated students. It is estimated that there are 1000 Masons and first relatives of Masons at the Southern Branch.

The campaign will be called to the attention of all Masonic lodges in Southern California. It is planned to raise the money by subscription and by dances, teas and other affairs. Arema and Ptah Kheppera, clubs composed of Masonically affiliated students, will assist in the campaign.

Judge Thompson is president of the club, James W. Marsh, professor in the mechanic arts department of the Southern Branch, vice-president; Dr. C. H. Robison, university examiner, treasurer, and Elmer E. Beckman, assistant to the director of the Southern Branch, secretary. The board of directors is composed of Frank X. Pfaffinger, Charles F. Stern, S. Y. Tully, Perry W. Weidner, C. E. Toberman, Charles F. Martin and Marshall F. McComb.

J. STUART BLACKTON NOW PRODUCING FOR FIRM

By Grace Kingsley

An interesting bit of news emanating yesterday from the Warner Brothers' Studio was to the effect that J. Stuart Blackton has now become a member of the Warner Brothers' organization, and will in the future produce directly for them instead of having a separate unit merely releasing through the Warner exchanges.

Commodore Blackton will continue his program schedule of four pictures a year, but they will be released as a part of that firm's yearly program. In this way Blackton's pictures will be sold to the various exhibitors and enjoy the same privileges as the regular Warner features, instead of being handled as a separate unit. They will be shown in all the Warner theaters and will be included in all of their forty-picture privileges.

"The Bride of the Storm" is the first of these Blackton productions. It is adapted from James Francis Dwyer's novel, "Maryland, My Maryland," and is to be released about the first of the year. The principals are Dolores Costello and John Harron, with Tyrone Power, Otto Matthieson, Sheldon Lewis and Julia Swayne Gordon in the cast. This is the second feature to be made by Blackton since his own company, the Vitagraph Company, was taken over by the Warners. The first, "The Gilded Highway," was made when Blackton headed his own unit, and will be released as his own production.

The new agreement takes effect immediately. The commodore is now preparing for his next feature, the name of which will be announced shortly.

Charles Emmett Mack Signs

The much-discussed question as to what actor could best portray the leading male role in Benjamin Christianson's first picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has been settled. Charles Emmett Mack, D. W. Griffith's discovery, yesterday was chosen by Louis B. Mayer for the featured lead in the picture, which is to be called "The Light Eternal."

Phyllis Haver in It

Once more those bosom friends of Sennett days, Marie Prevost and Phyllis Haver, are to play together in a film. Miss Haver, indeed, is traveling up to the heights of screen fame at a rapid pace these days. She has just signed a contract to do her third consecutive picture for the Warner Brothers. This time Phyllis will be the "other woman," but it won't be as bad as it sounds, because her close friend, Marie Prevost, is playing the leading feminine role in "Other Women's Husbands." Marie and Monte Blue are costarred, while Phyllis is the "other woman" and Huntley Gordon the "other man." Production will start Monday at the studio under the direction of Erle Kenton. Edmund Lowe, Jr., has adapted his own story to the screen for this special picture, which marks the renewal of the costarring association of Monte Blue and Marie Prevost.

It looks as if Phyllis is out to repeat her enviable record at Famous Players-Lasky, where she scored four consecutive hits in as many pictures recently. She made her debut at the Warner Brothers with Marie Prevost and Matt Moore in "The Cave Man," followed this role immediately with one of the leading feminine roles opposite John Barrymore in "Don Juan," and had scarcely finished her work in this production when she was signed for "Other Women's Husbands."

F.B.O. Is Busy

Several new productions are starting at the F.B.O. Studios. A football story, as yet untitled, will be an early starring vehicle for "Lefty" Flynn, in which Flynn as a football luminary can do his stuff. You remember that Flynn was formerly a famous football player at Yale.

"The King of the Turf" is the name of a picture which James Hogan will direct. It is a story written by Joseph Louis Vance and John C. Brownell and adapted by J. Grubb Alexander. The company plans to leave for Tia Juana in a few days to begin filming some of the race scenes, and it is understood that a number of important racing men will assist in the work. The cast has not yet been engaged.

New stories announced for production at F.B.O. by B. P. Fineman, general manager, are: "Bright Lights," by Fred Kennedy Myton for Evelyn Brent; "The Tough Guy," by Frank M. Clifton, in which Fred Thomson will be starred; "So This Is Mexico," by James Bell Smith, featuring Richard Talmadge; "The Wild Bull of the Campus," starring "Lefty" Flynn; "The Fate of the Wolf," for Tom Tyler and "The News Buster," for Bob Custer.

Other published and original stories are being purchased and prepared by F.B.O.'s editorial staff under the supervision of J. G. Hawks, scenario editor, and John C. Brownell, home office scenario head.

Billy Dooley Cavorts

Billy Dooley has gone to work at the Christie studio on his third comedy in the year's series, which will feature the former Orpheum comedian as "A Salty Sap." Dooley has a new leading lady in Amber Norman, a pretty blonde, and the second light-haired siren to join the Christie ranks this year. The other is Marian Andre, a Russian actress. Another addition to the company is Aileen Lopez, a Spanish beauty who will appear in some of the new Christie pictures.

Casualties occurring in connection with the laugh pagers are reported. Fred Peters, the biggest member of the company, who was hurt three months ago when appearing in a Jimmie Adams comedy, is at last out of the hospital and is to return to the studio within a few weeks. Walter Hiers has taken the splints from his injured fingers and will be able to resume the comedy which was stopped two months ago at the time of his accident.

Jack Gilbert Leaves

John Gilbert has left for New York, where he will attend the opening of "The Big Parade" on the evening of November 19, at the Astor Theater.

Mrs. Jack Holt Travels

Mrs. Jack Holt and her two children, Tim and Betty, have left Hollywood for an extended visit in the East.

They will go direct to New York where they will remain a couple of weeks while Mrs. Holt does her winter shopping and sees the new shows. From New York they will journey to the home of Mrs. Holt's father at Wolf Neck Farms, one of the oldest and largest estates in New England, located on Casco Bay, near Portland, Me.

Jack, who started work yesterday on "Sea Horses," his latest starring picture for Paramount, will join his family before Christmas if work on the production is completed in time for him to make the trip. The Holt family will return to Hollywood shortly after the first of the year.

Bands of Indians, cowboys, Sheriffs and soldiers have been chasing Raymond Griffith over and around most of the mountain crags and deserts of California during the last week in the filming of scenes for his newest picture, "Hands Up." The making of the picture is going on at a furious pace under the direction of Clarence G. Badger.

William De Mille today entered the final week of filming of "The Splendid Crime," which is Violet Clark's adaptation of his own original story. Bebe Daniels, Neil Hamilton, Anne Cornwall and Anthony Jowitt are featured players in this "different" crook story.

TWO-PIANO RECITAL DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Fine Ensemble Marks Program of Sisters at Ebell Club

A two-piano recital that proved delightful in many ways was given at the Ebell Club auditorium Thursday evening by Elizabeth and Frances Copeland, artist pupils of Olga Steeb.

A concert of this nature gives one an opportunity to hear some of those lovely gems of piano literature which are not generally heard, such as the Mozart "Sonata in D Major," which was an outstanding number on last evening's program. The first movement of this was especially pleasing. In the last movement the lovely melodic passages were particularly noteworthy.

A fine ensemble characterized the entire evening's performance, not only as regards the actual playing of the notes themselves, but also in relation to the phrasing and expression. In addition to the Mozart sonata, numbers of special note were the Scherzo, by Saint-Saens, which was in turn both weird and rollicking in measure, and the Impromptu, by Reinecke, which evinced glittering passages that vied with those of more somber mood.

The Gavotte and Musette, by Raff, opened the program. Other numbers included the Waltz, by Arensky; "Rolling Fire" (Duvernoy,) and the spirited closing number, the fascinating "Spanish Rhapsody," by Chabrier, which was also highly entertaining.

The fact that these talented young artists are sisters gave an additional note of interest to the evening's performance.

Charlotte Is Preparing for Santa Claus

Charlotte Treadway has a brand new pastime.

And with Christmas approaching on motorcycle she is busy making gifts. Between rehearsals of the "Song and Dance Man," which follows "Strange Bed Fellows" at the Morosco and performances she is just about the busiest young person in the business. Right now she is studying a part that would scare any other person and yet she finds time to make the daintiest Christmas gifts imaginable.

Others in the cast of "Strange Bed Fellows" are Gavin Gordon, Joseph Eggenton, Jane Morgan, J. Morris Foster, Ann McKay, Fannie Yantis, Richard La Salle and Glenda Farrell.

De La Motte Featured in Forum Film

The Forum Theater presents for the week beginning today the Metropolitan Pictures Corporation production of "The People vs. Nancy Preston," a story of the underworld featuring Marguerite de la Motte and John Bowers, with a supporting cast including David Butler, William V. Mong, Frankie Darro, Alphons Ethier, Jackie Saunders and others. Also, a new Christie comedy featuring Walter Hiers will be shown together with various novelties and the ensemble orchestra conducted by Ted Henkel.

NOVARRO IS STAR OF BOULEVARD FEATURE

"The Midshipman" opened a four-day run at the West Coast Boulevard Theater yesterday. The story is a natural product of Naval Academy life. It concerns itself with the decision of a young man (played by Ramon Novarro) to follow in the professional footsteps of his father.

Ramon Novarro's performance is clear cut and carried out with a fine military dignity. Harriet Hammond makes a thoroughly acceptable leading lady, and others who contribute to the welfare of the picture are Wesley Barry, Margaret Dedom, Crawford Kent, Kathleen Key and others of note. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur officiated quite satisfactorily in the graduation scenes.

NEW THEATER IS INVITING

Premiere of Figueroa Mecca for Throngs

'Road to Yesterday' Opening Attraction

Players Enjoy Particular Approval of Audience

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Ablaze with the lights that betoken the festivities of the premiere, the new Figueroa Theater last night was the center of interest for the residents of the southern section of the city, and also for first night filmgoers. Cecil B. De Mille's "Road to Yesterday," the first production that he has made as the head of his own independent company, was the opening presentation for the new picture playhouse, which is located just beyond Exposition Park.

The glowing radiance of the illumination spread a warmth that was attractive, and residents of the neighborhood, as well as casual sightseers thronged the corner of Figueroa street and Santa Barbara avenue, where the theater is located. There was much of that aspect of excitement and dazzle that usually attends a theatrical event that is out of the ordinary, with the something of the carnival spirit added.

The Figueroa Theater represents an interesting pioneering enterprise, in that it is planned as a first-run theater in a thickly populated section hitherto dependent for its entertainment on pictures that have previously shown at the downtown houses. Whether this hope is completely realized or not—and judging from the way things are now progressing toward suburban districts, it very well may be—the theater is an attractive fulfillment in design and construction. The exterior adheres to the mission style in very inviting fashion, while the interior of the theater has both an intimacy and beauty that should prove very alluring to the public in quest of that enjoyment afforded by pictures, as well as music and other added entertainment.

Fred Miller deserves especial credit for the taste that he has evinced in providing such an excellent ensemble of permanent features to appeal to the theatergoer. He was the host of the occasion and received many greetings and floral tributes. The Figueroa, of course, is the most pretentious house that has yet been completed as part of the Far West Theaters, Inc., of which he is president.

PRETENTIOUS CHARACTER

An initial picture attraction made by De Mille naturally has a character of the pretentious, and the stage presentation that accompanied, with the exception of the usual hitches and delays that might be anticipated with a theater opening, was in the main very creditable. It might, however, be just as well to eliminate the culmination of the prologue, which shows the head of De Mille himself appearing in effigy in the midst of somewhat historic setting.

Errors of judgment and taste are occasionally characteristic of theater openings, and for this reason may be passed over, as they are generally only to be observed by the first audience attending.

The main thing, as a rule, is the nature of that entertainment, which is likely to be seen by those subsequently attending, and while "The Road to Yesterday," as a picture, may not be entirely an auspicious choice to fling forth a blaze of glory, it has at least the merit of being spectacular and to reflect some excellent performances, particularly by Vera Reynolds and Joseph Schildkraut. Interesting also in many respects, is the promise held forth by William Boyd, whom De Mille brings forward as the featured player in this picture.

The picture is an adaptation of an old-time stage play of the same name, and it does not entirely live down this antique tradition. A theme of reincarnation has been incorporated, but even that cannot be justly termed an entirely popular one nowadays. The title "The Road to Yesterday" is hardly the brightest one to choose to institute a new undertaking such as Mr. De Mille has embarked on. It is rather too good as meat for the smart-crackers.

TRAIN WRECK APPLAUDED

At the same time, after a slow beginning the picture works up to a considerable pitch of excitement with the train wreck—one of the most realistic that has ever been filmed, and evidencing De Mille's technical skill at its best. This episode was applauded last night.

The cut-back—inevitable in a De Mille picture—is much more elaborate as to length than usual, and evolves eventually into a duel between the heroine's protector and a mercenary nobleman who wants to marry her, as well as a lurid witch-burning.

There is a religious theme in the picture too that is rather crudely handled, and could just as well perhaps have been dispensed with because the interest does not center on the two characters involved, as strongly as on the other pair in the foursome.

In any event, no picture by De Mille can be entirely disappointing, though this is not in line with his better achievements. I was as much favorably impressed with the costume episodes as any, because this indicates a change in the De Mille style from the so-called society plays to which he formerly gave so much attention to a type more romantic that may fulfill itself in an interesting way later on.

Vera Reynolds has decided versatility of expression, and also gains much sympathy by her portrayal. The acting of Schildkraut is occasionally too much like acting but his technique is always superior. Boyd's work is very effective in some of the more dramatic sequences of the opening, and also in the duel episode. Casson Ferguson does some very acceptable character acting. Jetta Goudal rose to her best height in the scene of the witch-burning. Trixie Friganza is a capital presence.

The scenario was written by Beulah Marie Dix and Jeanie Macpherson.

Robert G. Vignola is completing the cutting and editing of "Fifth Avenue," which he directed for Helasco productions. He plans a month's vacation when it is finished, though he says that he may be tempted to forego it if plans of a producer who is negotiating for his services come to fruition before then.

SEEK TO SEIZE GEM FORTUNE

Attorneys Attempt to Tie Up $300,000 Cohn Jewels

Valuables Supposed to be in Local Bank Box

Rest of Missing Million Has Been Recovered

Ancillary proceedings to uncover and hold, $300,000 in gems believed secreted in a safety deposit box in a local bank and which are thought to be a portion of $1,000,000 worth of jewels missing from the bankrupt stock of Harry A. Cohn, a New York jewelry dealer, were started yesterday in United States District Court.

A petition filed by a local firm of attorneys seeks a restraining order against the bank and Harry Arnow, now under arrest in New York for concealing the assets of a bankrupt, and asks permission to examine a number of Los Angeles residents who are believed to have purchased a portion of the missing valuables.

Arnow, according to the suit, rented the safety-deposit box on October 20, last, and was taken into custody immediately upon his arrival in New York following his departure from this city on the 3rd inst. The petition asks that he and the bank be restrained from opening the box or permitting anyone else to examine the contents until it has been established by buyers of some of the jewelry that its hoard is part of the bankrupt stock.

The suit was filed on request of Kenneth E. Walser, receiver appointed by the United States court in New York after the filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against Cohn last month.

Attorneys representing Walser in the action yesterday reported that the deposit box had been found by private detectives who had trailed Arnow across the continent and shadowed his movements after they had received word that the gems had been delivered to him.

From the same source the information was obtained yesterday that the National Jewelers Board of Trade has recovered slightly less than $700,000 of the $1,000,000 in jewels Cohn is reported to have obtained on credit before the crash came.

RODEO WAGE CONFERENCE SET TODAY

Further Complications Are Caused by Government's Claim for $2500

An effort to adjust wage claims of eighty performers at the recent rodeo in Ascot Park will be made today in the local offices of the State Labor Bureau. Deputy Commissioners Barker and Lowy, representing the cowboys, cowgirls and Indians will conduct a conference this morning with officials of the California Bank, Addison P. Day, one of the promoters named in the complaints; Thomas W. Bell, representing the attaching creditors, and Deputy Macey of the Federal internal revenue office.

The settlement, which has been pending several days, during which approximately 100 performers stampeded the Labor Bureau, was further complicated at a conference yesterday between the deputy commissioners and Day and others when Macey said the government is seeking $2500 of the promoter's remaining assets as admission taxes.

Today's conference will be conducted, Lowy announced, for the purpose of determining which, if any, of the present creditors shall get the $6800 assets now in sight. Of this amount, he said, $4400 is represented by a cashier's check, which was given to one of the men to pay wages but was never honored because a printing company attached the funds. The printing bill amounts to approximately $6000, according to Lowy, while wage claims total $8800.

The bank will be represented today to get instruction as to which of the claimants shall be paid if the matter is amicably settled. If an agreement is not reached, Lowy stated, he will probably carry the case to the civil courts to win a preference for the unpaid performers.

The raids were made under supervision of Police Sergeants Simpson and Sweetman.

Alhambra Boys Feared Lost on Mountain Hike

Somewhere in the hills or canyons near Mt. Baldy, two Alhambra youths, Spencer Clarke and Frank Caswell, are either having the time of their lives or are in need of help. The boys respectively, 15 and 16 years of age, ran away last Tuesday and have not been seen since they left a stage at Upland and set out on a trail into the mountains.

Mrs. Dora Clarke, 1621 South Seventh street, Alhambra, a widow and mother of the younger boy, laid the situation before Alhambra and Upland police and they have sent out word of the venturesome undertaking. Young Clarke left a note saying he would meet his mother in Camp Baldy, Thanksgiving Day.

The expedition was equipped with a revolver, shot gun and a small quantity of food.

SHOUP GIVES ESPEE TRACTION LINE VIEWS

APPEARS BEFORE CAPITAL CHAMBER IN PROPOSED TROLLEY DISPOSAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—The directors of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce today heard Paul Shoup, vice-president of the Southern Pacific Company, present the company's side of the proposed purchase of the Central California Traction Company's line between Sacramento and Stockton.

The directors at the conclusion of his speech, decided to rescind a resolution by which the chamber went on record as favoring the purchase of the traction line by the Santa Fe.

The banta Fe was represented by its attorney, Platt Kent of San Francisco. Shoup made no definite request or the chamber directors to rescind the action whereby the board adopted a resolution favoring the purchase of the electric line by the Santa Fe. He declared that the officials of the Southern Pacific Company had been "hurt" by the attitude of Sacramento in view of the "partnership" relations between Sacramento and the company in the past and the closely linked history of the city and the railroad.

ROCKEFELLER PLEDGE DEPENDS ON OTHERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, Nov. 13.—The pledge of $250,000 made by the Rockefeller Foundation to the College of the Pacific will not be paid until all the subscriptions made locally are accounted for, according to word brought from the East by Dr. John Burcham, vice-president of the college, who represented the Y. M. C. A. organization of the San Joaquin Valley at the recent conference in Washington D. C.

The Rocekefeller pledge was made three years ago when citizens of Stockton were raising $750,000 to establish the college in this city.

HOLIDAY LIQUOR STOCKS LANDED

Offshore Ships Ply Trade Uninterrupted

Good Stuff and Rat Poison Bring Same Price

Harbor Man Sheds Light on Rum Traffic

Rum ships offshore have been enjoying a thriving business and the big pre-Thanksgiving stocks are mostly ashore and cached in the retailers' cellars and imbibers' buffets, according to a Los Angeles Harbor man, who said he is in position to know what he is talking about.

"Some's good stuff and some's rat poison," he added.

Two ships, he said, still are out around Tanner Bank, though they have met with success and have disposed of a large amount of their cargoes. They are the steamer Prince Albert, which sailed from British Columbia more than a month ago with 22,500 cases, and the five-masted schooner Malahat, which appeared in local waters only a few days ago with 15,000 cases.

NO INTERFERENCE

For many days and nights, it is said, the ship-to-shore traffic was extremely heavy, with no interference in sight—the Coast Guard cutter Tamaroa being tied up at San Diego and the cutter Vaughn undergoing repairs at Los Angeles Harbor.

Ordinarily, these two cutters are the government's only policemen in Southern California waters, but the big cutter Shawnee appeared off near-by islands several days ago, and is still out there doing what she can with limited speed to cope with two or more of the ships and numerous shore boats.

The shore boats, this informant said, included several 600 and 800-horsepower speeders rated at better than thirty miles an hour, and with a capacity of 250 cases per trip. Most of the stuff, is said, to be delivered between San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara, where the shore line and dark approaches and scarcity of peace officers make things inviting.

ALL SAME PRICE

The good stuff, the spokesman said, cost $10 to $12 a case in England, while the rat poison was bought for $3 a case in the old country. All is being sold over the railing of the ships at $25 a case and up.

Rum ships, he said, land an average of 20,000 cases monthly in California, of which 15,000 cases go ashore at San Francisco and points surrounding, whence part of it goes far inland. Five thousand cases monthly come into Southern California by water, practically all of which is consumed locally.

He estimated as much as 15,000 cases have come ashore in Southern California in the last few weeks, however, as Federal forces are making things too hot for the rum brigade around San Francisco right now, and ships like the Malahat, which normally serves San Francisco, have been diverted down here.

NOT ALL ROSES

There are five large concerns engaged in operating rum ships off California, he said, mentioning the Consolidated Exporters, Ltd., and Holt & Sons as the largest.

"But it isn't all milk and honey and roses; it's a hard game," he added, remarking that the Consolidated has just suffered a debt of $1,400,000 through seizures and forfeitures of double bonds.

"Then there's always a lot of gun play and one's got to be lucky," he mused, smiling.

NICASSIO'S NOW PLACE OF DEPARTED SPIRITS

Nick Nicassio's bonded winery at 924 New Depot street was stripped of its last spirit-ual function yesterday when it spilled 1428 gallons of claret into the gutter, an act ordained by the United States District Court several weeks ago. Nothing remained of the pre-Volstead accoutrement but empty casks, vats and odoriferous jugs. Deputy United States Marshal Eddie Rice was executioner.

FEDERAL AID HELD NEED FOR SHIP LINES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Some form of "effective government aid" is necessary to maintain an adequate American merchant marine in the opinion of the committee on government aid to shipping of the national merchant marine conference. The committee will submit its report at the shipping conferenc here Monday and Tuesday under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

PHONE RATE FIGHT PLAN TO BE LAID

Citizens' Committee Will Form Definite Campaign Program Monday

A definite program of procedure against the higher rates of the Southern California Telephone Company is to be formulated at a meeting of the executive committee of the citizens' telephone committee in the Financial Center Building, Room 1003, Monday at 2:30 p.m., John E. Staley of the committee announced last night.

Staley and Andrae Nordskog addressed a meeting at the Dayton Heights Civic Center, Clinton and Westmoreland streets, last night. Nordskog said at the meeting that the company's 1925 revenue amounted to $6,000,000 more than its 1924 revenue and that with the taking effect of the measured service rates ordered by the State Railroad Commission for January 1, the revenue will be increased still more. President G. W. Johnson presided at the meeting.

John R. Richards, chairman of the executive meeting, has just returned from a thirty-day trip through the East and at a meeting of some of the committee's subcommittees in the Hotel Alexandria yesterday said the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which is the parent of the local company, is conducting rate-increase fights in Chicago, New York and other cities.

The company's case in Pittsburgh, he said, has been compromised between the company and a citizens' committee. He said the A. T. & T. maintains a $3,000,000 fund to put through rate increases and, in effect, lays a tax on each of the communities served by it to support the fights conducted in various fields.

WON'T DENY HE HAS WON FILM STAR

Romance Rumor Linked to Clara Kimball Young and Salesman Gains Ground

Rumors that Clara Kimball Young, noted screen star now playing the Keith vaudeville circuit in the East, is engaged to marry William L. Standard, sales manager of the Union Oil Company, gained credence last night when Mr. Standard smilingly agreed "that there might be some truth" in the reports.

"I don't want to say yes or no," Mr. Standard, who lives at 244 South Olive street, stated, "because I don't think it's my place to say anything until Miss Young has an opportunity to say for herself what it's going to be."

The oil man admitted, however, that he is in correspondence with Miss Young, and sufficient urging brought from him the information that the actress is now playing in Bridgeport, Ct. A telegram to Miss Young seeking her version of the engagement rumor failed to bring an answer late last night.

Last June Miss Young, who had returned to Los Angeles following a serious illness suffered while playing on tour, testified in Judge Hollizer's court, in contesting a judgment against her, that her assets were only $8 and that jewels supposed to be valued at $100,000, which were stolen from her in New York, are paste. Judge Hollizer directed that her salary, while she was engaged in vaudeville in California, should be paid into court.

HIGH WINDS SWEEP CITY

Shipping Suffers Most Severely From Storm; Norwegian Motorship Rams Breakwater

Los Angeles shifted uneasily in the uncomfortable winds that stirred up Friday, the Thirteenth. High winds that for a time threatened to attain the proportions of a gale marked the presence of the city's first storm in months, according to Col. H. B. Hersey, in charge of the local Weather Bureau.

Attaining a velocity of from eighteen to twenty-four miles an hour in the city, the blow last night apparently had spent itself. Only damage of a minor nature was reported in this vicinity. Reports in shipping circles were to the effect that steamers were experiencing some bad gales.

Abatement of the chill and penetrating winds last night was followed by today's forecast of a fair day, with fresh, light and northerly winds.

Buffeted by a forty-two-mile northwest wind at Los Angeles Harbor and with her engines dead, the Norwegian tank motorship Varanger rammed the breakwater head-on just abreast of the breakwater light shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday. The wind then shifted and the Varanger slid off of her own accord. She was maneuvered inside the outer harbor and anchored for the night. The vessel, of 4500 net tons, is operated by the General Petroleum Corporation. What caused the stoppage of her engines has not been determined. The damage to her bow plates is said to be slight.

The Los Angeles Steamship Company's little steamer Waimea, anchored in the outer harbor, dragged her anchor yesterday and was almost upon the breakwater rocks when Wrigley tugs rescued her and took her back to safe moorings.

The Hammond steamer Santiam with lumber from Gray's Harbor was due yesterday noon, but was still at sea late last night, believed safe but gone farther to sea to escape the strength of the blow.

The steamer Willapa put in after a tempestuous voyage from Willapa Harbor with 120,000 feet of lumber for the Hartwood Lumber Company, more than twenty-four hours overdue and experiencing one of the worst storms in years, according to her master, Capt. Edward Anderson. The captain reported encountering big winds all the way, reaching seventy miles an hour off San Francisco, blowing with the ship at times and sometimes holding her, and almost submerging the ship with giant waves several times. Despite this he brought the ship and cargo in undamaged, even the deck-load unshifted.

Breakers were leaping the local breakwater constantly, rolling the big battleships badly, while only the larger shoreboats ventured into the outer harbor covered with whitecaps. The fleet of sardine fishing boats remained in port again.
